Just Who's Being Initiated?

"STEP IT UP, FRESHMAN!" One hundred thirty-six pajama-clad members of the Class of '62 stumbled through Drew Forest a la chain gang last Saturday eve, participating in the annual Traditions Night. But if you think they had problems, just look at the expressions on the faces of upperclassmen Bob Bredin, Ron Salderini, and Jean Padberg.

The new teachers include Miss Barbara Cronin, Assistant Professor of Physical Education, Charles Lytell, Assistant Visiting Professor of Math, Constantin Kautsopoulos, Instructor in Math, Miss Esther Rodlitz, Instructor in Math, Dr. Grant Edison St. John, lecturer in Physics, and John Lasee, Instructor in Chemistry.

Miss Cronin received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Westhampton College, and her Master of Science degree in Physical Education from Smith College in 1955. She has taught at Wheaton College and West Orange Junior High School.

Mr. Lytell, a Drew graduate, earned his Master of Science degree and his doctorate in Math at New York University. He was a research assistant at New York University, and has taught at Upsalla College.

Mr. Kautsopoulos is a graduate student at Princeton, and a member of the math section of the Educational Services Test Development Division at Princeton. He has also worked in the math section and theoretical analysis section of the Atomic Energy Commission Plant at Oakridge, Tennessee.

Associated with the Bell Telephone Lab in Whippany, Dr. St. John received his Bachelor of

Frosh Floor Sophs At Games; Claim "We Knew We'd Do It!"

58-9 Increases Put Enrollment Near 500 Mark

Total registration as of September 17 was 493 students, far above last year's total of 446. Figures for the years 1955 and 1956 are 388 and 393 in that order, dents which Drew could enroll

The maximum number of students which Drew could enroll with its present facilities is approximately 500. However, with the addition of a science building, the faculty feels that as many as 700 may be admitted in future years. A greater number than this would endanger Drew's small college atmosphere.

With total enrollment rapidly approaching the 500 mark, several courses have outgrown their College Building classrooms. Western Lit, Intro to Philosophy and Soc 1 are now meeting permanently in Bowne Lecture Hall. Enrollments for these classes are 113, 104, and 102 students, respectively, although as we go to press Mr. Walter Glass, registrar, reports that these figures change hourly.

The largest classroom in the college building holds 72 seats and in many courses students have been rescheduled to balance the sections.

Along with lengthening Tuesday and Thursday classes and eliminating classes on Saturday, the faculty has made several other schedule changes. Chapel periods on Mondays and Wednesdays were dropped to expand the lunch hour. Chapel now meets for longer periods on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Good positions on the editorial and business staffs of the ACORN are now available to those students with the necessary interest and ability. No experience necessary. For information contact a member of the Editorial Board in Room 205, College Hall. But hurry, the jobs are going fast!

'62ers Prepare For Talent Nite This Saturday

This Saturday evening at 8:15 in the gymnasium, the annual Frosh Talent Show will serve as the vehicle to formally introduce the Class of 1962 to the Drew campus.

At a recent class meeting Jane Brown and Mike Solomon were elected as co-directors. They will be assisted by Frosh Advisors Jeanne Padberg and Dick Kiefer. Their main task is selecting the various committee heads. Lists have already been circulated recruiting talent in instrumental, vocal, and dancing divisions.

"This year's class," as announced by co-directors Brown and Solomon, "hopes to make a departure from some of the traditional aspects of previous freshmen shows. The opportunity to put the show on in the new gymnasium will assist us in carrying out our plans."

Although the theme has already been decided upon, it will not be divulged until the night of the performance.

Annual Meet Features Pull, Football Rush

by R. T. Fozzbury

"Please don't think we're big-headed over the victory last Saturday, but, frankly, we knew we Frosh would win the games all along!"

And win they did, after a tough struggle in the five contests of the annual Frosh-Soph Games.

Undaunted by an early Sophomore victory in the first two contests—the football rush and three-legged race—the spirited Class of '62 scored an easy win in the women's sack race. Their second victory came in the obstacle race, in which they outpaced the Sophs by only a few seconds. This left the score at 2-2, with only the rope-pull remaining to split the tie. Spurred on by an overly-spirited cheering section, their 11-member team braced their backs and pulled the Sophs across the line for a well-earned victory.

As a reward to the Frosh for their success, they were invited to a de-capping ceremony that night where, under the direction of upperclassmen, they were allowed to remove their dinks and signs permanently, signifying the end of a busy Orientation Week.

Traditions Nite Helps Initiate PJ-Clad Frosh

Pajama-clad freshmen stumbled blindfolded over almost non-existent Drew paths on September 13, as part of Drew's annual initiation, Traditions Night.

Those guiding them were Green Key members who floundered along-side of them through a sea of briars, tall weeds and poison ivy. Stating the purpose for the celebration of this night, Paul Abels, president of the Green Key explained, "We want the freshmen to realize that Drew has many time-honored customs and we try to familiarize these new students with some of the most important ones."

Leaving Bowne Lecture Hall at 8:00 p.m., the procession was led by Don Cole, who wore an academic gown and mortarboard to represent Wisdom. Three times the procession was halted while Jim Mills, Don Rathjens, and Dick Kiefer, representing Historical, Social and Academic traditions, respectively.

Later in the evening Dr. S. P. Young unfolded much of the college's background as the group sat around a huge bonfire on Young Field.

185 New Drewdents Show Varied Talents

Classrooms bulge and activity hums this second week of college as 135 freshmen, 38 transfers and nearly a dozen special and unclassified students settle down to become a part of the Drew community.

The new students hail from eleven different states and Pakistan, Thailand, and the Bahama Islands. Eighty-eight of the newcomers are residents of New Jersey while the second largest number are New Yorkers. Both Pennsylvania and Massachusetts claim fourteen new Drewites, and twelve new students live in Connecticut.

In the freshman class 81% graduated in the top two fifths of their classes. Two were valedictorians.

In other fields I was president of his student council, six were class presidents, fourteen held editorships on yearbook or newspaper staffs, and 23 men and 8 women were varsity sport leaders. Mr. Aaron Swinn, admissions director, stated that "in terms of their admission credentials, the class of '62 is somewhat better than last year's freshmen class. However their performance during the year is still the determining factor."

DU Math Prof Vacates Post For Research

A vacancy which occurred in the Math Department this summer will soon be filled, according to campus administrators. A replacement is being sought for Dr. Isaac Battin, who left Drew to undertake a two year research project at the University of California.

Dr. Battin supported the undertaking headed by Dr. Battin will attempt to set up a Master's Degree program in math. Following completion of the project, the professor expects to continue teaching at the school.

EDITORIALS

Welcome, Class of '62

CLUE US IN IF you think we're wrong, but we of the ACORN are convinced that the Class of '62 is one of the best we've seen on Drew campus in a 10-n-g time.

And the reason for this is obviously the top-notch job of orientating, which the Orientation Committee has handled so well this year. Thanks to these few hard-working collegians, the new freshmen show much promise for the Drew of years to come. To those responsible, congrats for a job well done.

And to those spirited members of the Class of '62, we say... Welcome Frosh, you've arrived!

-In Memorium-

TWELVE YEARS AGO a new Assistant Chemistry Professor joined the Liberal Arts faculty. His name was Dr. E. Gilmore Ford.

Recently discharged from the United States Naval Reserve, Dr. Ford brought to his job at Drew a wealth of teaching and technical background. He had received his Bachelor's Degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1935, and his Ph.D. from Princeton three years later. Shortly after he completed his doctorate, he served on the faculties of Brooklyn and Allegheny Colleges, performing duties which more than prepared him for taking a permanent position on the Drew faculty.

Within a few years Dr. Ford became one of the best-known and most-respected men on the faculty.

Nor did this respect remain within the confines of Drew campus. During the summers he was employed by the Curtiss-Wright and Allied Chemical Corporations, where he became one of the latter's most valuable men.

One evening last August Dr. Ford passed away as a result of a heart attack. It goes without saying that his absence from campus will be deeply felt.

Something To Talk About

Last year we were talking quite a bit about that modern, million-dollar structure gracing the rear of the campus, what we called with pride our "new gym." This year, with the "new gym" casually accepted and fully integrated into our campus life, the chatter has switched to the "old gym," now officially named Bowne Lecture Hall. This forty-nine-year-old building is getting a new lease on life thanks to a truly marvelous renovating job. Master-minded by Drew's Doctor Battin, the interior will be as near to acoustical perfection as possible. The Foresters hope to put on this year's play in Bowne Lecture Hall, and we sincerely hope for this with them.

Certainly not the least of conversational topics is the Student Union Building. After several unguided tours through the soon-to-be completed mammoth, we can say only vague things about its spaciousness, its beauty, and its practicality, the more specific panegyrics coming upon the completion of the building.

Baldwin Hall men are talking, or perhaps we should say "muttering," about the two dormitories rapidly growing out of the ground floor and art of the below-grade dorm. We sympathize with their dismay at excavated front and back yards, but we remind them that next year's landscape with two completed dorms will be well worth the eyesore now.

Congratulations are in order to our university administrators who, by making foresight an important ingredient in the "Drew Advance," have given us all something to talk about.

Letters To The Editor

Mills Calls For SG Seriousness

Dear Editor:

The Student Council, in behalf of the upper three classes, extends a warm welcome to the class of 1962 and to the transfers. You have already won the confidence of those who have met you and who know you.

The Student Government program began this year on September 6 when the Freshman Orientation Committee met in Mr. Sawin's office to make final arrangements for Orientation Week. Our activities will continue until graduation in June. We of the government program urge all students to be cognizant of these activities and to offer their suggestions, criticisms, and their services.

I am personally introducing the term "student government" to replace "student council" because the former, more inclusive term incorporates the committee program as well as the functions of the council itself. Remember, a significant amount of business is conducted by the Academic Standing Committee, The Orientation Committee, the Convocations Committee, the ECAC, the Religious Life Committee, the Social Committee, and the Athletic Council—all parts of the Student Government program.

In a letter to the members of the council earlier this year, I said, "Before this school year ends, we shall be faced with a number of problems—big and small—for our consideration. The responsibility that is ours must be carried with the consciousness that we have willingly accepted it and will be held accountable to our classmates for the way we handle it." This was to impress upon them the seriousness of our work. May I impress upon you the seriousness of your interest and support of this program? The time has come for the last bit of apathy to be quenched and for every student to be informed about Student Government.

I wish the best this year for all of you.

Jim Mills,

Student Council President

Pres. Holloway On Bowne Hall

To Members of the Faculty, Staff, and Student Body

The attention of the University community is requested on the matter of the use of the renovated Bowne Gymnasium.

It has been determined that this must be a multiple-purpose room for the general use of the entire University. For regular classroom activity it will house the large class sections for which we have no other provision at the present time. These will be scheduled through the Registrar's Office.

Many calendar events previously held in the Pilling Room of the Library, in Mead Hall, and in Craig Chapel will now be scheduled in this building. It should be emphasized that those desiring to schedule such events, including rehearsals, should do so promptly through the University Calendar in Mr. Morgan's office.

For the convenience of the general public we will call this building Bowne Lecture Hall. It is hoped that everyone will cooperate in making it highly functional for the entire University family.

Fred G. Holloway,
President.

Campus Personality

by R. T. Foxbury

Item: The Drew Senior. . . . Freshmen, Freshmen, everywhere on top of, beside, underneath, inside of, climbing through or swinging from everything on campus. You can't see the sky for the green dinks furiously flutter in the air. Freshmen are pouring over the campus like the Golden Horde of Genghis Khan and generating more excitement than Zorro. Nobody thinks or talks about anything but the Freshmen. . . . so now the time is ripe for a plea for the cause of that aging, forgotten creature, the DU senior.

For four years, and possibly longer, this species has been struggling through academic and social life at a small, eastern college. He returns for his final year, possibly expecting some amount of respect due to his station, and is rammed underfoot in the mad rush for the Freshmen. It's a blow for survival of the fittest when the proven is ignored for the raw.

Take a look at the female Senior. Here is intelligence, beauty, wit and personality that has passed the test of time. All others have fallen by that hackneyed wayside and here she stands in all her glorious perfection. She is smooth, sophisticated, knows all the tricks of the trade and, most important, she is legal. This last trait makes her a favorite in college lounge, Experimental Psych class, and Tessie's, alike.

She combines her sophistication with just the right amount of enthusiasm. She's on her last fling but when she goes wild, she'll do it with delicacy. She'll never embarrass a date. She knows all the social amenities and all the right places to go and the best things to do. She knows everyone who is anyone and can give you their histories for the time they've spent on campus. She is a member of a select group; there are approximately 90 Seniors as compared sure to amaze or amuse you. He has seen and done everything at least once and knows how it should be done again. Besides being able to give the lowdown on college girls, he knows all the town girls. How can anyone prove more attractive than he?

So take another look around. You can spot a Senior in any crowd. Roll out the red carpet, genuflect and bow to the ground thrice in his or her direction, for this is surely the most wonderful of the Good Lord's creations. And if you think them old and a bit haggard, remember that although there is a current craze for modern architecture, a ruin can be charming.

Madigan's Shenanigans

by Dick Madigan

The past months have seen a great deal of legal maneuvering on the part of the Federal Government and Governor Faubus of the State of Arkansas. Much of the legal terminology is complicated. A great deal of the thoughts and actions are not. Perhaps the President and the Governor have been corresponding. And it might be slightly akin to:

Dear Mr. President:

I am very annoyed with your refusal to employ Arkansas ground rules in this battle. Last year you led me to believe that you would not use force in my great state. But you did. Your recent moves indicate that you may use force once more. Don't. Since your troops left Little Rock I have been tidying things up to my liking in that area. If the troops return it will completely disrupt my plans.

Sincerely,
Orval Faubus

Dear Governor Faubus:

Thank you for your letter of last week. Please understand that we did not wish to use force at Little Rock's Central High but you forced our hand sooner than we thought possible. We had definitely decided not to get into that mess. Your moves were a complete surprise and we had to do something.

Sincerely,
Dwight D. Eisenhower

Dear Mr. President:

Many thanks for your candid letter. I sympathize with your problem. However, how would you feel if you were here in Arkansas witnessing a second reconstruction that was backed up by troops and bayonets? These are the times that try men's souls and my patience. I need a vacation. Let's get together and talk this problem over.

Sincerely,
Orval Faubus

P.S. I would be able to meet you anywhere that is convenient. Gettysburg, Newport, Buzsaki, or anywhere in the world.

I am unable to vacation this week. Without Sherman here I have to be President. Therefore, I am sending a few of my crack storm troopers down to vacation in Arkansas for me. Your Department of Commerce says Arkansas is a great place to spend a vacation.

Sincerely,
Dwight D. Eisenhower

It's Nickname Time

"BUBBLES?!! WHAT A NICKNAME. WHY?" The freshmen got quite a chuckle out of last Saturday eve's Picnic and Nicknaming ceremonies. Old standards like "Pooch," "Tiny," and "Boddie" sounded a new ring in the ears of the 136 assembled Frosh. Above Advisor Dick Kiefer gives Martha "Bubbles" Disher something to yell about.

PATRICIA GEE: "I find it quiet and dignified. At first I was unaware of everything going on, as a freshman always is, but now I'm getting into the swing of things, and I love it."

JUDY GRAVELL: "I like it a lot. Everyone is so friendly. The spirit of the freshman class is terrific, and I'm sure we're going to beat the Sophomores in the Frosh-Soph Games!"

MARILOU WRIGHT: "The campus is beautiful, I really like it here. Traditions night was great. Everyone is friendly."

MARY THOMPSON: "I think it's a very nice college, and I'm enjoying it very much. Everyone is so friendly, they speak to us all the time, even though we are just 'lovely frosh.' I'm sure I'm going to like it here very much."

POUCH KLAPMUTS: "The main thing about Drew is the friendliness. Everyone speaks to you, especially the upperclassmen."

DAVE HOPPY HANSEN: "I think Drew is the 'most.' It's really swell. The atmosphere is one of interest. I could go on all day about it. Mainly I think the all-around atmosphere is really swell."

MIKE SOLOMON: "Just great! I was impressed mostly by the friendliness of everyone, and their willingness to help out. We all think Drew is absolutely the most!"

RANGERS FACE TOUGH SOCCER SEASON

Smit Brothers, Kaiafas, Ogden,
Adams, Lead Returning Veterans

by John Clinton

As the '58 soccer season approaches, Coach Tappin is looking to the returning veterans of last year's winning squad to fill most of the eleven starting spots.

The Smit brothers, Bo and Ed, are two local boys from Summit who have given Drew soccer a big boost. Brought up in Belgium, they have been playing soccer since they were youngsters. They are co-holders of this year's Albert Ben Wegener Scholarship and they are expected to repeat last year's great scoring and teamwork on the soccer field.

Wally Sadoff, a senior from Orange, N. J., has learned his soccer here at Drew and will probably see action as a halfback this fall. Wally also plays Varsity baseball and intramural basketball.

Tony Hemming came to Drew last year with two years of soccer experience in England and proved a welcome addition to the team. He will be a key man in the line this fall as he was last year.

Bob "Deacon" Dreyer will be playing his second season of soccer at Drew, and will probably see action as a fullback to help fill the vacancies left by Dick Edel and Ken Perry, who graduated.

Dick Adams, a Senior commuter, is the only returning halfback of last year's three starters. Dick has been outstanding on defense for the Rangers. Howie Powell is another returnee who will probably see action at halfback to help plug the defenses.

Heading Drew's attack after a record-breaking 16-goal season in '57 is the "Golden Toe," Tony Kaiafas, our import from Cyprus. Tony also set the Drew record for goals in one game with 5 against N. C. E. last year.

Mills Ogden, an outstanding goalie for two seasons, may play a dual role this year if the shortage of fullbacks continue. Mills played a key part in the one-goal victories over Wagner, Stevens and L. I. U. last year.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL TO START TODAY

by John Clinton

Coach Simester has announced that the Intramural Football Program will get underway this week on Young Field. The games will be played on Monday and Thursday afternoons at 4:20.

Senior hopes for a successful season hinge largely on the passing arm of Slingin' Sam Hipsher, and the proven talents of Jack Dempster at end. Bill Stelger should see action at end, and Bill Gerchow will be a bulwark in the Senior line. Other probable starters are Don Rathjens, Clyde Lindsley, Andy Dykas and Dave Fults, as the Seniors try to better their last-placed '57 finish.

The Juniors have lost some key men from last year's second-place squad, but they should have another good season. George Hayward, George Littlejohn and Dan Marcus will fill out the backfield, and Cork Sears, Bob Bredin, Jerry Wolfson, Dick Klett, and Dick Wrathall should all see action in the line.

The Sophs have another strong squad, led by Lynn "Rocky" Smith, George Parks, and Andy Woodcombe, and including Neal Mosher, Bob Howe, John Clinton, Bruce Reid, Bill Engler, and Dale Sorensen.

Gunboat Says:

How About You?"

Open Against Pratt Saturday; Seven of Ten Games At Home

by Clyde Lindsley

The Drew soccer squad, riding on the crest of four successive winning seasons but facing the '58 campaign without five of last year's regulars, will open another tough ten-game schedule on Saturday as they meet Pratt on Young Field. In his second season as Drew's soccer mentor, Coach Tappin will be assisted by Dick Edel, most valuable Ranger last year as an outstanding fullback, and Nish Nijerian, another Drew soccer veteran now in the Seminary.

The Ranger schedule is particularly favorable to the home fans, with seven of ten games scheduled for Young Field. After this Saturday's game with Pratt, Drew will meet Bloomfield next Monday, Trenton State on Saturday, October 4, Stevens on Wednesday, October 15, and Wagner on Saturday, October 18, all on Young Field. There is an away game with Rutgers on Tuesday, October 21, and a home contest with Ursinus on the 23rd. Two away games follow, at Seton Hall on the 28th and at Trenton on the 31st. The Rangers finish the season against NCE at home on Saturday, Nov. 8.

Last year's success was due to a near-perfect balance between offense and defense. There were one-goal victories over Wagner, Stevens and L.I.U., a 5-3 decision over Ursinus, and two close losses to Trenton State, one of these a heartbreaker in overtime. The only substantial margins occurred in the losses to Seton Hall and Rutgers, and in the runaway victories over Bloomfield and N.C.E. Interestingly, the '57 Rangers showed a marked inability to win at home while taking five out of six away games.

Sports Personality ...

by Clyde Lindsley

When Coach Warren Tappin came to Drew last year a lot was expected of him, and he has more than fulfilled our expectations. But that's nothing new for him, because for a long time he has been doing more than his share in athletics.

Coach Tappin entered the University of Massachusetts in 1936 and quickly became one of the best athletes in the school's history, earning ten letters in three years of varsity competition. At various times he played halfback on the gridiron, both guard and forward in basketball, he hit over .400 all three years as a pitcher and outfielder in baseball, and in track he competed in the dashes and the broad-jump. As a Sophomore he became the only four-letter man in the school's history.

Upon graduation in 1940 he signed a professional baseball contract with the St. Louis Cardinals, and reported to their farm team in Cambridge, Md. He played centerfield, and after hitting just below .300 and leading the league in stolen bases, he was moved up to Duluth and then Rochester in 1941. He again led the league in stolen bases and then, just as he was one step from the major leagues, with Branch Rickey's commendation of "can't miss", Pearl Harbor and World War II intervened and for the next five years he flew bombers for the Air Force, leaving in 1946 with the rank of Lt. Colonel.

He received his Masters in P. E. from Boston University in 1947, and after another outstanding season with Rochester in 1947, recurrent malaria forced him to give up Professional baseball. Then Coach Tappin first became "Coach Tappin" at Franklin High in Seattle in 1948, and in 1949 he moved up as head baseball coach and football assistant at the University of Washington. There he began work on his Ph.D. and in 1952 coached Washington to the only Pacific Coast baseball title it has ever won.

From 1953 to 1957 he was head coach and Associate Professor of Physical Education at Central Washington College, and in 1958 he received his Ph.D. Then at the beginning of last year Coach Tappin arrived here at Drew to assume the duties of the newly-created position of Athletic Director. As he has often said, he didn't like the athletic overemphasis on the West Coast, but at the same time, "I don't like underemphasis either." We hope his tenure at Drew will be long and prosperous.

"Come to the Rally Friday" and "Let's Go, Gang!"—Cheerleaders

by Dee Formica

What do you say, gang? Let's start off the sports year by getting in the spirit to cheer on the soccer team. I expect all those who gave the cheerleaders such fine support during the soccer and basketball seasons last year will return and continue their fine spirit again this year. Also I welcome all freshmen to cultivate loud voices and some real college enthusiasm for Drew.

I'm writing to ask a big favor in two parts. First, attend all the home soccer games and the soccer rally which will be held this Friday night, the 26th. I'm sure you can all part with a few study hours to come over to Young Field and cheer the Drew men on. Remember, soccer players, cheerleaders and those in the band are not exempt from studies either. So don't fight us, join us! Friday night at the soccer rally we'll try and teach you all the cheers around the bonfire at Young Field, and then there will be a snake dance to B. C. for a get-together and refreshments.

And for the second request, when you come to the games, we get up to do a cheer, yell with us loud and clear. If you don't remember a cheer at first, pay attention and listen carefully, we do them all several times.

At the rally we'll have the soccer schedules for you and lists of all the Drew cheers. Please, P-L-E-A-S-E come, I guarantee you won't regret it. The team likes to have your support and so do we. See you Friday night and Saturday at Young Field.

Editor's Corner

by Clyde Lindsley

Those people who are actively concerned about sports at Drew sometimes need a sounding board, and so this column was born last year. If you like or dislike what you read here, take the time to let somebody know about it. That the written word is impotent standing alone has been amply demonstrated in the past, and will no doubt be evident around here again in the future.

The term has just begun, but it isn't too early to bring up a subject left over from last Spring, which is the fact that the new gymnasium is beginning its first full year of service without the benefit of a name, other than "New Gym". As Doug Lonnstrom did last May, we would like to propose that the building be named for Coach Harry Simester, who has done so much for Drew athletics in his many years of service.

Just last year Coach Simester relinquished the duties of Basketball Coach and athletic director to Dr. Tappin, after a long and successful tenure. He will continue to direct the men's Phys Ed classes and the Intramural program, and it would only be his deserved reward if the building were named for him while he is still among us here on the campus.

Will anything come of this suggestion? Only time and the Administration can tell. We know that "... your work should be its own reward," but here is a chance for someone to show gratitude for years of loyalty to the College. Let's hope they take advantage of it.

By the way, you don't have to be athletically inclined to have a part in Drew's sports life. There are always openings for sports writers on the "Acorn" and "Oak Leaves", and as Coach Tappin recently pointed out, there is a definite need for someone in the College to write articles about outstanding Drew athletes and send them to the respective home town newspapers, as publicity and a possible inducement to future athletes to enroll at Drew. I hope someone is interested in this idea.

But graduation has taken both fullbacks and two halfbacks from that team, and Jack Beckwith's decision not to come out for soccer removes a promising fullback from the picture, so the defense is the key to a successful campaign. Dick Adams is a key returnee at halfback, and Bob Berger and Howie Powell also saw action there last year. Bob Dreyer is one of few fullback prospects, and it may be necessary to move Mills Ogden out of the goal where he has performed so well for two seasons.

The team deserves your support, and you can demonstrate it at the Soccer Rally, Friday night on Young Field.

FROSH WILL BOOST DREW IN ATHLETICS

According to a list received from the Registrar's office, the Class of 1962 is amply endowed with men who earned varsity letters in their various high schools. This is in contrast to past years, when experienced athletes were in the extreme minority.

The four Frosh with soccer experience are Steve Ellingsen, Andy France, Mike Sherbin, and Craig Wilkinson, all of whom are expected to help the '58 Ranger squad. Freshmen with letters in Basketball include Bill Barrowclough, Bob Cohen, Andy France, Kenn Hussey, Mike Sherbin, and Bob Spicer. Al Swann, a transfer from Holy Cross, is also a basketball letterman.

The largest group is the baseball lettermen, and they are Bob Catlin, Brain Coffey, Dave Dietzman, Bob Harrall, Dave Hansen, Hank Longfellow, Ron Rossi, John Tenney, and Hussey Sherbin and Swann.

Don Inglis and Dave Samuelson have earned letters in tennis, while John Klapmuts is the lone fencer in the group.
