

Sigma Phi Induction Held Yesterday At Open Ceremony In B.C. Chapel 7 Top Seniors Were Honored

Ten new members were presented for induction into Sigma Phi, Drew's honorary scholastic society on February 27. Those presented were Dean Raymond A. Withey, Jr., Dr. Milton Gordon, Dr. Robert Townley, George Bistis, Bernard Bucholz, Max Geller, Nancy Gullberg, Ruth Poynter, Robert Rosenkrance and Elmer Smith.

Dean Withey who came to Drew in 1950 was previously the Dean of Williamette University in Portland, Oregon. Dean Withey received his A.B. and M.A. from Harvard University and his S.T.B. and P.H.D. from Boston University. He was elected the Phi Eta Sigma, National Freshman Honor Society and received the Frank Howard Fellowship for study abroad.

Dr. Gordon joined the Brothers College faculty in September 1950. He received his A.B. from Bowdoin College and his M.A. and P.H.D. from Columbia University.

Dr. Townley received his A.B. from Austin College in Austin, Texas and his M.A. and P.H.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. He was associated with the Ciba Pharmaceutical Co. in Summit before he came to Brothers College.

Bernard Bucholz, a chemistry major, has a scholastic average of 2.35. Quite active in extra classroom activities, he is treasurer of the German Club and a former member of the Student Council.

George Bistis is a pitcher on the Drew Baseball team and a member of Tri Beta. George is a zoology major and has managed to maintain a 2.40 average.

Max Geller, also a Chemistry major, is currently president of the New Jersey Collegiate Affiliate of A.C.S. and also a member of Tri Beta. Max has an accumulative average of 2.50.

Nancy Gullberg, who is majoring in Latin, has an average of 2.41. She serves on the Religious Life Committee and is one of our most active cheerleaders.

Ruth Poynter is majoring in the classics and is interested in

Brown Sets $1800 Goal

March 5 will mark the start of the annual Brothers College Service Drive, which will continue until April 4, at which time the drive will be highlighted by the Drew Carnival. This fund is the clearing house for the many requests which are made each year by various worthwhile social service organizations in the nation. The drive consolidates the requests into one great annual campaign, thus eliminating the many petty requests of small organizations.

The committee is in hopes of exceeding the tentative goal of $1800 this year, but the decline in student enrollment, coupled with the stabilization of the minimum request per student at $4.00, makes this task difficult.

Nat Whitcomb, last year's Service Fund chairman, has turned over his job (and accompanying headaches) to Julian Brown. Dale Ebling has taken over Ken Osborn's post as treasurer. Ninette Jenni heads the stenographic division, and the faculty consultant is Dr. F. Heisse Johnson. Ernie Hoeneker heads the advertising committee, and his assistants are Alice Clayton and Ferd Jones. The solicitors include Vera Allen, Bobby Jordan, Herman Mertins, and Dick Rhode.

Frank Ritzer has been appointed to take charge of the Carnival that concludes the money raising campaign on Wednesday evening, April 4. Ritz promises bigger and better awards this year, coupled with a never before presented surprise feature on the B. C. Carnival midway.

Organizations which received support from Brothers College last year include: CARE, the American Foundation for the Overseas Blind, Inc., The American Red Cross (Madison Chapter), the World Student Service Fund, the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund, the Salvation Army (Mor-

Alice Clayton Wins Alumni Scholarship

The Alumni Association Memorial Scholarship for 1951 was awarded to Alice Clayton at the annual alumni banquet on February 17.

The scholarship this year was given in honor of John Howe III of Madison, a student at Brother's College for three years. He was killed in an airplane crash near Seymour, Indiana in February 1944 during the final phase of his aviation cadet training.

Alice, a junior, was selected on the basis of her academic record, extra-classroom activities and contributions to campus life.

The presentation of the scholarship of two hundred and fifty dollars was made by Reverend Mahlon H. Smith of Paramus, New Jersey, chairman of the alumni awards committee.

Trustees, Faculty, Students All In Favor of AROTC

Faculty, students, and trustees of the University have voted in favor of accepting an Air Force R. O. T. C. unit if it is offered. The decision of the Air Force is the one remaining and determining factor as to whether or not Brothers College will have an R.O.T.C. unit next year.

Brothers College must guarantee one hundred lower level students to volunteer for this program. The faculty voted that it be on a voluntary basis, but it may be made compulsory if the required number of volunteers are not forthcoming. After volunteering, the student must pass a physical examination before he can be accepted in the unit.

About 32 hours of classroom work will be required in the program. This work will be in a special department of the college to be directed by a faculty consisting entirely of Air Force personnel. The Educational Policy Committee has decided to allow up to 20 credits for this work. These will replace the electives in the present curriculum. The other B. C. degree requirements will remain unchanged. Upper level work will also be provided for those the Air Force decides to continue in the unit beyond the two year basic program.

It is thought by some of the faculty that the acceptance of this program on Drew's campus will aid in student recruitment. The chances are that the volunteer in this program will finish at least two years of college. The Air Force makes no guarantee of this, however.

The matter of entering active service upon the completion of the R. O. T. C. program varies, but some active service is usually required if a four year program

College Capers Set for Mar. 10

"Drew 1970" will be the theme of the 1951 edition of the "All College Capers," which will be presented at the Morristown Jewish Center at Sussex and Speedwell Avenues, on Saturday, March 10, at 8 P.M.

Co-directors of this year's show are Arthur "Sharpy" Shapiro and Warren "Veep" VanPelt. Hedding Richter is directing the band and Marian Schauler is directing the chorus. The stage manager is Wendell Kravitz.

Over fifty students and faculty members will participate in the annual show, which will include skits, dances, singing, and instrumental numbers.

Faculty members scheduled to appear are Mr. Cranmer, Mr. Glass, Dr. Jones and Professor Smith. Work on the show was begun before Christmas, when the Pre-Capers Committee was appointed by the Student Council. The Committee consists of Chairman Dick Foggio, Larry Gaydos, Bill Howells, Nancy Huntington, Wally King, Barbara Kruger, and Ruth Poynter.

Library Displays Richardson Art

The Rose Memorial Library is currently sponsoring an exhibition of socially significant paintings by Ben Richardson. The paintings, dealing with American life, have commentaries written by Mr. Richardson and Dr. Milton Gordon of our sociology department. The exhibit will remain in the library until March 16.

In the exhibition are fifteen paintings. Featured is an abstract symbolic study of prejudice directed against those of other races, creeds or colors. Most of the others employ negro heads to illustrate social types in American life.

Dr. Gordon says, "I believe that the profound, socially meaningful content of Mr. Richardson's works in their totality makes it imperative that they be seen by a wide audience."

Oak Leaves Deadline Set

Cecil Lear, Editor of the 1951 Oak Leaves, has requested that all contributions to the yearbook be placed in his hands as soon as possible. The Oak Leaves Staff must have all copy by March 1. This includes portraits, informal pictures, snapshots, and write-ups. Since the yearbook goes to press on March 14, it is imperative that all copy be in by March 1 so that the publication can be made up before the final deadline.

Senior Formal, Dinner Same Night, Same Place

Louise Aitken and Al Ericksen were elected ACORN Editor and Junior Class President respectively, in a special election held on February 22. In the same election the Senior Class voted to hold the annual Senior formal and dinner on the same night.

Louise, who comes from Newark, lives in Rogers House and was Features Editor on her high school paper at Barringer High School in Newark. She had previously been News Editor of the ACORN and is the Secretary of the Junior Class. She is majoring in English Literature under Professor Aldrich. Louise was elected over Mitchell Krauss for the position.

Al, recently elected President of the Foresters, defeated Frank Dreisbach for the position vacated when "Doc" Walters enlisted in the Air Force. Al, who hails from Montclair, is a Psychology major and a member of the Psychology Club. He appeared in the Foresters production of "Twelfth Night" last semester.

The special election among the Senior Class was for the purpose of determining whether or not the class would hold the annual Senior Banquet on the same night as the Spring Prom, or on a different night. The class voted to hold both the formal and the dinner on the same night. The location of the affair has not yet been decided upon.

Judges Rate Work In B.C. Art Show

William Matts, Mrs. Fearn Thurlow and Nancy Wennemer were awarded first prizes in the art exhibit recently held in the foyer of Brothers College. The exhibit, which was a display of work done during the first term in Mrs. Elizabeth Korn's art class, was judged on February 16, by officers and members of the Art Council of New Jersey, and Dr. Kimpel of the Drew faculty. The exhibit was divided into three groups: posters, portraits, and studies.

First prize for the posters went to Matts for his poster for Twelfth Night, and the Photo Club poster by Richard Strelecki won second prize. A poster by John Coccaro, which was not returned in time for the judging, got special honorable mention for the effort indicated and the achievement shown. Mrs. Thurlow and Richard Driscoll received first and second prizes respectively under portraits, and honorable mention went to William Matts. First prize under the studies went to Nancy Wennemer, while honorable mention in this field went to Ruth Sorenson. Gratitude was expressed toward Miss Victoria Clegg, Dr. Benjamin F. Kimpel,

High School Students Invade Drew April 28

Drew University will again be host to visiting high school students during the third annual "Day at Drew" on Saturday, April 28.

A program similar to the one used in previous years has been planned by a student-faculty committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Richard Morgan. The program will include a special series of introductory classes, lunch in the refectory, a series of extra-classroom activities (featuring a baseball game with Bloomfield College) and a social hour in Mead Hall to which parents of the prospective students are invited. Members of the Drew-eds will act as hostesses during this hour.

The members of Mr. Morgan's committee are, Charles Allen, Joan Dixon, Bob McKee and Phil Secor. The faculty members are: Dr. Jones, Professor Smith, Dr. Wagner and Dean Withey.

Brothers College men and women will be asked to act as guides for the high school students during the day's activities.

If any student at Drew would like an invitation for a "Day at Drew" extended to a high school student, please leave his name and address in Mr. Morgan's office in Mead Hall, or contact one of the committee members.

Editor's Corner

As the constitution of the Student Association stands today, a person must have served on the Acorn staff for at least three terms before he is eligible for nomination as editor. There are many merits to this system, for it is an assurance that the editor will have had some experience on the paper and it also prevents any Johnny-come-lately from edging out someone who, by virtue of previous effort, is more deserving of the post.

There are, however, no provisions in the constitution for the election of an ACORN editor in case all eligible persons decline the nomination.

When the previous editor withdrew from school, a special election was called by the Student Council. The ACORN Staff met to nominate another editor, and not one person who had completed the necessary terms of service felt that he could accept the job. If no one had been willing to be editor, the ACORN would have been forced to fold up for the rest of the term.

Rather than have this occur, two persons who had previously declined, decided to accept the nomination, although both felt incapable of doing a first-rate job on both the paper and their other work. They did feel, however, that the ACORN has an important function in the school affairs, and that the total absence of the publication would be to the detriment of the student body of the University.

We propose, therefore, that the Student Council, at its very next meeting introduce an amendment to the constitution which would provide for just such a situation. We suggest that in case no persons with three terms of service are willing to run for the editorship, the requirements be lowered to two terms of service. If there are still no takers, the position should be made available to any student, from second term freshmen up.

Profs Reaffirm B.C. Ideals

General action has been taken by the faculty of Brothers College with regard to discrimination. The faculty was called together to decide the action to be taken at a special meeting on February 2.

The wording of their resolution is as follows: Resolved: To reaffirm the declaration that Brothers College has no place for religious or racial discrimination.

This action was simply a reaffirmation of the policy upon which Drew University was founded. This policy in its modern wording may be found on page five of the 1950 Drew Catalog in section two, under the heading of "Drew and Its Ideals," or on page three of the new Catalog for 1951, which will be released in March.

Emphasis must be placed on the general nature of this faculty action. No specific policy as to the Western Maryland incident or any such incidents that may occur in the future has been determined. The faculty action is concerned only with Brothers College and disregards Drew's relations with other schools.

Mr. Paul Bunyon Malm Fells Mighty Oak With Single Blow

Students of Brothers College were treated to a fine exhibition of tree felling on Friday, February 16, at the hands of Mr. Enoch (Paul Bunyon) Malm and his husky crew.

The logging operations commenced at about 9:00 AM, when the intrepid lumberjacks took in hand the job of disposing of a tree located approximately half way between the Library and Asbury Hall. This tree had been the result of considerable speculation among the forward-looking side-walk superintendents on campus since it had been blown down in the famous storm of November 25. The tree in question was leaning against a tree which was leaning against another tree.

Mr. Malm's men decided that the solution to the problems would be to eliminate tree number one. When this tree was cut through at the base it became obvious to those in charge of the operation that tree number two would also have to be eliminated. It was ten o'clock by this time, and a crowd of more than 50 students took advantage of chapel period to come out and supervise the operation.

It was at this stage that Malm's men began sawing the second tree. This went on while certain sadistic students were speculating as to who (besides Mr. Malm) should be standing beneath the tree. Some faculty members received a substantial vote in this respect.

Soon it became apparent that sawing the second tree was becoming dangerous because either or both trees were likely to fall at any moment. Mr. Malm saw that it was time for him to take a hand in the operation. He grabbed a heavy axe and walked over to the tree. Several students indicated at this moment that they wished the big tree would fall down. These students, obviously didn't realize that Mr. Malm would have been killed in such an event. Mr. Malm was unperturbed, however, and took a stance with axe in hand as if to put the finishing touches on the job his men had begun. Then, as if thinking better of the idea, he handed the axe to his handyman with a noble gesture. Someone in the crowd muttered that "they oughta give Malm the axe."

A physics major in the crowd estimated that with the anticipated angle of fall, one tree would hit another, and that tree would hit another, etc., and a chain reaction might be started that would eliminate every tree in Drew Forest.

While the loggers were finishing their work, Mr. Malm was risking his life in an effort to protect them. Disregarding all danger to himself, he was bracing himself against a stalwart oak, slightly removed from the scene of the action, lest through some act of God that oak might have fallen on his crew.

Finally the last blow was struck, and two trees headed earthward with a resounding crack. The dust from the falling giants was overshadowed by the dust made by some of the spectators heading for safer areas. Some of the students apparently were afraid the trees would bounce. When the dust had cleared, Mr. Malm slyly peeked out from behind the tree he had so recently been supporting. His crew was no-where to be seen.

Investigation by the ACORN quickly located the men. They were not crushed under the tree, they were in the coffee shop. In an exclusive interview for the ACORN, this reporter mentioned to one of the men that they had

A team of U. S. Air Force officers will be in the B. C. Lounge for five days beginning March 5 as a part of a nation-wide recruiting program. According to Major Clayton M. Doherty, who was here to make advance arrangements for the selecting team, men with two or more years of college have an opportunity to go directly from civilian life into one of the three officer training courses. The visiting officers will be available for further information and details.

Club Briefs

French Club

At a recent meeting, the members of the French Club were entertained with slides of "Mediterranean Landscapes". The slides were taken by Bill Baudendistel while he saw the world via the Navy. Doctor Woolley, the club's adviser, commented on them in French. The meeting was held on February 19th in the Wendell Room of Mead Hall. On February 27, the club members journeyed to the Strand Theatre in Summit to see "The Walls of Malapaga".

German Club

March 2 has been set as the date for the next meeting of the German Club. Plans to take a trip into New York to see a German movie and dine in a German restaurant will be discussed and formulated.

The meeting will be held in the College Lounge at 8 P.M.

Spanish Club

The members of the Spanish Club enjoyed a brief talk by Doctor Richner at their last meeting. His subject was his trip to Europe last summer. The meeting was held on February 22 in the Wendell Room.

Tri-Beta

Greystone Park was visited by the members of Tri-Beta on February 10. There they observed insulin and shock treatments and visited the occupational therapy buildings.

The date for the next meeting has not yet been set.

Psychology Club

At the last meeting on February 23, the Psychology Club heard an address by Doctor Openchowski who is the psychiatrist for the Department of Probation of the Essex County Medical Clinic. Doctor Openchowski spoke in the Pilling Room in the library.

appeared to have a bit of difficulty bringing down the tree. The "lumberjack" replied: "Yea...but we got it though."

ON THE TOWN

By CHUCK REDFERN

Feeling a need for a bit of a high-brow tone for the ACORN, we prevailed upon that eminent critic, Mr. Chuck Redfern, to revive a column he used to contribute to this paper several seasons ago. Mr. Redfern disclaims any interest in popular music, but will be pleased to discuss any other type of artistic expression in these columns.

Mr. Redfern is class, gentlemen, real class. (Ed.)

Recently a group of us had the pleasure and the privilege of attending the cycle, DER RING DES NIBELUNGEN by Richard Wagner, at the Metropolitan Opera House. All that one can say after seeing so monumental a group of operas (oops, pardon me, music-dramas) is, "WOW." This is especially true when one hears Kirsten Flagstad as Brunhilde and Set Svaneholm as Siegfried. Not only are they superb singers, but also passable actors, which is a bit of a rarity in Wagner. Each of the operas, from DAS RHEINGOLD through DIE GOTTERDAMMERUNG leaves a great impression upon the mind, and the last is particularly rewarding when one has seen or heard the other three. This Saturday the Met will broadcast CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA and PAGLIACCI. Even if you aren't an opera lover, try listening to these short ones. They are very tuneful, and surprisingly enough, you might just happen to like them.

If I had my wish, the ACORN would have a much later deadline, for yesterday a group of us went in to New York to see the New York City Ballet doing the FIREBIRD and THE AGE OF ANXIETY. However, I'm sure I can report that the performance was wonderful, for the company has been getting nothing but rave notices since it began its Spring Season at the City Center.

It's too bad that KING LEAR closed so soon, for it certainly was a wonderful production, and for me, at least, it proved that this most difficult of Shakespearean plays could make an excellent piece of theater. Charles Lamb was wrong when he said that it could not be done well. If you are around next year, there is a rumor that Louis Calhern will bring the production back to Broadway. I fully recommend, if such is the case, that you run to the box office and treat yourself to a superb evening in the finest tradition of the stage.

Tonight is the last opportunity for you to dash to the Community in Morristown to see BORN YESTERDAY. Don't miss it!

Council Discusses Scholarships

Scholarships in relation to extra-curricular activities, a new bulletin board, special days for class meetings, and a liaison between faculty and students were the main issues which confronted the Student Council at its last meeting on February 20.

It seems there has been a practice of transferring student's work scholarships to professors who apply the work involved to officially recognized extra-curricular activities. A motion was made but was not carried to the effect that the Council wished to express its disapproval of such practices, and also hope that the practice of requiring work in connection with scholarships be prohibited.

The Student Council requested that additional bulletin boards be put up outside the Mail Room, and Dean Withey agreed, providing all notices be confined to the bulletin boards.

The four Student Council officers and Ken Osborn were appointed as a committee to act as a liaison between the students and faculty to discuss the relations between the two.

Also passed at that meeting was a motion designating that the first Thursday of each month be class meeting day.

At a meeting of the Student Council Judicial Committee, February 21, the motion passed by the Council the previous evening in relation to the holding of class meetings on the first Thursday of each month was declared unconstitutional. The committee felt that: "...the operation of the class governments is to be left up to the discrimination of the class officers."

A.C.S.

Paralleling the expansion of the curricular program of Brothers College, the Drew Chapter of the American Chemical Society is planning to present a series of lectures on Pandemic Chemistry.

Mr. Charles Munson, in charge of hospital sales at Ciba Pharmaceuticals, will initiate the program on Thursday night, March 1. The discussion will avoid the technical and specific methodological aspects of chemistry and chemical research and will instead concentrate on the vocational-avocational problems of the chemist.

Varsity Drops D-Club Game to NCE, 59-50

Going into today's game with Cathedral, away, the Drew Quintet has a record of five wins against ten losses. Since the last issue of the Acorn appeared, they beat Pace, split a pair with Bloomfield, and were defeated by Moravian, Stevens and NCE.

The Varsity D Club benefit, last Saturday, saw NCE come from behind to take a 59-50 decision from the Green and Gold. The Madison High school gym, scene of the game, was crowded with spectators, and although the receipts hadn't been totaled when the Acorn went to press, it looks like the Albert Ben Wegener fund benefited from the game.

Starting with Rosenkrance and Hane at forward, Heffner at center, and MacArthur and Shapiro at guard, Drew broke the scoring ice on Rosenkrance's jump shot from the middle, followed by MacArthur's foul shot after about a minute of play. Hank Heffner followed this with a set shot, making the score 5-0. During the first quarter, Drew, led by Hane and Shapiro, seemed to control the boards, and intercepted a number of NCE passes. Drew's shooting was sharp, while NCE couldn't seem to hit anything. Drew picked up more ground as the play progressed, and ended the period on the top end of a 13-5 count.

The Riders started the second quarter where the left off, and built up a 17-9 lead before NCE came to life. Drew seemed to lose their touch suddenly; their passes were wild and their shots were missing. Meanwhile, NCE kept right on moving, scoring 10 points before Drew scored again, on Sharpy's foul shot. Sharpy followed his foul with a twisting push shot, but NCE finished the half with a six point surge, putting them ahead 28-20.

In the third quarter, NCE kept right on going, building up a 30-20 lead before Hank Heffner's hook shot broke the spell. The play throughout this period was the slowest of the game, with only 20 points scored by both teams. The score at the end of the period was 37-29, with NCE out in front.

The final quarter was just the opposite of what the third had been. The scoring started almost right after the jump, with Blazier tapping one in for NCE. That started the fireworks, and less than two minutes the score had climbed to 49-37. Drew tried desperately to close the gap, but could only keep pace with the men in red and white. On two hook shots by McCue and two sets and a tap in by MacArthur, the Riders drew to within 6 points, 53-47, but NCE spurred up to 59 on goals by Iris and Kindzierski, and fouls by Blazier and Lubetkin. Drew finished their scoring on a set shot by Bob Rosenkrance, and a foul by Hank Heffner. After Rosy's set shot, NCE managed to freeze out the green and gold, and the game ended with Drew 9 points down, 59-50.

One of the high points of the game was the brilliant showing made by freshman Bob McCue, who scored 8 points in Drew's unsuccessful spurt in the third quarter. One of the jayvee starters, he was put in when Dick Hane fouled out. This game was captain Bob Rosenkrance's finale on the Drew home court. On the varsity for four years, Bob graduates this spring.

The Stevens game, on February 21, was just a case of too much against too little, as Stevens ran up a 75-33 score on their own court. Stevens was too tall and too fast for the Riders, and dominated the game throughout.

Returning at last to winning ways on its home court, Drew out-battled Pace on Feb. 17 with a 65-50 triumph. Rosenkrance and Heffner with 21 and 19 points filled the gap of the still injured Halpin. It was a well-played game both offensively and defensively and may well indicate that Coach Simester and his squad will continue their recent spurt in the remaining game with Cathedral.

A bit of bad luck cost Drew its next game, on a strange court at Bloomfield, when Halpin sprained his ankle in the first quarter after trapping in 6 points in the opening minutes. Drew led by 5 points at half time but was held to 13 points in the second half while Bloomfield was piling up 35 points to go on to a 52-38 victory. Final defensive play sparked by Hane helped keep Bloomfield's score low but Coach Simester's five couldn't seem to hit with anything.

Drew seem to fall apart before a strong Moravian squad on a foreign court. Heffner was high scorer with ten points while Halpin and Rosenkrance were held to seven and six tallies respectively. The game was never close and the Circuit Riders seemed to feel the letdown after their fine play in the two previous tilts.

The cagers returned to their fighting type of ball-playing against Bloomfield less than a week before, on the 7th of Feb. with another one point thriller. Again it was a slow first half with Drew trailing by 13 at half time. This time Drew really romped in the second half scoring 41 to Bloomfield's 28 points. Halpin, Heffner and MacArthur sparked this late spurt, Halpin accounting for 18 and MacArthur and Heffner 11 each.

Drew-Eds Win One Lose Two Contests

The Drew-Ed basketball team opened its 1951 season on February 7 with a 49-19 loss to Rider College of Trenton, their toughest opponent of the season. They came back on February 12 to dump the Whippany V.F.W. by a score of 36-25, but dropped their next game, 40-25, to Centenary, on the 16th.

So far, Claire Benedict, Ruth Poynter, and Janice Redhead have been playing forward with Barbara Boden, Emily Christiansen, and Nancy Wennemer playing guard. The team looks strong as a whole, but already injuries have begun to take their toll. However, the spirit the team has shown so far may be enough to outweigh this handicap.

The next game is scheduled for tonight, with the Dover, N.J. V.F.W., to be played away.

Profs Disclose Field Trip Plans

An interview with several B.C. professors disclosed many interesting field trips planned for Wednesday, March 14.

Professors Jordy, Harrington and Zuck are all scheduling trips. Dr. Zuck's group will visit the unique botanists' paradise in Pine

On Friday, February 23, the intramural basketball season came to a close, as the Seniors defeated the Juniors, 33-25, to become the league champs. The Juniors, needing a win over the Seniors to gain a tie for first place were held scoreless in the first quarter, and at the half trailed 16-9. In the second half, the Seniors picked up 17 points to the Juniors 16, to give them an 8 point margin of victory. Toeffer and Tiger both hit for 11 points.

In the second game of the day, the Sophs downed the Frosh 36-25, for the fifteenth straight loss for the frosh.

Last Wednesday, February 21, the Seniors defeated the freshmen, and guaranteed themselves at least a tie for the top spot in the league. In the second game of the day, the Juniors, still fighting for a first place tie, downed the Sophs by a score of 36-34.

On February 16, the Seniors and Juniors were victorious over the Sophs and Frosh respectively. On the 15th, the Seniors, led by Toeffer's 13 points won over the Juniors in the roughest game of the season. A total of 30 personal fouls were called in the course of the game. The second game went to the Sophs, 22-7 over the Frosh.

February 9, the Seniors drubbed the Frosh 43-19. Druck-er and Szabo were high scorers with 17 and 16 respectively. In the other game the Sophomores defeated the Juniors. This was the first time since the beginning of the season that the Junior squad lost to the Sophs. It was a close game all the way. The Sophs lost an early lead and at the start of the fourth quarter, the score was tied. In the last quarter Tiger sank two buckets, but the Sophs got 6 points to win 29-27. Deuces by Germond and Modrak and free throws by Jennings and Gaydos gave the Sophs the win in the last quarter.

The Frosh almost upset the Juniors on February 7. The Freshmen were only two points behind going into the last quarter. However the Juniors went on to a decisive 51-29 victory. The game between the Sophs and the Seniors was another thriller. The Sophs saw their first half lead dwindle in the third quarter but came back to win 30 to 24. Ritter had 15 points and Drucker had 9 for all the senior points. The scoring for the Sophs was well divided, but Germond was high man, splitting the nets for 9 points.

Barrens, N. J. Dr. Green will accompany a group to the American Museum of Natural History.

Government students, shepherded by Professor Smith will visit the Port of New York Authority, and Dr. Aldrich is arranging for a group of his students to visit the Morgan Library in New York City.

"The Spanish Club will make a trip to New York either to the theater or to the museum," reported Dr. Richner. Professor Wooley's French students may have a similar excursion. Dean Morris and a group of eight will have their "field trip" on March 8, attending a Metropolitan Opera working rehearsal.

With the opening of baseball practice scheduled for next Tuesday, thoughts are turning to last year's baseball squad, and particularly to the veterans who will return this season. Swede Backstrom, coaching this year's squad, has scheduled the first meeting for tomorrow afternoon at 4:15, with practice for all members beginning on the fifth.

Two of last year's starting pitchers will be missing, and it is here that the biggest loss will be felt. Curly Hufnail and Chauncey Zielman, biggest winners last season, have left Drew.

Dick Hane will probably be the first line starter this year. He was slated as a starter behind Hufnail last April, but was forced out by appendicitis early in the season. He returned later in the season, but did not see too much mount service, playing at second base most of the time.

Backing him up will be returnees Herman Mertins, George Bistis, and Pete Jennings. Mertins was used as a starter in the early part of the season. A southpaw, and a specialist with slow twisting stuff, he turned in a number of complete games. Bistis and Jennings were used mostly in relief, turning in some impressive performances.

MORAN HEADS CATCHERS

Veteran Charlie Moran will head the catching staff on this year's aggregate. He was a dependable hitter last season, and one of the best defensive backstops in Drew's class. If he measures up to last year's standards, he will be a big man on the squad.

Frank Ritter, last year's first sacker, will be back again this season. A fair hitter and a good base runner, he also showed himself to be a good utility infielder by switching to second base when injuries upset the lineup.

Second base will be well covered by Hank Heffner, another veteran of last year's campaign. Starting the season at third base, he moved over to the keystone spot in the middle of the season. He is a quick fielder, and has a good arm. He also has a very valuable knack of getting on base by walks and errors.

The strategic position of shortstop will be filled by Cubby Tiger, a veteran of two seasons with the Green and Gold. Cubby made short the strong spot of the infield last year, and his hitting makes him a handy man around the middle of the lineup.

It is uncertain, so far, who will fill the remaining infield spot. Perhaps Dick Hane will play second part of the time, shifting Hank Heffner to third. If a substitute can be found for Ritter, he might be shifted to second or third. Maybe Jim Blomberg, who made such a good showing in the freshmen-varsity game, could take over at first. Or Ted Canty, who played in the infield a number of times last year, may fill in at the vacant spot.

TOEPPER LEADS RETURNING FIELDERS

Leading the list of returning outfielders is George Toeffer, with a couple of years of varsity experience behind him. Noted for his fielding, and especially his arm, his batting was consistent enough to win him the number three spot on the lineup last year.

Don "Bat" Dillenbeck, another veteran of last year, will also be back to bolster the outfield. He played most of last year in right field, and hits a mighty long ball when he connects.

Supplementing Dillenbeck and Toeffer will be Paul Edinger, another veteran. In the past, his weak hitting has relegated him to a fill-in position, but this season he may start to connect.

With the exception of the mound staff and one infield berth, this year's squad appears to have plenty of experience, with six of last year's regulars again on the roster. And the pitching staff, although devoid of first line starters from last year, contains men with some varsity experience. The one vacant infield spot poses no serious problem, since there seem to be a number of possibilities. Although it's much too early to tell what the squad will look like on the diamond, if last year's holdovers come through as expected, we should have a pretty good season. However, June is a long way off, and a lot of things can happen between now and the end of the season.

Just a reminder: The baseball squad isn't a closed society; Swede would probably be very glad to see a lot of new faces at that meeting tomorrow afternoon. It's at 4:15, in the gym.

Campus Personalities

Meet Horace Benjamin

Two important changes occurred on the Drew campus in the year 1938. One was the arrival of Mr. Horace Benjamin as assistant to the Treasurer, and the other was the completion of the Rose Memorial Library.

Mr. Benjamin was born in Yonkers, N.Y., attended the public schools there, and in 1924 was graduated from Colgate University with a B. S. degree.

After a year in training in New York, he spent four years at foreign branches of the National City Bank of New York, at Manila and Cebu in the Philippine Islands. After returning home by way of Suez and Europe, he transferred to the head office of the National City Bank on Wall Street, and was in the comptrollers department until 1935. For the following three years, he was associated with the New York office of the International Business Machines Corporation in their Treasury Department.

Starting at Drew as assistant to the Treasurer, he soon became Assistant Treasurer, and is now Business Manager in charge of all financial relationships of students, dormitories, general business functions of the University, and auxiliary enterprises such as the Dining Hall, Coffee Shop, Bookstore, and mimeographing service.

As for hobbies, Mr. Benjamin is interested in classical, sacred, and choral music, gardening and fishing. He and his wife live in Madison.

Sharing the hopes of all campus groups, Mr. Benjamin would like to see new buildings on the campus; a new chapel, dormitories, a larger dining hall, and a new gym. He urged students to be more sympathetic with the financial problems of the University and its limitations. He pointed out that financial limitations often prevent completion of student suggestions with promptness. Turning fortune teller, he foresaw the next decade as a time when Drew will grow into national prominence.

Drew Students to Hear Iturbi Give Concerts

Jose Iturbi, celebrated international pianist and conductor, will give two concerts next month, his first appearances in this country following a successful European tour. Several Drew students have already announced their intention of attending.

The first of these concerts will take place at the Mosque in Newark on Saturday evening, March 3, when Mr. Iturbi will play in a two-piano concert with his sister, Amparo, in a program of Mozart, Debussy, Gershwin, and Spanish music. Prices for the concert are: $1.20, 1.80, 2.40 and 3.60. Tickets may be obtained through Dean Morris' office.

Within the next month, Mr. Iturbi will invite selected students from Colleges and Universities in this area to a seminar, where he will speak on "Music for Young People."

Vocations Convocation Features Social Worker Monday, March 12

Results of the poll of vocational interests have been tabulated and on the basis of the results a speaker in the field of social work will lead the convocation on vocations, Monday, March 12 in the Pilling Room of the Library.

The convocations committee is working with a sub-committee of the alumni organization and it is expected that a member of the alumni will be able to speak to the students at the beginning of the week, and that on succeeding evenings other alumni will speak to smaller groups of students on specific occupations in which members of the student body have shown interest.

basketball, hockey and is the treasurer of the W.A.A. She is also the accompanist for the chapel choir. Her average is 2.34.

Robert Rosenkrance, a pre-theology student, is vice president of his senior class, a member of the varsity basketball and tennis teams and the president of the Varsity "D" club. Bob has an accumulative average of 2.76.

Elmer Smith is a government major with a 2.63 average. He is the head of the Student Council Election Committee and was president of the Foresters last term.

Report On Enlistees

News from Don Harsell, Dick Hertz, Glenn Phillips, and "Doc" Walters at Lackland Air Base in Texas is the typical news of poor shelter, crazy weather, and air force discipline.

The boys have been living in tents due to the lack of adequate barracks. Fortunately these four Drew boys have been kept together in one tent. However, when the temperature drops from the usual 75 degrees to 20 degrees or below, the boys report that they are herded into already-crowded barracks. The boys have become attached to their tent, possibly because they prefer it to being stepped on by their "rebel" buddies while sleeping on the crowded barracks floor.

They found Oscar Tomlinson living only three tents away. Joe Holsinger, who entered service when Oscar did, has been stationed in a remote area of the field. He has not yet been contacted by the other boys, since they are not allowed to leave their designated areas.

Among their activities at Lackland, the Drew boys are kept busy with "monkey drill", K. P. duty, practice guard (guarding empty tents) various instruction classes, and G. I. parties (scrubbing the barracks). In spite of conditions, the boys have made few complaints. Their chief grievance is that so many of the men have had colds and pneumonia, due to the weather and poor shelter. When basic training is completed, the ex-Drew men hope to be transferred to air force schools for specialized instruction in various fields.

Members of the unit, whether residing on campus or commuting, will receive a subsistence allowance. It is not known, however, at what time the Air Force will announce its decision regarding Drew's application for the Officer's Training Unit.

You May Not Agree, But It's...

AS I SEE IT

By AL ERICKSEN

Perhaps it's fate, or just dumb luck for me and ill fortune for you, but I'm back again writing this column (?) And believe me, I'm glad of it. The last few days I was in the hospital the fellow in the bed next to me was under treatment by a psychiatrist. He kept complaining of a recurring dream he had, in which a screw was where his navel should have been. The doctor advised him to dream he had a screw driver in his hand, and to remove the screw. That night there were terrible screams emanating from our friend. The next morning the psychiatrist stopped in to ask how his suggestion had worked out. "I did as you said, Doc," replied my room-mate, "and it worked out all right, except for one thing. My legs fell off when the screw came out."

Speaking of psychiatrists, there was the one who was advising a young co-ed. Said she, "I'm so discouraged, everything I do seems to be wrong." To which the advisor replied, "What are you doing tonight?"

Walking over to chow the other day, I noticed a flat tire on a certain Mr. J. Brown's car. I asked him, "How did you puncture that tire?" "Ran over a milk bottle," he said. "Didn't see it, Huh?" I replied, "Naw," he answered, "The kid had it under his coat."

To discreetly change the subject, I asked Julian how his date was last Saturday night.

"No good," he replied vehemently, "she was just a stuffed shirt."

Tsk, Tsk.

You know, there's been a lot of talk lately about the evils of drink, and I'd like to add my two cents to it. (Ed. Note-you won't get much to drink for two cents). A true story, "Drink broke up me home." "Couldn't you stop it." "No, the still exploded."

Which reminds me of the Drew student who came to class the other day with a black tongue. It seems he dropped a bottle of whiskey on a freshly tarred road. Then he told the prof., "Just because my eyes are red is no reason to think I'm drunk. For all you know, I may be a white rabbit."

And now a little story about penguins. Once upon a time there was a boy penguin and a girl penguin, who met at the equator. After a brief but charming interlude, they went their separate ways, the boy penguin, north, and the girl penguin, south. Shortly thereafter, a telegram arrived at the North Pole, stating simply, "Come quick, I am with Byrd."

a quickie. "Any nice girls in this town?" "Sure, they're all nice." "How far is the nearest town?"

Before I say, "A-dew," I would like to tell you about two herring who stopped at a bar for a couple of snifters. After a few minutes, one of them disappeared. "Say, where's your brother?" asked a bystander.

"Hell," said the herring, "how should I know. Am I my brother's kipper?"

Art Show

Mrs. Elizabeth Korn, Mr. Mahlon Miller and the Art Department, who contributed the prizes that were awarded to the winning artists.

The judges were Stephen Haff, Corresponding Secretary of the Art Council of New Jersey, Bert R. Hulmes, treasurer of the Art Council of New Jersey and Curator of the Jersey City Museum Association, Frances Wysinski, Vice President of the Rutherford Art Association and delegate to the Art Council, Jeanne E. Schlick, delegate to the Art Council from the Rutherford Art Association, and Dr. Benjamin F. Kimpel. Delight was shown by the judges for the accomplishments of the students in such a short period of time.

Mr. Haff said "The jury is of the opinion that all of the work displayed showed remarkable accomplishment for such a short period of instruction. It is evident that Mrs. Korn knows how to get effective work from her students. It is particularly interesting that so many students who never handled pencil or brush before are already turning out technically excellent work."
