FALL PROM FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

GAY YOUNG'S ORCHESTRA IN B. W. B.

BIG DREW WEEK-END HERE

Such infallible signs as a cluster of impatient students about the University Press Shop waiting for a last minute run-over of the tuxedos, the frantic search for black ties, elusive shirt studs, and black shoe polish, and a marked concern over train and bus schedules indicate that the height of our autumn social season is full upon us. Yes boys and girls, the long heralded Fall Dance week-end is here at last.

Mr. Chester Hodgson, chairman of the student social committee and his workers have worked valiantly to make this week-end one of unalloyed pleasure to all those who participate in the festivities. Through the usual generous hospitality of the faculty and their wives, Mr. Barclay has been able to arrange sleeping accommoda-

Jr's Take Seminary

The Junior class of Brothers College has made good its boasts, and again it reigns supreme over Drew University football teams. Three well-earned victories is the basis for this statement.

After having defeated the sophomore class twice in a challenge round, the scores were 19 to 11 and 25 to 0, the Class of '36 aided by four Soph linemen, turned its guns on a barbarian Seminary eleven and shelled out a clean-cut 18 to 0 victory last week. Held to a 0-0 deadlock last year by the Seminary, the Juniors came out for blood and got it.

In a game marked by the clicking of the Junior team and the rough tactics of their opponents, the Juniors struck swiftly and deftly and never a doubt of the outcome. After receiving the open kickoff, the Seminary failed to gain and punted to the Juniors' thirty yard line. In less than two minutes, three passes from captian Campbell to Smith brought the Class of '36 its first tally. The second touchdown was scored in the second period by the same combination.

In the final period, Burdett contributed another of his spectacular runs; this time it was a 55 yard jaunt down the sideline for a touchdown after intercepting a pass. In the Soph series he had made two such dashes, one after receiving a kickoff and the other a run back of a short punt.

The present record of the Class of '36 is seven wins, two ties, and no losses. It has been scored on only in one game, and the only time its goal line has been crossed was when Howell pulled down a long pass in the first Soph game of this season.

When the Juniors say they will 'take' all-comers, they seem to mean it.

tions for most of the out of town guests in the various homes. For others there will be rooms in the dormitory part of Samuel W. Bowne Hall. Gay Young, who is becoming well known for his good music at Drew dances, is bringing a larger orchestra than ever, and in the beautiful setting of Samuel W. Bowne Hall the music and atmosphere will combine to inspire the festive spirit for which these dances are noted.

Other campus organizations and groups are seizing the opportunity to supplement the gayety of the week-end by running extra features. Faulkner House is planning a dinner party on Friday evening to launch the affair for its members and other guests. Rogers House is holding a party on Saturday afternoon for the guests of its residents, and on Sunday the Young Men's Bible Class meeting in Faulkner House has arranged a special meeting to which all students and their guests are especially invited. Dr. Young will be the speaker of the morning.

Another group of some fifteen students has planned a dinner party for their guests at the popular William Pitt Tavern on Saturday evening before the second dance.

Although at the time of our going to press it has been impossible to obtain a complete list of the many guests who are expected to spend the week-end among us, we do wish to mention those whose names we have. They are: the Misses Helen Brown, Livingston; Dorothy

One of the liveliest and most heated discussions since the inauguration of the Brothers College Forum developed last night when Everett Corradini, outstanding crusader on the Drew Campus for compulsory sterilization, opposed Oliver Drake at the meeting of the Forum. The subject was: "Resolved, That in the opinion of this house a federal law ought to be passed requiring the sterilization of all mental defectives such as the feeble-minded and the insane."

Corradini upheld the affirmative side of the resolution; Drake the negative. After the main speeches, five minute speeches from the floor were allowed. At the end of the meeting a vote was taken and the House voted in favor of the resolution by a vote of 22 to 6.

The meeting opened at the new hour of 7:30 with Dr. Guy presiding and Dean Lankard acting as critic.

After the Forum, the candidates for the debate squad met with Dr. Pooley for organization. Work for the coming season was outlined.

RADIO-PHONOGRAPH

TENTATIVE RULES

Amid the animated chatter which has centered around the use of the radio-phonograph, a sub-committee of the Extra-Classroom Activities Committee (Hereinafter referred to as the E. C. A. C. for obvious reasons,) has been working on a set of regulations for the radio and for the William P. Tolley Memorial Rooms. This sub-committee has not yet reported to the E. C. A. C. so the rules are not definite as yet. It is however expected that the general set-up as proposed by the sub-committee will follow when the final rules are adopted. Dr. Jordy, in discussing the regulations, pointed out that the committee does not desire to restrict the use either of the room or of the radio except in the interest of protecting the instrument and the rooms. It is also to be noted that the list of organizations listed as approved to use these facilities is by no means complete but any organization or group prepared to assume responsibility, may secure approval for their use from a designated authority, probably the chairman of the E. C. A. C.

In regard to the moving of the radio, some study has yet to be made to determine just how sensitive the instrument is and how much adjustment will be required after it has been moved. However, consideration of the nature of events for which the machine will ordinarily be used, leads to the conclusion that there will be few occasions when it will be needed in places other than the William P. Tolley Rooms or Baldwin Hall. Exceptions to this can, however, be made by securing permission from the E. C. A. C.

There are no restrictions as to the minimum number of persons in the group which may use either the room or the machine provided that they have a competent operator for the radio and are willing to assume responsibility.

The probable general form of the rules follows. The Acorn will print the final form of the rules when they are passed by the E. C. A. C.

1. Use of the William P. Tolley rooms.
 - A. Key will be kept in the Dean's Office.
 - B. Application for use must be made in writing.
 - C. Statement is to be made if the room only is to be used or the radio also.
 - D. Organizations using the room and radio will be expected to assume responsibility for the key and to leave the room in the condition in which they found it.
 - E. A tentative list of organizations approved to use the room and radio is as follows:
 1. Quill and Scroll
 2. Foresters
 3. Debate
 4. Faulkner House Bible Class

WELCOME ALL

The editor of the Acorn have delayed the date of this issue in order that it might be dedicated to this autumn's extra-class room activities and their climax, this week-end dance and party. Our first desire, therefore, is to welcome all our present visitors to the campus, and extend to you our wishes for a very enjoyable time. Many of you have been here before. To such, we hope that you will find in the renewal of old acquaintances a pleasant thrill, and in the events of this visit an even better time than you have had here in the past. To those of you for whom this marks a first Drew adventure our welcome is equally cordial. We trust that you, too, will find everything agreeable, and that the next time all of you may be included in our first group.

The social committee has informed us that this dance is drawing back to the campus many of the alumni. Good news. Although we feel that there have been made this year many changes in the student affairs, we do not doubt that you fellows will still be able to find your way around. You know you are always welcome and we are not going to waste anymore time telling you so.

PROGRESS

Occasionally we are all human and weak enough to want to pause in our work and survey that which we have already have done. Such a practice can be helpful if it serves to stimulate us in renewing our efforts toward attaining the goals we have set ourselves. It is our hope that this pause will serve in just this manner. Moreover, even an editor gets weary of haggling all day over things which should be done, or things that should not be done, and for a rest wants to think of the good things which are being done. And there have been accomplished this year many things which add to the brightness of our present and future, and for which congratulations are in order.

It seems to us that this fall there have been more worthwhile advances made in extra-classroom activities than in any similar period of our college life. The following are notable examples of marked development on our campus.

The Dramatic Club. Under the guidance of Mr. Ralph Johnson, this organization has within a few months constructed a model theater in its "Green Room" which is a marvel of ingenuity. In a very limited space it has designed and constructed an amazing professional system of lighting and control. They have staged in the local High School auditorium a very fine presentation of "She Stoops to Conquer," and even worked hard upon plans for future productions.

The two College Dormitories. Both Rogers House and Faulkner House have organized this fall with an enthusiasm never before equaled. Faulkner House has run one party, and its social committee is planning for the coming months. Rogers House ran one of the gayest parties in Drew's history, and its open house on Monday nights as a regular program is fast making Mr. Harrington's room famous for its hospitality, cheerful fireplace and spirit of student friendship.

The International Club, Quill and Scroll Society, and Philosophy and Religion Club are all well started on a busy and worthwhile year's program.

With these signs of increased enthusiasm before them every student seems to reflect a greater pride in his college, and well he might, for Drew is getting to be more and more the scene of interesting activity. Such is true school spirit. And as we congratulate the officers, members and advisors of these and other activities for their splendid work in their fields, we would also remind them that they are doing more to build up school spirit than any number of pep meetings or editorials could possibly do. Good work, congratulations, and keep it up.

EDITOR'S MAIL

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

(Editor's note) Have you ever watched and watched your mail box in vain for something besides bills, advertisements, and other forms. Well then perhaps you know the feeling which has driven us, desperate for correspondence, to write ourselves this letter. Besides you see it gives us opportunity to write something without the subsequent embarrassment of having it appear complete with errors in bold face type.

Dear Mr. Editor:

There has been some dissatisfaction expressed by various students concerning the new radio-phonograph installed by The student body in the William P. Tolley Rooms. A certain amount of petty grumblings may always be expected whenever individuals contribute to something for the group. There is inevitably someone who rather strangely reasons that his donation somehow entitles him to a monopoly of the gift and its control. Let this be withheld and loud cries arise. But the discontented murmurings seem to be more general than this would warrant. That they seem just to those complaining, I feel is the result of certain misunderstandings; and it is in the hope of clearing some of these matters that I write this letter.

One complaint seems to be that the radio-phonograph is installed in Faulkner House. Let us think before we seem foolish in this matter that the machine is there because, and solely because, the William P. Tolley Rooms are in that house, and no more fitting place could possibly be found for it. In the inspired words of the Rogers House president, "We could not well put it in the lounge room for the boys to work out on as they insist upon doing with the fan."

The loud arguments alluding to a monopoly of control over the machine by Faulkner House men tend to make up in volume the lack they show in knowledge. It is now in complete control of the rules committee, and this committee consists of a representative of Rogers House, Asbury Hall and two faculty men as well as the representative of Faulkner House, moreover with one of the faculty in the chair the student vote in this committee is actually three to one of the faculty on any rules considered. The faculty man made technical advisor and instructor to others qualified to use the machine is the advisor of Rogers House.

It is not our purpose here to usurp the rights of the rules committee and announce what conditions will be for use of the instrument, but we do wish to make clear that the rules will be fair, and that not with outstanding the extreme delicacy of the machine and the care necessary in moving it, it is not necessarily an immovable object. When authorized occasions arise demanding the use of the radio-phonograph, we understand, that it can be moved. It must however, be done under supervision lest the delicacy of its adjustments be impaired.

It is a pity that the student imaginations were allowed to picture the instrument available to the use of any student, at any time, and for any purpose without the formality of permission gained. But college students are expected to realize that certain individual rights are always relinquished for the rights of a group. Moreover, the illustration of the misuse of so sturdy a thing as a sofa or ventilating fan in the lounge room should serve to show the impossibilities of unsupervised use of a delicate radio-phonograph.

With these points in mind and a trust in our fellow students who are the rules committee, let us forget our petty grievances, meet our voluntary obligations as gentlemen, and enjoy the many benefits of a truly beautiful instrument.

Yours truly,
Mahlon H. Smith, Jr.

RAMBLIN' ALONG

Once again, all the Drew Hillbillies will be coming down the mountains of the surrounding regions to romp at the fall Prom and become merry on that most potent of drinks -- Charlie's Funch.

"Stewie" Thomas will be yodeling from Philadelphia, Rockwell from that dark city of Hoboken, Sumner from Weehawken, and many others from Madison, the Oranges, and Morristown. Even Brother Walker has heard the call in Canada but his nag, Nellie, will not be able to make the long and arduous journey. He sends his best wishes, however. Lay aside your tasks, brethren, and join in the fun.

Item in the Newark College of Engineering's "The Technician." "Although Varsity Track will not be organized until Spring, plans are already under way in the arrangement of a schedule of five dual meets with Long Island University, Cooper University, Upsala, Drew and Panzer." Mabe we're wrong but we had supposed that Drew had yet to form a track team. Sorry N. E. C., but we will be sure to organize one as soon as possible.

Drew "Foresters" The club will hold a formal reception for the Faculty before Christmas Holidays. Two one-act plays will be presented and President Drake will deliver an address. The committee in charge consists of Maynard, Weihe, and Heini.

Football After defeating the Sophomore squad several times, the Juniors persuaded the Seminary men to forget about love and charity and participate in a game. By the time the game ended both teams needed the spirit of love and charity. According to Barclay, the Seminary men are still savages.

Forum Mr. Pooley requested all persons interested in making the Debate squad to remain after the forum last Thursday. Middlebury, N. Y. U., Alleghany and several other colleges have asked for debates. Seven men showed up. Incidentally, the Forum is the place to let us know what you think, not the lounge room.

Basketball The team has started regular practice five days a week. Some of the new men out are Spoffard, King, Turner, "Sneaky Boy" Bickel, Barrett, Dolzel, and "Doubting" Tamovitz. The last mentioned although stating that he had a weak ankle was finally persuaded to come out for the team by "Intelligibility List" Rosenberg. Someone said "It always pays to put up a bold front." Evidently, the persons responsible for drawing up the Basketball schedule thoroughly believes in such a doctrine. Dana will be the first team played and away at that. Here and There We understand

Strange and Rosenberg are quarrelling as to which one originated the great stone face idea. Strange can smile however. Russo proved that. Have you heard any old jokes recently? That's right, it was Porzio. As to the value of leisure time, you might consult "Romeo" Levine on why its nice to argue about football with the Whelan Druggist while he (the druggist) is eating. At any rate, they have a girl waitress. Maybe we're wrong, but did we see Weihe and Miss Maciauskas nestling together in one corner of the library Saturday night apparently looking for the same book or something? In Psychology class, Prof. McClintock presented a graphologist from the Seminary. Attempting to be complimentary, he (Graphologist) roared, "No one in this room is honest, no one." Kohan, taking exception to this, whispered, "I think he's a lot of hokey." However, he later did go up and have some writing analyzed. Incidentally, the graphologist stated that Prof. McClintock had a scientific mind as shown by his small handwriting. We thought that that was a remarkable observation; also that perhaps we might have been able to tell him the same thing beforehand. Have you heard the game "Silo"? No? Perhaps, the Marcial brothers could enlighten you. They would like to have you come up and see them sometime. Barclay attended a dance at the Raritan Club of Rutgers University last Saturday night. So what? Well, we hear that there was a meteoric shower that night. Talking of meteors, quite a lot of corn was dropped that night by some human hands, what did you say, Earon and Sutton? Having nothing else to do one night, we asked those sturdy guardians of Drew's property who go flitting about the various buildings with searchlight and clock, what they are supposed to do if they discover a burglar. According to Brown, Turner, MacCraney and Pitkin, they are supposed to see if they can break the 100 yard dash record in getting away from the place. Jim Brown tells us of his greatest thrill while on duty. It seemed he had gone to the refectory to see that all was well. As he neared the building he heard strange sounds. With beating heart (as usual) and bated breath, he cautiously moved forward. Suddenly he perceived a huge shadow somewhat darker than his own. Resolving that he would die if he had to for good old Drew, he flashed his light on the moving shadow only to discover it was the colored cook. Then they both smoked a cigarette (or perhaps they each smoked a cigarette) At any rate we mean that they didn't smoke the same cigarette.

While Mr. Collins is not well known at Drew, he early distinguished himself as a pianist. While only eighteen years old he was appointed head of the Piano Department of the Conservatory of Music in Austin, Texas. He has appeared at the Juilliard School in New York City. At the present time, Mr. Collins is teaching the piano at Scranton and Clarks Summit, Pa.

The Senior Class feels that it is putting on a concert which will be one of the finest events ever presented by a class in Brothers College. It does however need the cooperation of the students and faculty bodies in the sale of tickets. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. Lienthall or from any member of the class.

BASKETBALL

The Brothers College five will open its season on December 12 when it faces Dana College aggregation at the latter's court.

Never before has so much enthusiasm and interest been shown in the college basketball prospects. With three veterans, Iatesta, Fletcher, and Pitkin, forming nucleus of the squad, Coach Dawson Dean has a crop of seventeen eager candidates from which to select the 1934-35 team. Russell Maynard, student manager, stated that new candidates will still be considered.

Both Mr. Dean, the coach, and the manager have stressed the need of whole-hearted backing from the student body. The 1934-35 basketball schedule is as follows:

- December
12, Dana College at Dana
15, Newark College of Engineering at Newark
19, Webb Institute of Naval Architecture at New York

SPECIAL TO ACORN

Mr. Harrington's car skidded into a telephone pole Friday noon throwing him through window and severely cutting his scalp. He was driving along Watchung Avenue in Summit on his way to an oculist when the accident occurred.

Although conscious Mr. Harrington was taken to Overlook Hospital for a thorough examination by X-Ray for any injuries to his skull. At time of going to press no further information was available.

Library Staff Faculty Party

Last Monday evening at eight o'clock Mr. O. G. Lawson and his library workers were host to the faculty of the University at an informal get-together in the W. ndel Room. A program of instrumental and vocal music was offered and several readings were given by the different members of the staff.

The purpose of the social was the foster of a better acquaintance service to the University the members of the library client service to the Ulversty library can render more efficient staff. Mr. Lawson feels that with a closer understanding between his workers and the teachers on the campus, and planned the affair as another step in his progressive campaign to make the library a greater service to the University. He knows that the library is now an indispensable part of our institution, but hopes that by a closer cooperation between his forces and individual students, student organizations, and the faculty his department may render the greatest service possible.

The success of the evening was very gratifying, and it is hoped that the occasion may develop into an annual affair.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB TO HOLD CONFERENCE

On Friday and Saturday of this week representatives of the International Clubs in Maryland, District of Columbia, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania are planning to hold a conference at Penn. State College. Representatives from Brothers College will include President Harrison Leinthal, Hartwell and adviser McClintock. The subject to be discussed is Recent Trends in Nationalism. This topic is especially interesting in view of conditions in Europe.

The conference was very fortunate in being able to procure

QUILL AND SCROLL SOCIETY

The Quill and Scroll Society held its regular meeting Tuesday November 6, in the William P. Tolley rooms, with Chester Hodgson and Robert Williams as host.

Since the meeting was invitation meeting, three prospective members were present and were welcomed by the president. They were Arnold Bergman, Antonio de Benedetto, and Frederick Weihe. Paper written by these candidates will be read and judged at the next meeting.

Robert Williams had charge of the program for the meeting. He read original short story and a short short. The short story was called "A Matter of Experience," and the short short was tentatively named "Luck." Both presentations were well received by the members. Especially was "Luck" interesting for the very clever reversal of situation that came at the end. It concerned the good fortune and the subsequent misfortune of a hotel bell hop, and it was evident to all members of the club that Mr. Williams was very familiar with his theme and setting.

The Quill and Scroll Anthology has now been placed in the Brothers College library on closed reserve. The Society expects this to be the first of many volumes of its work to be bound into year books in the future.

the leadership of Dr. Nathan of Princeton University. Dr. Nathan is well known throughout the world today not only for his excellent works in the fields of economics but also for his addresses.

At the present time there are over 500 International Clubs scattered throughout many lands. The movement for peace is an excellent one and the International Club of our school is to be congratulated for its fine work in this direction.
