Hubbard Appointed Admission Assistant

Mr. Ian M. Hubbard, a Drew alumnus who graduated in 1958, became Assistant to the Director of College Admissions, Dean Alton Sawin, Jr., last Monday, February 6. Hubbard, who will be remembered as "Mac" by those who were freshmen during his senior year, will occupy himself in his new position largely with visiting secondary schools in which he will try to interest prospective college students in Drew.

Future Teacher

Having concentrated in the field of Spanish Literature at Drew, Hubbard hopes eventually to teach high school, and feels that the experience he will gain in his new position will be of much value to him. His appointment at Drew will aid the school in determining how much assistance will be needed in the Admissions Office, while it will offer Hubbard the opportunity to gain teaching credits in night school and summer school programs.

Since graduating from Drew, Hubbard has worked at a summer "Y" camp, and has worked part-time here on campus, but has spent most of the intervening time in the Army, having been stationed at Fort Dix, New Jersey, and Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Ex Frosh Advisor

Hubbard's outstanding contribution as a Drew student was his Frosh Advisorship to the Class of '61. As a member of the soccer and tennis teams, "Mac" earned four letters in each sport and was a member of the Varsity "D"

Club. His other activities included memberships in the Green Key Club, the Spanish Club, and appointment to the Orientation Committee.

Now married, Hubbard lives in Morristown, and has an eleven-month-old daughter.

Position Created

The appointment of Mr. Sawin as Dean of Students in November necessitated to appointment of an assistant to work with him, particularly to relieve him of his responsibilities related with traveling. Several candidates were interviewed before Hubbard was finally chosen.

Alumni Form Aids Seniors In Post Graduate Studies

The Undergraduate Relations Committee of the Alumni Board recently issued a questionnaire to graduating seniors to facilitate a program that would assist them in applying for post graduate studies.

Sample questions submitted to the seniors are as follows: How long prior to your planned date of entrance did you apply for admission? Which schools denied your admission? What reasons were given? What was your major at Drew? Was it necessary to take courses after graduation from Drew in order to qualify for admission? Why? Did you apply for a scholarship?

A revised edition of popular questions will be sent to alumni, whose responses will be available to the seniors.

Drew And NCE Vie In Scholarship Game

The sound of the buzzer and the first jump will begin the Albert Ben Wagner Scholarship Game on February 18 at 8:30 p.m. Playing in the Baldwin Gymnasium, the Drew Rangers will meet the traditional "Wegener foes" Newark College of Engineering.

This special game traces its origin to Albert Ben Wegener, the athletic director at Drew. In his memory the Varsity "D" Club annually holds a benefit game to raise funds for scholarships for worthy Drew athletes. To obtain this award, the Drewite must be a Junior who has participated in the athletic program and is in good academic standing. The scholarship is awarded not only on the basis of the student's athletic ability, but also on the basis of his general attitude and competitive spirit.

To increase interest and enthusiasm for this event a challenge has been issued to each college dormitory regarding a ticket selling contest. The dorm or the floor selling the highest percentage of tickets will have its name engraved on a trophy which it can keep for one year.

Tickets are $1.00 and include admission to the game and the dance which has been planned to follow the athletic contest in the Multipurpose Room of the University Center.

A highlight of the evening will be the dedication and the unveiling of the Victory Bell at half time. Donated by a friend at Drew, this 90 pound bell comes from the U.S.S. Sea Robin, a World War II submarine. It is valued at $500. Years ago a bell was rung traditionally after every varsity victory. Having long since lost this bell, Drew through the Student Council and Varsity "D" Club gladly accepts this new gift. It is to be placed on a platform which can be wheeled around to appear on the soccer and baseball fields as well as the basketball court.

As a second feature of the evening, the newly reorganized Drew Band will make its first appearance.

Brown Strives For Editorship

Miss Judith M. Brown will represent Drew this year on Mademoiselle Magazine's Nation College Board. This will be her second year on the Board.

As a College Board member, each of the 842 college women appointed will complete an assignment that will help her explore her interests and abilities in writing, editing, fashion, advertising or art, in competition for the twenty Guest Editorships to be awarded by the magazine at the end of May.

Miss Brown, who spent the past semester studying at the Mexico City College, plans to deal with foreign study programs in her assignment.

Those who are selected for Guest Editorships will be brought to New York for four weeks next June to help write, edit, and illustrate Mademoiselle's 1961 August College issue. Their transportation will be paid to and from New York and they will receive a regular salary for their work.

In addition to their work on the magazine, Guest Editors will interview outstanding men and women in their chosen fields, will visit fashion showrooms, publishing houses, and advertising agencies.

'62 Honors Colloquium Convenes; '61 Candidates Start Oral Exams

Eighteen members of the Class of '62 planning to prepare theses for honors at graduation met in their first colloquium on Monday evening, February 6, in the Mead Hall Board Room.

Exploring in the field of political science will be David Allen, Lawrence Flood, and Robert Harrall. Roberta Harten and David Samuelson will work in the field of English (American) Literature. Perry Goldman and Robert McCoy plan studies in the field of history, while Trudy Braulich and Robert Cohen will deal with topics in the field of psychology.

Keith Jacobsen and Dawn Lewein will study topics in religion. Those working alone in their fields will be Joan Anderson, German; Roger Binkley, Chemistry; Deidre Cummings, art; Avis Hull, zoology; Donald Rudalevige, sociology; Eleanor Selfridge, music; and Linda Watson, Spanish.

Mr. James R. Pain took over the post of chairman of the honors colloquium with the convening of the group at the Monday night session. He succeeds Miss Ruth Dominovich. Other members of the committee include Drs. Baker, Friedrichs, Greenspan, Jones, and Obler.

Nine seniors who will be graduated in June have just completed their theses. Juliet Ballard, a zoology major, presented a study of the growth of tissue in various culture media. David Colman, whose field is religion, centered his thesis around the imagery of redemption in the writings of John Bunyan. David Cowell, who concentrated in political science, made a study of a court case from the Essex County courts up through the higher courts.

David Faison, a French literature major, presented a comparison of six contemporary French plays with four ancient Greek tragedies. Barbara Knapp, whose field is English literature, studied early mystery and detective works, primarily Sherlock Holmes. Sheldon Lerner, a zoology major, presented his thesis on the relationship between nutrition and longevity in a protozoan.

The study of probation in Hornell, New York, was the topic of Carol Magee, a sociology major. Edna Mae Parker, also a sociology major, presented her study of why high school students choose certain colleges. Carolyn Thompson, who concentrated in religion, based her thesis upon her study of the Shaker religious sect.

Tea Scheduled For Wednesday

The annual All University Tea, sponsored by the Faculty Women's Club, will be held Wednesday, February 22 from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. in the Mead Hall Board Room. The purpose of this tea is to honor all university students, and to provide a meeting ground between faculty and students.

According to Mrs. Marvin Richards, chairman of the tea committee, it is important that students realize that the tea is held for them, and that they are not crashing anyone else's party by attending.

Other members of the tea committee are Mrs. Allen Weatherby, Mrs. John Pepin, Mrs. Bernard Greenspan, Mrs. John Schabacker, Mrs. Warren Tappin, Mrs. Ralph Johnson, and Mrs. John Dillenburger.

Refreshments will be served, including fancy tea sandwiches made by the Faculty Wives.

Korn To Attend MSM Seminar

Mrs. Elizabeth Korn, associate professor of art in the College of Liberal Arts, will participate in The Methodist Student Movement's first national seminar on "The Challenge of Culture to Christian Faith" to be held March 26 to April 1 in New York City.

The seminar will focus attention on drama and painting. It will include visits to art galleries, seeing plays, discussion, and lectures.

The seminar will be composed of about 35 college students who are majoring or minoring in drama or painting and a limited number of campus pastors and MSM advisors.

Women's Houses Elect 2nd Semester Officers

House officers for this semester were recently elected in the college women's dormitories.

In Wesley House Sally Prettyman was re-elected to the Presidency. Also re-elected were Bonnie Weir, Vice-President; Joan Clark, Secretary; Caroline Luneberger, Treasurer; and Barbara Bender, Fire Warden.

In Rogers House, Jane Brown was elected President; Irene Mendel, Vice-President; Diane Reed, Secretary; Jan Becker, Treasurer; and Pat Levy, Fire Warden.

In the New Woman's Dorm Lois Fasula was re-elected as President, as was Bonnie Keyser as Fire Warden. Genie Carter is this semester's Secretary-Treasurer.

Also in the New Dorm, Elaine Nowak, Diane Murphy, and Pat Dailey are Presidents of the first, second, and third floors respectively.

Asbury Hall's officers remain the same as first semester with Mary Ann Kennerly as President; Phyllis Bailley, Vice-President; Ellen Earp, Recording Secretary; Susan Campbell, Corresponding Secretary; Jean Herbert, Treasurer; and Jane Fink, Fire Warden.

The four House Presidents compose the Council of Presidents which is advised by Dean Florence Morris. This council meets regularly to consider common problems, coordinate women's activities, and act as a judiciary body on certain disciplinary matters.

One of the major activities of the women's houses will be House Parties, to be held March 11. Last year a banner was awarded for the best house party to the New Women's Dormitory.

According to a recent statement from Dean Weatherby's Office, Drew's newly elected President, Dr. Robert Fisher Oxnam, has consented to officiate at the 29th Annual Commencement Exercises to be held this June, 1961. Dr. Oxnam will also be featured as Commencement Speaker.

Later, Longer Breakfasts?

While we acknowledge with pleasure the undeniably beneficial results of the lengthening of meal hours for lunch and dinner during weekdays, we wish to point out at this time the undeniable necessity of lengthening weekday breakfast hours.

Noting that the dining hall staff claims to be able to serve nine persons per minute, assuming that twenty minutes should be allowed for eating a meal, reasoning that one should expect to spend five minutes in line for a meal, and further assuming that, particularly on icy paths, one cannot walk from the Center to B.C. in less than five minutes, it should be possible to serve those students with eight o'clock classes between 7:15 and 7:30. At the estimated rate of nine per minute, there should then not be more than 135 people registered in eight o'clock classes. The facts, as nearly as can be ascertained, indicate that nearly twice that number are enrolled in the ten eight o'clocks on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, and in the seven eight o'clocks on Tuesday and Thursday. Of course, not all of these enrollees live on campus, but the greatest number of them do. Hence, what should be possible is clearly impossible.

This estimated rate of service implies further that, assuming a sufficient number of students would be willing to come to breakfast at the earliest time, it would take until 7:45 to serve those with eight o'clock classes. This would then leave fifteen minutes in which to serve all campus residents who do not have eight o'clock classes, and this group again should not number more than 135. This latter group actually is comprised of more than twice that number.

This discussion has thus far been somewhat idealistic in assuming that students will come to breakfast at the earliest possible hour, and also in assuming that all students are in the habit of eating breakfast. The situation as it actually is, however, is nonetheless distressing in that those who do not have eight o'clock classes must eat with those who do, thus affecting unfavorably the doubtlessly crowded conditions, and in that those who do have eight o'clock classes often must spend fifteen or so minutes in line, thus decreasing the amount of time which may be spent eating the meal. (Also we might point out here that this informal statistical information has not taken into consideration those theological school students who also eat in the dining hall.)

Having now adjusted the situation to reality, we offer the preliminary conclusion that the breakfast hour should be no shorter than those allotted for lunch and dinner, or a minimum of an hour and twenty minutes, or from 7:15 to 8:35. Deducting fifteen minutes for those who should not eat breakfast even if they had sufficient time and even if they could eat at a later hour when class schedules don't dictate otherwise, we offer the final conclusion that an 8:30 closing time would greatly facilitate this problem.

Remembering the many desirable changes which have been implemented in meal hour scheduling of late by the University Center Advisory Committee, we hope that their consideration of this matter may have equally pleasant results.

Dear Editor:
An experiment is dying. Even though the Forum Society now has the chance to get some funds for speakers, there does not seem to be enough student interest to justify the continuation of this club's existence. The only program which drew a sizable audience last term was Will Herberg's, and the majority of listeners came from the Seminary. Perhaps with the Psych-Soc Club and the Philosophy-Religion Club operating on a full-time basis this year, as well as the occasional programs of the political groups, there is no raison d'être for the Forum.

Only two officers of the original five elected last year are still around, and no one will come to any meetings even for the purpose of electing new officers. However, if anyone wishes to take over the reins of the Forum Society, I wish he would see me—apathy has overtaken me, and unless such a savior or saviors appear, the Forum will soon be defunct.

Another question I would like to address to the campus is whether anyone else is interested in forming an informal discussion group for so-called "intellectual" matters. The group might be called "Discussion," and function somewhat similarly to David Susskind's "Open End" program on WNAT—sort of an organized bull-session, concerning any topic, with no one necessarily being an expert on anything.

The Howard Exchange

Semester At Howard Seen As "Different"

by Donald Rudalevige

Howard University, compared to Drew, is a rather large school, with a student body of nearly seven thousand, a large proportion of which commutes. This is the first major difference that is noticed by the exchange student. But, of course, this is secondary to the main reasons for the exchange program, which are the inter-racial situation and the academic change.

The University is about seventy-five per cent American Negro and fifteen per cent foreign in its student population. But the most immediate impression that you get is not one of difference, but one of similarity. The students at Howard are, for the most part, in the same social class as those of Drew—at least, within the college context—and are not to be distinguished from college students anywhere.

There is less initial intimacy at Howard than at Drew, largely due to the size of the university, the large number of commuting students and, for the men, the single room arrangement in the two upper-class dorms. But we were all pleased at the immediate acceptance, without bending over backwards, that we had as students of the university. Although in this instance we whites were the minority with high visibility, there was never any indication of hostility or discrimination or, for that matter, overt fawning.

More political interest was noticeable at Howard than can be found at Drew, but this was the big election in the capital of the country, so such action was only to be expected. There are a relatively large number of conservatives on the Howard campus and this brought out an interesting comparison in types of students. The northern student often seemed to be more interested in achieving equal status and ending discrimination than the southern student. Of course, no such generalization will be completely true, but the status quo did seem more acceptable to those who had lived under the discrimination. But, as one student from South Carolina pointed out, he had never known any other way of life and that equality was very new to him.

The foreign students provide an education in themselves. Many are from Africa and, for anyone interested in the future of the world, these men and women are primary source material par excellence.

The reasons to attend Howard under the exchange program are many. As part of the District of Columbia, Howard is much less provincial than Drew; there are opportunities to see world-famous sights, to study under professors with a different perspective, to talk with the foreign students. There is, too, the testing of your own prejudice. Whatever your reason, even to just escape Drew, see Dr. Friedrichs. He'll be glad to tell you a good idea.

Talented Professors Enact "The Search"

Drew professors displayed their varied talents in "The Search," this year's College Faculty Show, held on February 10 in Baldwin Gymnasium.

"The Search" for a new Dean provided the basic theme for the show. From this point on the similarity between Drew's actual problem and developments upon the stage was questionable.

The Reverend Pain portrayed the fearless and determined adventurer whose mission was to find a successor to the office of Dean. His quest led him through Germany, France, Russia, Italy, India, and finally back to the "towering forest."

The fast-paced dialogue, credited to the efforts of Mrs. Berke and Dr. Ober, was narrated by Mr. Harrison.

The audience was transported from a German beer garden to a French bistro where the Bicknells and Mrs. Kenyon released their inhibitions. Leaving the Bohemian life of Paris behind to chat with Mr. Khurshchev, the weary searcher met Mrs. Coombs and Omar Khayyam in India and Mr.

Gevan gondoleering through the Venetian canals.

Back at Drew after several other trips, inspiration finally struck the disillusioned Rev. Pain in the form of a dashing red Thunderbird. Thus Dr. Allen Weatherby was selected the new Dean.

Proceeds from the event, under the auspices of the Student Church, were sent to an orphanage.

Scientist Brandt Pays Drew Visit

Dr. Warren W. Brandt, associate professor of analytical chemistry at Purdue University, was on the campus of Drew University on February 9 and 10 under a program of Visiting Scientists in Chemistry sponsored by the Division of Chemical Education of the American Chemical Society and supported by the National Science Foundation.

He lectured to several classes, held conferences with students and staff members, and gave a lecture on Gas Chromatography on Friday night, February 10 to the Intercollegiate Council of Student Affiliate Chapters of the North Jersey Section of the American Chemical Society.

Walker To Talk At 8:00 Tonight

On Thursday, Feb. 16 the Student Peace Union will present Mr. Charles Walker, Student Secretary of the American Friends Service Committee speaking on Direct Action for Peace.

Mr. Walker is a contributing editor to Liberation as well as many other publications. He has been very active in this area, thus having much first hand information to give.

The meeting will be held in the private dining room of the Student Center at 8:00 p.m.

U.C.B. Elects C. November

Celine November has been elected chairman of the University Center Board, replacing Judy Mowry. The following are new members: Frances Brown, Nancy Howe, John Knox, Robert Spicer, and Kenneth Stevens, from the College; Amy A. Dunkle and Craig L. Michel, from the Theological School. No one has been appointed yet from the Graduate School.

At its first meeting, February 9, 1961, the new Board decided to try ping pong in the game room of the Student Union again. Once before this sport was discontinued because it disturbed the television watchers. Secondly, the Board members voted to invite the retiring chairman to sit in with them for the remainder of this academic year in order that they might profit from her experience. The organization functions on a February-to-February basis, to facilitate spring planning for fall functions.

With the approval of the University Administrative Committee, this organization, formerly known at the University Center Advisory Committee, has been renamed the University Center Board because of its independent nature and growing responsibilities.

Bush To Guide 2-Yr. Research Plan For Drew

Dr. Louise Bush, Assistant Professor of Zoology in the College of Liberal Arts, has been appointed to direct an "Undergraduate Research Participation Program" in the sciences at Drew University. The National Science Foundation grant to Drew made the program possible.

The program under Dr. Bush's direction will extend over a period of approximately two years, beginning on or about June 5, 1961. The objective of the experimental program is to determine the extent to which research experience for superior undergraduate students under the direction of faculty members can make an important contribution to science education.

The present grant will support six participants in the zoology program sixteen weeks during the summer for two years and will provide funds to cover operational costs and essential equipment. The financial support is given only to colleges where participation in the research program will have been completed before they enter graduate school.

Dr. Bush attended a meeting of new directors of the 1961-62 Undergraduate Research Participation program, held in Washington, D.C. on February 10.

MSM Activities Held On Campus

The New Jersey MSM Mid-Winter Leadership Training Conference was held on the Drew Campus Feb. 12, from 2 to 8 p.m.

The program was under the direction of Rev. Richard Thomas, director of the N. J. MSM and Director of the Wesley Foundation at Princeton. Held for student leaders and potential leaders of the northern New Jersey area, the conference attempted to define the purposes of student religious work on each of the campuses, represented, goals, and program ideas to help in their attainment. The Drew MSM acted as host with members of the group providing the opening service of worship.

On Feb. 8 the MSM held a Pledge Night service. Pledges were made toward the Methodist Student Fellowship Fund which was explained by film and discussion. The special project of this fund chosen by the Drew MSM is the Congo Institute of Technology with the Jersey City Inner-City Mission as a secondary project.

Ash Wednesday, Feb. 15 at 7:00 a.m. a Communion Service and Breakfast will be held in the Madison Methodist Church. Communion is open to all, but reservations should be made for the breakfast.

A Japanese Dinner cooked by native Japanese will be held on Feb. 24 in the Madison Methodist Church to raise money for the M.S.F.F. projects. The dinner, served Japanese style, will be followed by Japanese games. This dinner is open to the entire University. Tickets may be purchased from dorm representatives before Feb. 29.

A member of the Drew MSM, David Allen, was chosen as one of the two New Jersey MSM delegates to the 12th Annual Christian Citizenship Seminar held Feb. 5-11. Recommended by the local, state, and national MSM organization, Dave spent the week studying Christian Faith in its relation to world affairs. Half a week was spent in New York in a study of the U.N. and the other half-week in Washington, D.C. in a study of the U.S. government. Approximately 60 students active in Methodist Student Movements throughout the U.S. participated.

(There should be more on this topic when Dave returns.)

Midwinter Alumni Day Set For February 18

The College Alumni Association of Drew University has announced February 18, 1961, as the date for the Midwinter Alumni Day. Lloyd Newsom ('48) and Prunella Read Williams ('56), program chairmen, have planned an active day for visiting alumni, beginning at 10:00 a.m. with coffee and conversation in the Multipurpose Room. At 11:00 the alumni will tour the campus, guided by the members of Green Key Club. After a buffet luncheon, they will observe an informal discussion, "The Future of Drew Admissions," with Dean Alton Sawin, Jr., Director of College Admissions; Professor John Schabacker ('38); and June Strelecki ('50) participating. Ron Salderini ('61) has been asked to contribute his views.

Other afternoon features include a business meeting, swimming in the Baldwin gymnasium, and an Alumni dinner.

At the dinner Dean Allen L. Weatherby will speak and present the annual alumni awards. These awards, one in each of the fields of arts and science, are given to those alumni who "have most personified the basic ideals of the University, to both its credit and their own." Criteria for selection are achievement in vocational field, citizenship, religious contribution, home life, contribution to Drew or the Alumni Association, age and experience.

The Albert Ben Wegener Scholarship Varsity Basketball Game against NCE will conclude the days events.

Blast Planned By Commuters

"A live, swingin' band and live refreshments will be the main features," says Scott Barber, when speaking of the forthcoming Commuters Dance. The dance will be held in Baldwin Hall Recreation Room on Friday, February 17, at 8:00 p.m.

Barber, chairman of the event, promises a "scintillating evening for all, which no student should dare miss." The band to be featured is a campus combo led by Keith Jacobson, which will play a variety of dance music.

Rosemary Haness and Carolin Smith are co-social chairmen for the event and are taking care of decorations and publicity. "Beer will be the live refreshment for the evening (i.e. root), as well as a variety of other goodies," says Barber.

"These chairmen with the help of Lynn Weggeland and Ken Hussey are working to make this evening a success for all who attend."

Band sessions will be held every Thursday at 4:15 in Bowne Lecture Hall, and anyone is welcome to attend.

Robert Harrall was elected Vice-President of the Class of '62, succeeding William Stanford who was forced to resign the post in order to study in Washington this semester. Harrall will serve for this term only.

Stevens Jayvees Down Little Green, 81-32

Wednesday night the Drew junior varsity team played a far superior Stevens Tech Freshman squad. The outcome of the preliminary contest saw the young Rangers routed by the score of 81-32.

After thirty seconds of the first half, Drew lost Al Cummings when he was forced to leave the game because of injuries to his eye. As the game progressed Mark Yerbrough collected three personal fouls and was used only limitedly throughout the rest of the contest. Allen "Pete" Petty was high for Drew with a total of eight points.

Although Drew lost two of their starters, it is hard to believe that their play would have effected the outcome appreciably. Stevens, who evidently had scouted the Green and Gold, started the game with a full court press that made the Ranger offense look pitiful. The team showed lack of practice in basic basketball fundamentals and continually threw the ball way.

There was no comparison between the teams as the Engin-ers easily sprung to large leads and played a relaxed shooting game on offense. Drew on the few occasions that they did break the press showed a complete lack of any attack. Led by their center number 10, Allegra, The Stevens squad led at the half 36-18. Just before the first period buzzer, Neil Kaplan sunk a shot from the midcourt line. The basket brought a few cheers from the crowd, but it was a dismal night for Drew.

Sportscope...

By Larry Day

Once again I note with interest that interested parties are attempting to promote school spirit by selling tickets to away games. It has always been my wish that such a movement for spirit come from the student body. I thank these gentlemen for their interest in Drew sports and also those who take the time to attend these away games. It would be a very good thing for sports if this practice could be continued.

Fencing fans on the campus will note with some dismay that the scheduled Yeshiva match was not held last week. It seems that there was some mix-up in the scheduling. The match was originally scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 15th, but on looking over the schedule last summer Dr. Tappin noticed that the gym was already being used for a double basketball game—that evening. Yeshiva was notified at that time and a date, Wed. Feb. 8, was set. Somehow the memo of this transaction was misplaced at the Yeshiva office. Dr. Baker, fencing adviser, found this out purely by accident and so the match was postponed for various reasons. It will be rescheduled sometime between the North Atlantic and the NCE Tournaments.

WAA Begins 2nd Semester Full Calendar Scheduled

The W.A.A. has begun the second semester with a full calendar of events.

Trophies will be awarded by the W.A.A. to the winners of the singles and doubles matches in the recent badminton intramurals. Basketball intramurals, are now in progress, are held each Wednesday night.

Drew will be represented at a "Spring Playday" on February 11, and at a Badminton Tournament at St. Elizabeth's College on February 25. The "Spring Playday," sponsored by Patterson State College, involves a schedule of planned activities such as volleyball and basketball.

The "Synkeer's," a synchopated swimming group under the sponsorship of the W.A.A., are preparing a gala water show to be presented for the annual "Day at Drew" and as an evening's entertainment for Spring Weekend. A name has yet to be chosen for the production, but it will include routines demonstrating different dances of the world, diving, and comedy skits.

Int. BB Sees Hussey 5 Tops

by Jerry Williams

The second week of the intramural season saw Hussey's squad still in the lead with Graves' and France's teams in second and third place respectively.

Gruens' squad whipped Del-Guidice's five, 46-31, as the Greens outscored them 21 points to 9 in the second half. Wendt scored 21 points, most of them on jump shots, for the victors, while Barraclough hit for 15 points for the losers.

Hussey's squad's victory over Steiner's five was no contest as they won easily 48-23. Bonnell, hitting on jumpshots from the key, was high man for the winners with 20 points, while Steiner had 10 for the losers.

France's quintet won easily, 46-36, over Deitchman's team, as they broke open the game by out scoring the losers, 17-7, in the third quarter. France and Maxfield had 18 and 13 points respectively for the victors, while Hussey had 12 for the losers.

Graves' squad, jumping off to a 15 point lead in the first quarter, won, 51-34, over Davis' team. Weedcome was high scorer for the winners with 20 points, most of them coming on hand sets.

Sports Personality...

We, the Acorn staff, introduce to the student body Mrs. Sue Williams, wife of our new basketball coach. Perky, blonde Sue was raised in Defiance, Ohio and attended Ohio University before coming to Drew. She was always interested in sports—swimming, tennis, airplane flying. At Wesley she would often watch her future husband play basketball, and they would attend games together.

Now coach's wife, Mrs. Williams finds her husband's new position hasn't altered their family routine although they

Stutemen Best Rangers, 68-63 Hislop Scores 25 For Drew

by Doug Davis

A 67% shooting percentage in the first half enabled Stevens Institute of Technology to take a 41-31 halftime advantage and go on to defeat the Rangers 68-63, Wednesday night at Hoboken. One bright spot for Drew was the play of Charlie Hislop who tossed in 25 points to lead both teams in scoring and also picked off 21 rebounds. Charlie got help in the point production department from Dick Stafford who finished with 12, but no other Ranger could reach double figures.

The Rangers started off hot, and despite fantastic shooting by Stevens, quickly moved into a 7 point lead. Stafford was hitting on jump shots from outside, with Hislop scoring from underneath. The "Stute" rallied at this point and gradually closed in, hitting 7 straight points from the charity line. By this time the failure of the officials to call charging had upset the Green and Gold on defense. Although Drew continued to shoot well and eventually settled down defensively, the blistering scoring pace set by Stevens left the Rangers 10 down at the half.

Some fine shooting by Hislop and Don Anderson at the start of the final period was wasted, as the "Stute" connected with their first five shots. The Rangers fared better after Coach Williams shifted them into a man for man defense but couldn't narrow the lead appreciably until late in the game. With time running out, they closed with a rush on four straight points by Hislop and a three point play by Dave Poultney. Their full court press had Stevens rattled, but two more field goals by Hislop sandwiched around Jerry Williams' jump shot left them still 5 short at the buzzer.

The Drew University bladesmen scored heavily against Hobart and Lehigh to pick up a double win, 18-9 and 17-10 in a meet held in Baldwin Gym, Saturday afternoon. Lehigh was the victor over Hobart 16-11 in the scoring. The meet, a triple affair, was scored as a double duel match, i.e. Drew vs Lehigh, Drew vs Hobart, and Lehigh vs Hobart.

The epee men turned heroes for the day, winning 17 and losing only 1 as they came close to the rare feat of winning a clean sweep. Last season both the epee and foil teams missed the clean sweep by one bout each. Captain Bob Bossdorf led off the attack with a 5-4 win against Lehigh and going on to win six out of six for the day boosting his average to .714 for the season. John Klapmuts held his perfect record by also winning 6 of 6 and going 14 for 14 on the season. Elliot Esterman rounded off the epee victories with 5 wins and 1 loss. Elliot raised his average to .714 for the season. The final epee tally was Drew 9 Lehigh 0, Drew 8 Hobart 1, and Lehigh 7 Hobart 2.

The sabre men, Brain Coffey, Hal Pederson, Fred Hust, and Storm Rhode teamed up to win 11 more bouts. Brian was the star of the day on the sabre strips winning 5 and dropping only one to give him a .785 average on the season. Hal Pederson turned in four victories while losing two to put him at .537. Fred Hust and Storm Rhode combined to add the final two victories.

The final score in sabre was, Drew 5 Lehigh 4, Drew 6 Hobart 3, and Lehigh 5 Hobart 4.

Al Menkin was the hero in the foil competition, winning three out of three. Jim Knapp added 2 more victories and Vic Drilea and Dick Lyons added one each for a total of 7 foil wins. The final foil score was, Drew 3 Lehigh 6, Drew 4 Hobart 5, and Lehigh 4 Hobart 5.

Coach Rocco Feravolo was very pleased about the performance of the team. He said that all of the work on the fundamentals had finally sunk in.

Fencers And Cagers Meet B.P.I. Teams This Week

During the week of Feb. 13, the teams of Drew University will meet those of Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute in three contests. On the 15th the basketball teams play host to the Jayvee and varsity squads from B.P.I. The action is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 p.m. with the Little Rangers holding down the honors. The varsity will take the floor at 8:30 for the night cap. Coach John Williams will be out for a double victory against not too spectacular B.P.I.

The bladesmen will travel to Brooklyn on the 18th to avenge last years 14-13 defeat at the hands of a markedly inferior team. Reports from Brooklyn indicate that this years team like last years will bear watching. Even though the Ranger team is better, the fencers will have to be on their toes on the mat. Any laxity on the part of our swordsmen could result in a repeat of last year.
