

Dean Lankard to Leave February First for Position at Ohio School

To Become Dean of Baldwin Wallace;
Here 19 Years

Has Had 'Great Experience'
Watching Drew Grow;
Our Future 'Bright'

After nineteen years as Dean of Brothers College, Dean Lankard announced Tuesday that he would leave February 1, 1950, to accept the position of Dean at Baldwin College in Berea, Ohio. After serving as a full professor at Drew for over a year, the professor succeeded Dean Tolly in 1930.

President Jack Knight of Baldwin Wallace College is a graduate of Brothers College, Drew University. Baldwin Wallace, a Methodist school, with 1,640 students, has a staff of over one hundred, divided into six departments. It is well noted for its departments of music, and liberal arts. The college is well endowed.

Commenting upon his tenure at Drew, the Dean said, "It has been a great experience in watching the traditions of this college develop, and I have every reason to believe it has a bright future, especially because of the faculty and its location."

The Dean is a graduate of Baker University and Boston College. He previously taught at the University of Chattanooga, Northwestern and Garrett Biblical Institute. The Dean's change was announced simultaneously by Drew University and Baldwin College, Tuesday, November 1.

Alumni Day Features Varsity-Alumni Athletic Tilts

Brothers College alumni will return to the campus on November 19 for the annual Fall Alumni Day. Activities scheduled for Saturday afternoon include two basketball games in the Drew gym and an open house from 5 to 6 P.M. during which the Varsity Club will meet informally.

The first basketball game is between the Alumni and the Women's Varsity at 2:30, and the second is between the Men's Varsity and the Varsity Club at 3:30.

In the morning the Alumni Council will meet in the Wendell Room (Mead Hall) at 10. The Alumni and their guests will have dinner in the refectory at 6:20. Jack Infanger is in charge of the entertainment, which features the comedy team of Blotner and Marx.

The Foresters' presentation of Christopher Morley's "Thursday Evening" will conclude the day's activities.

Religious Week to Feature Noted Speakers

Religious Emphasis Week, November 13-20, promises to be one of great spiritual value for Drew students. Services are scheduled for every morning and nearly every evening. Dr. Lester Clee, who is minister of the Second Presbyterian Church in Newark, will be the main speaker. Marguerite McDonald will give a song recital on Sunday, November 20. Kirby Page will speak on November 13, Dr. Kimple will speak on the 15th, and Dean Craig will speak on the 16th.

Dr. Clee is well known for his interest in civic affairs and causes of civic betterment. He is minister of the largest Presbyterian church in New Jersey, a director of the Presbyterian Hospital in Newark, a director of Bloomfield College and Seminary, Chairman of Church Extension in Newark, and has been moderator of both the Presbytery of Newark and the Synod of New Jersey.

Miss McDonald is a successful concert and operatic soprano. She was soloist of St. George's Episcopal Church in New York, and professor of voice at the College of the Pacific in California.

Foresters Announce Fall Production to Open December 7

The Foresters' main fall production, "The Importance of Being Earnest," will be presented in the Madison High School auditorium on December 7, 8, 9, and 10.

Rehearsals have begun on this three-act comedy by Oscar Wilde which is concerned with two cases of mistaken identity enlivened by the satire and epigrams of Wilde.

Dr. Ralph Johnson will be directing the following cast: Jack—Bill Murtha, Algy—Jim Benson, Lane—Nat Whitcomb, Gwendoline—Jean Taylor, Cecily—Jean Russell, Lady Blackwell—Anne Evans, Merriman—Paul Silbersher, Rev. Chausable—Eimer Smith, and Miss Prism—Robin Ruehl.

Al Shapero is production manager and Leroy Lincoln is stage manager. Committees have been chosen to work out the various aspects of production such as make-up, lighting, settings, costumes and properties.

In addition, the Foresters have been requested by the B.C. Alumni Association to present a play at their annual meeting and banquet in Drew refectory on November 19. "Thursday Evening," a one-act play by Christopher Morley will be presented by the following cast: wife—Nancy Weems, husband—Paul Silbersher, mothers-in-law—Muriel Moser and Lois Cave.

The Foresters will also produce a one-act radio play on Monday evening of Religious Emphasis week.

Fall Party Locations, Music Among Best Available in East

The first part of the Fall Weekend, this evening's formal dance will be held in what its manager, Mr. Filoso, terms "one of the finest supper clubs on the Eastern coast."

The "Towers" which is still referred to as the "Four Towers" no longer maintains four towers. The original four were of Pennsylvania mica and attracted attention from the highway. However, when the club was renovated in 1946, down came the towers, and the name was reduced to the "Towers." They do have four fireplaces, but they are only for decor, and on the mantel is a picture of the original club with its famous four towers.

Mr. Stender, the owner of the Park Hotel where our informal will be held on Saturday night, said, "Welcome, Drew! And have a good time."

The Park is one of the Stender chain which also includes the Robert Treat and the Stacy Trent. It has a spacious ballroom. Those who arrive by car should have no trouble parking the old jalopy, for

Field Trip Tradition Kept by Six Groups

The first field trips of the term were held last Wednesday by the Economics, Zoology, Sociology, Physics, Chemistry, and Spanish Departments. The English and Government Departments held theirs on Saturday and Monday respectively.

Dr. Schultz took a group of students on a full tour of the New York Clearing House; New York Cotton, Stock, and Curb Exchanges; the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and the Chase National Bank Money Museum.

Zoology students visited the Museum of Natural History under the supervision of Dr. Green.

A small group composed mainly of Sociology majors went to a Domestic Relations and Children's Court in New York, accompanied by Dr. Fulcomer and Mr. Noland. Visitors are seldom permitted to attend a Children's Court in session and hence the students were admitted only in groups of four.

Dr. Harrington accompanied students in General Physics on visits to the Hayden Planetarium and the New York Hall of Science. Upper level Physics students toured the Palmer Laboratory at Princeton where they inspected a cyclotron, an interferometer, and cosmic ray apparatus.

Chemistry majors visited the U. S. Dept. of Pure Foods and Drugs and Macy's Bureau of Standards. Dr. Jordy planned and directed the itinerary.

Refectory Department

In the future if an unruly student disregards the warning of the head waiter in the refectory, he must appear before the Student Life and Welfare Committee. This group of five students and five faculty members may bar him from the dining hall for conduct unbecoming a gentleman. Such conduct may be defined as destroying property, throwing food, etc.

'Who's Who' Selects Three BC Coeds, Two BC Men

Five Drew students have been selected to appear in the "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for 1949-50. This means that these people have received national recognition for their achievements as undergraduates in all phases of student life.

Judith Cavicchia is secretary of the senior class and of the Religious Life and Chapel Committees, a member of the Educational Policy Committee, and vice-president of the Philosophy and Religion Club.

Robert Gentile is the pastor of a Methodist church, president of the senior class, and a member of the Student Council, Philosophy and Religion Club, the Chapel Committee, Religious Life Committee, and S.V.M.

Julius Mastrobattista was president of the junior class, is president of the Student Council, and a member of the Class Schedules and Calendar, Student Life and Welfare, and Admissions Committees.

Ann Evans is president of the W.A.A. and a member of the Chapel and Student Interviewing Committees.

June Strelecki is vice-president of the Student Council, secretary-treasurer of Tri-Beta, and a member of the Academic standing and Chapel Committees.

Strong Debate Squad Broadens Program

Bert Amel, manager of debate, has announced that this season the Brothers College Debate Council will participate in the national Tau Kappa Alpha Forensic Conference. The B.C. chapter of the national honorary debate fraternity has not participated in this annual debate and public speaking tournament since the war, but Professor Pooley feels that this year's strong squad has the ability to compete for national honors. The tournament is to be held in Lexington, Kentucky over the week-end of March 9 to 11. Bert is planning this excursion in place of the usual tour of the University of America and the colleges of Virginia. However, the usual arrangements are being made for the New England and Pennsylvania trips. Home and away debates are also being arranged with most of the universities of the metropolitan area.

Extend Girls' Late Hour Till 2:30 A.M. For Semi-Formal

The annual Fall Prom given by the Senior Class in honor of the Juniors will be given tonight and tomorrow night between 9 and 1 o'clock.

Tonight's semi-formal will be held at the Four Towers Club in Cedar Grove, N. J. Music will be provided by Jack Betzner and his band. For entertainment there will be a comedy act and an audience participation act.

Chaperones will be Dean and Mrs. Lankard and Dr. and Mrs. Fulcomer. Late permission for the girls has been extended to 2:30.

The informal dance will be held tomorrow night at the Park Hotel in Plainfield, N. J., as it was last spring. Once again, dancing will be to the music of Warren Jacobus and his eight-piece band. There will also be a vocalist.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris will be chaperones. The dance will be held from 8 to 12 o'clock with late permission for the girls until 1:30.

Foresters and Choir Conflicts Change Caper Date

Conflicts with the programs of both the Foresters and the Chapel Choir have led to a change in date for the All College Capers. Originally it had been scheduled for December 2; however, in order to insure a good show that will not conflict with other activities, the Capers will be presented early in the spring term.

In place of the Capers, as an introduction to the basketball season, there will be a big Pep Rally. It will be held on December 2, and will serve as a real introduction to the basketball season. Let's look forward to this affair and give the basketball team a big send-off on its schedule.

DANCE GROUP

A newly formed folk dance group held its first sessions the past three Friday evenings in the Brothers College Lounge. Under the leadership of Gustav Durholz and Max Geller and with the able assistance of Gustav's sister, Nancy, the group learned some Russian, Greek, Turkish, and Mexican folk dances, polkas, and square dances.

The leaders plan to have their group meet every Friday evening with possible entertainment and refreshments during rest periods if arrangements can be made.

COURSE GUIDE QUESTIONNAIRE

Nothing resulted from an Acorn suggestion last March that student opinion of courses be polled. Therefore the Acorn is now repeating its suggestion and including a questionnaire of its own.

This questionnaire is little more than a gesture. Any form which is to be used for all courses will probably be longer and will, of course, be more carefully considered. An extensive questionnaire has been prepared by the Rutgers Department of Sociology, and a similar form has been used by Albright College in Pennsylvania. Our own Professor Schultz also has such questionnaires.

The principal argument against this system derides the value of student judgment. The serious student must admit that he is not mature intellectually. However, a good questionnaire has overlapping questions which may eliminate emotional reactions. The student is the closest person to the professor. Where there is wide-spread criticism there will be justification.

A student-faculty committee should administer the tests and report findings to the Dean and the professor. No one can expect the system to be enforced strongly at the outset, but as time goes on and other schools popularize the system, the importance of such a questionnaire will increase.

The Acorn requests that all copies be used and sheets dropped into the Acorn box. We thank Dick Dinger for drawing the questionnaire of the Cornell Daily Sun to our attention.

FOOD AGAIN

Lost in the rush last week were three Acorn suggestions. Two of them were noticed and put into effect by Mrs. Casteel. First, there are now alternatives provided for several dishes. Second, Hallowe'en dinner was distinguished not only for steak, but also for candlelight, an appropriate effect in our Gothic hall.

Another suggestion requires effort by the council. Criticism can only be reduced to suggestion and to effective action by a student-faculty-dietitian-chef committee. This must be a permanent organization.

Incidentally, some of the most difficult and least appreciated work at Drew is done by the head waiter, Dick Chapin. In addition to many other chores, he is responsible for order in the refectory. He deserves our respect and cooperation for his handling of his job in the past and in the future.

DREW DRAMA

A Drew tradition of some standing is the fall production of a Shakespearean play. Many considerations led the Foresters to choose a lighter play, Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest, this year. Next year, when the Foresters are on a firm footing again, we hope that the older tradition will be followed.

The 1947 production of Macbeth was widely acclaimed, especially because Shakespeare is rarely produced successfully by school companies. In fact, his plays are produced on Broadway at the rate of only one or two a season. Therefore, the Foresters provide a real service to their community and at the same time establish a unique reputation for themselves by reviving a play each year. Not only that, but college people prefer Shakespeare to any other playwright. If they do not, they should.

Open Letter

Chairman,
 Library Committee

Dear Professor Fulcomer:

I see that as chairman of the Library Committee, you're leading a survey on the general condition of the Library. Well, more power to you! When you get to the subject of lighting, may I offer a few suggestions?

First, you must remember that the administration is already working very diligently on the subject. In fact, only two years ago it had not just one, but several surveys conducted, and after much careful and thorough analysis arrived at this amazing conclusion: The lighting in the library is inadequate. Mr. Bensinger is confident, however, that although none of the offers so far received have been satisfactory, there should be some definite action taken this year, and since a new Building and Maintenance committee of the Board of Trustees was formed this year, this might very well mean some change by next September.

Meanwhile, although it would not solve the situation, it might help to remove some of the ornate glass around the ceiling lights in the reference room and the Baldwin Room and replace the twenty-five watt light bulbs with ones of higher rating.

As always, we must base our decision on the financial value of the project, and look at it from a long-range viewpoint. And since we've gotten along all these years the way the lighting is now, there really isn't any reason to change it—at least not right now. Of course, had the building been originally designed with plentiful lighting, we might be able to adapt ourselves to the forty foot candles of light recommended by the innumerable groups that have reviewed the situation, rather than the five- to twenty-foot candles of light that we now have in the reading rooms. However, I'm sure the situation will be well illuminated under Mr. Bensinger's desk lamp, for, after all, he can see the conditions much better than you or I here in the dimness of the library.

Yours very truly,

LARRY SACKS

Salute to the Dean

The Acorn wishes the best of luck to the Dean and Mrs. Lankard in their new post at Baldwin Wallace. A better proof of his excellence as Dean of Drew than his selection as Dean of Baldwin Wallace by a former Brothers College student is not available.

With the resignation of the Dean our faculty loses one of its most widely known members. Author of several books, and a very accomplished speaker, the Dean's presence is in great demand at church and club affairs throughout the country.

Freshmen Upset Sophs to Take Title; Seniors, Sophomores Tie

After the closest intramural football race in three years, the Freshmen finally came out on top. Going into the last two games of the schedule any one of the four teams could have taken first place honors.

First to be eliminated were the Juniors when they dropped a 6-0 decision to the Sophs. With the score tied 0-0 in the game, Frank Ritzer intercepted one of the Dick Hane's passes on his own 30-yard line and with plenty of blockers in front of him appeared to be on his way for a touchdown until Joe Holsinger flagged him down on the Soph 20. With the Juniors knocking on opportunity's door, Ernie Honecher intercepted a flat pass from Ritzer intended for Bernie Belsky and galloped practically the length of the field for the Soph's winning margin.

Meanwhile the Seniors were putting themselves very much in the running by hanging a 6-0 defeat on the Frosh. The Seniors reversed their season's strategy in this game by reversing their passing combination of Frazer to Hufnail to read Hufnail to Frazer. The experiment proved highly successful, although the Seniors reverted to another combination to score their touchdown. Frazer passed 20 yards to Howie Sanborn for the clincher.

Needing a victory in the final game, the Seniors were finally eliminated when they could manage only a scoreless tie with the Juniors. They almost pulled the game out of the fire in the final seconds, but after a long pass from Frazer to Don Renz put the ball on the Junior's two-yard line, time ran out and the Seniors lost their chance to cash in on their golden opportunity.

The Frosh wrapped up the crown by downing the Sophomores 6-0. The heroes of the game were a pair of linemen, a species which rarely gets any credit for its part in winning football games. The only score of the game came when Howie Craven blocked one of Hane's punts and Schwartz fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Doc's View of College Health

The problem of the common cold at Drew University has always been a great one. Every year we buy thousands of cold capsules, thousands of penicillin lozenges, and gallons of cough syrup to treat the students.

What to do to prevent these "colds" is quite a problem. We know that overwork, improper food, close contact with infectious patients, and lack of sleep will increase the incidence of the common cold.

In analyzing this problem, let us start with overwork. It is possible to do the work required of the student without overworking. What the student does outside of his study hours will determine whether he is overworked, and over this we have little control. Each student must arrange his extracurricular activities in such a manner that he is not overworked.

Proper food is the next problem. The food as served in the dining hall is calculated to give the student an abundance of vitamins.

Poynter Paints Rosy Picture of Fencing Team's Prospects

"This year's fencing team should be one of the finest Drew has ever had," announced Wally Poynter, the team's captain. The squad has been working out three nights a week since the second week of school, and hopes to be in fine form by the time the season opens against Paterson State on January 14.

The team will miss the services of epeeism Al Vogel and Hank Wachtman this year, but fortunately the squad is deepest in this department, with Dick Fasnacht, and Dick Rhode leading the contenders for the open berths, along with two members of the five-man foil team who must be given non-starting positions or switched to another weapon. The one remaining member of last year's epee team is Ned Woissard.

The team is deepest in foil, with Dave Follansbee, Ken Johnson, and Earl Osterheld remaining from last year's squad, Ed Lowenstein rejoining the squad after a year's absence, and experienced freshman Vince Colarusso rounding out the group.

The saber team will probably stay put this year, with Captain Wally Poynter, last year's cap-

Girls Plan Busy Year

The girls' hockey season commenced with a home game played against Panzer last week. The final score was Panzer, 3, Drew, 0. The Drew team will play N.J.C. in the near future.

It has been planned that all girls' tennis matches will be played at other schools during the spring season, while the home meets will be scheduled for the fall. Round-robin tennis contests will be planned for Drew students in the spring.

Girls' basketball will start after the Thanksgiving holidays. Inter-house and inter-class games will be played on Monday and Tuesday evenings, while the varsity games, which will start next semester, will be played on Thursday evenings. The official schedule has not yet been disclosed.

The theme for the Christmas water ballet, to be presented on December 17, will be nursery rhymes. Participants are rehearsing every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday evenings. A second show is planned for the spring.

Bob Carlson, and Ken Osborn.

Second year men Jerry Padawer and Bruce Gillam, and promising novices Dave McCarthy, Larry Snow, and John Lindsay round out the squad.

RIDING THE CIRCUIT

Bob Carlson and John McCallum

"About the only possible disadvantage of having teams, as Drew has this year, which will be able largely to stand pat, is the fact that untold talent may be discouraged from coming out of hiding. If the three or four freshmen on the fencing squad this fall can be taken as examples I think we ought to be a bit concerned this year, don't you, John?"

"I would agree with you one hundred per cent and I know Prof. Smith would too. I talked with him several days ago about the post-war trend in tennis at Drew and he is of the opinion that if Drew is even to put a team on the court within the next few years, men with little or no tennis experience will have to start coming out for the team now. There will be at least four seniors on this year's squad, George Frazer, Bill Ready, Don Holtzman, and Ned Woissard. There are no replacements in sight when they graduate. Woissard and Joe Belsky of last year's team furnished proof of the fact that players of varsity calibre lacking previous experience can be developed.

In commenting on the tennis situation Prof. Smith noted that only one player, Paul Silversher, has come to Drew with enough experience to step right into a varsity berth. Prior to the war two or three new men per year could be counted on to step right into the varsity ranks. Prof. was somewhat at a loss to account for this lack of new material, but was inclined to think that it was because this area from which Drew draws most of its students is not a good tennis area. In addition Drew does not draw heavily from the prep schools where tennis is usually considered a major sport. He also believes that during the war years some of the students who are entering college now were at the age when they would ordinarily have played a lot of tennis but were unable to do so because of the lack of facilities. At any rate it appears unlikely that there will be an influx of experienced players into Drew within the next few years. Consequently the tennis squads of the next few years will be made up of students now in school who have little or no experience at the present time."

"The situation is a little different in baseball, though, isn't it, John?"

"Somewhat different Bob, in that the need for infielders and outfielders is not pressing, and yet similar in the sense that there will be a critical need for battery talent after this year. 'Doc' believes that the key to success in college ball is pitching and to a lesser extent, catching.

Pitchers like Jack Champlain and Don Hufnail do not come along very often, and it is even less frequent that two such pitchers will appear at Drew at the same time. It is much more typical to have only one outstanding pitcher such as will be the case this year. Another starting pitcher will have to be developed from among such prospects as O'Hanlon, Dillenbeck, Gordon, Hane, Jennings and Mertens. Next season more pitching talent will have to be developed along with a first string catcher. The key to the situation is that these battery men will have to be developed. It is possible that some will enter the school ready made, but it is too much to expect."

"It would be sacrilege at this point, John, to ignore one phase

Rosy Wins Class A Crown for His Second Year; Beats Silbersher, 2-0

By defeating Paul Silbersher last week, Bob Rosenkrance walked off with an intramural tennis tournament title for the third consecutive year. Two years ago "Rosy" copped the class B crown, and last year the class A crown. Rosenkrance took the first set 6-3 and managed to eke out a 7-5 decision in the second set after a strong comeback by Silbersher.

After a several-hour marathon between Bernie Belsky and Paul Drucker, the class B winner is still to be determined. Belsky finally managed to edge Drucker in the first set 8-6. The rest of the match had to be postponed after Drucker had taken the lead in the second set 7-6, with the fourteenth game tied at 15 all and Belsky serving.

No date has been set as yet for the continuance of the match, although both men claim to be eager for a resumption of the play and confidently predict victory for themselves. However, popular opinion is of the mind that they are afraid of each other.

Carl Rutgers, senior manager of the team has announced that to date arrangements have been completed for eight matches. These matches are with Paterson State, Pace, N.C.E., Rutgers, Lehigh, Newark Rutgers, Stevens, and St. Peters.

Cut Basketball Squad Down to Nineteen; 4 Varsity Remain

Basketball practice sessions have now begun in earnest since the end of the intramural football season and the cutting of the squad down to nineteen men. Eventually the nineteen will be divided into two squads, the varsity and the JV, but because of many conflicts in class schedules it will be necessary for all nineteen to practice as a unit.

Only four members of last season's varsity are represented on this year's squad. They are also the only four upper classmen on the roster. Bill Ready and Don Hufnail are seniors and Bob Rosenkrance and George Toepfer juniors. Eight sophomores are listed, including Joe Holsinger, "Cub" Tiger, Bryson Hoff, Art Shapiro, Jerry Spivak, all members of last season's JV, and Dick Hane, Parke Decker, and Dick Strelecki. The freshmen have contributed seven men to the squad including Ed Alaire, Ted Cauty, Hank Heffner, Warren Seamans, Herb Mardany, Al McArthur, and Pete Jennings.

Intramural basketball will begin after the varsity begins its schedule. Present plans call for two games on Wednesday afternoons, and coaches Simester and Backstrom are in hopes that two other games can be worked in at some other time during the week, possibly one game late Tuesday afternoon and another late Friday afternoon, making it possible for each team to play twice a week.

Doc's View

(Continued from Column 1) minerals, proteins, and energy producing substances. If you don't get up in the morning to eat your scrambled eggs you, of course, will be deficient.

Close contact with infectious patients is very hard to control. If you lived alone on an island at the North Pole you would never get a cold. We must compromise the ideal on this point and try to use the sanitary methods we all know.

The last point is probably the most easily controlled of them all, i.e., the lack of sleep. Every student at Drew should get at least eight hours of sleep per day, but this is the exception. In medical school where we spent forty-four hours per week in class it was absolutely essential. There is nothing that makes the individual more susceptible to colds than the lack of sleep, the cause of which is sometimes lessons but more often a game of cards or a bull session.

Sleep is also the most important factor in the treatment of colds. When you feel as though you have a cold, go to bed and you may prevent its further development. Prevent colds and you will prevent the complications such as sinusitis, bronchitis, etc., which result in a serious loss of time.

I was asked to discuss what we can do about colds and I am putting it right back in the students' laps. We don't know very much about the prevention of colds, but what we do know is that it is up to the individual patient to protect himself, and the one thing every student can do is to GET EIGHT HOURS' SLEEP.

Dr. Theodore R. Failmezer

The Way to Go Friday Night

Girls Entertain at House Parties

The women of Drew entertained at their semi-annual house parties on October 22, at the girls' dorms.

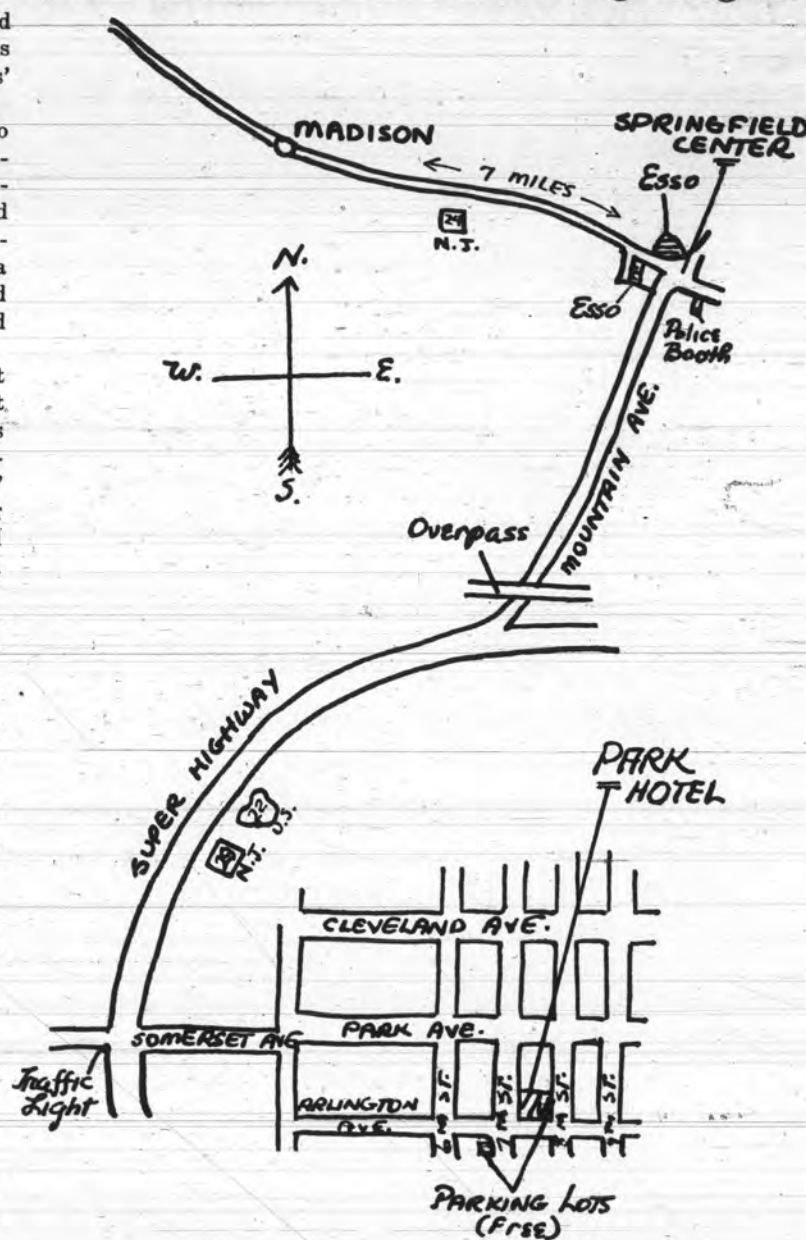

Madison House, which needed no special effects to make it attractive, was the scene of an Inaugural Ball. The theme was created by the use of candlelight, silhouettes of old-fashioned figures, a "Constitution of the House," and a chandelier of cardboard and cellophane.

As usual, Rogers House went "all out" for decor, to the extent of importing real Spanish moss as a part of the New Orleans background for the "Mardi Gras." Elaborate murals, special lighting effects and plenty of good food were evidence of a lot of work on the part of the girls.

Faulkner's Surf Club was reminiscent of the Jersey shore, replete with bathing beauties (?), refreshment stands and all. Their idea of serving the food in box lunch fashion was unusual and efficient.

The off-campus party was held in the B.C. lounge as a circus, with hot dogs as part of the refreshments.

Twenty-two Nations and All Races Represented at BC and Seminary

This year's enrollment has brought the number of Drew students from other lands to twenty-two. Of these five are in the College and seventeen in the Seminary.

In the College there are Alkis Sophianopoluos and Carlos Hegonenakis from Greece; Ramon Mulero from Puerto Rico; Lars Svensson from Sweden; and John Acton from Great Britain. In the Seminary there are four students from China, two from India, two from Korea, and one each from Greece, Philippines, Okinawa, Japan, Fiji Islands, Australia, British West Indies, and Poland. Lawrence Toombs, a teaching fellow in chemistry, is from Canada.

W.A.A.'s Hallowe'en Sport Dance Goes Over Big; Huge Crowd Attends

The Women's Athletic Association's Hallowe'en Party was changed from a masquerade to a sport dance with games and, as such, drew a larger crowd than expected. The decorations were the usual black and orange streamers with corn stalks, witches, pumpkins and a ghost. The austere pictures over the College Lounge fireplace were removed for the evening, and couches grouped around the fire made a pleasant place to rest between games and dances.

The games, including "pin the tail on the cat" and bowling with apples and coke bottles, were supervised by Joan Hahn and Anne Evans, who tried to keep Wally Poynter from "pinning" Mrs. Malm.

He was baptised at eighteen at the United Church of Christ and at twenty was conscripted into the Japanese Army where he served seven months in the infantry. Having studied English for eight years prior to his arrival here, he did not have a very difficult language adjustment, although idioms still present a problem. As for food, though the usual Japanese diet is composed mainly of rice, uncooked fish and vegetables, an American restaurant in Tokyo had given him some notion of what to expect at mealtime.

Noro finds "American girls very gay." Their clothes are no different from those worn by the female population of Tokyo, and the freer status of women here is being rapidly adopted in Japan with co-education already generally accepted. He was particularly impressed by the kindness and friendliness shown him by American students.

Already a graduate of a Japanese seminary, he was advised by some of his teachers, Drew alumni, to come to America and complete his studies. When he finishes his work here, he will return to a small church in Tokyo.
