Prettyman And Feldman Get 'Gold D' Citations

Sarah Prettyman and Leonart Feldman were the distinguished recipients of Drew's highest activity award, the "Gold D," at today's Honors Convocation. Six "Silver D's" were also awarded. Lynn Chappel, Marian Dickinson, Barbara Fern Yin, Leslie Banks, Richard DelGuidice, and Ronald Saldarini were honored with the latter award.

Extensive Service

Miss Prettyman, who replaced Mrs. Yin as College Co-Social Chairman this semester, has been particularly active in the women's athletic program in her four years at Drew. In addition to teaching "gym" classes and directing the Synkers' water show, she has been president of the W.A.A., and has taken part in all intramural and intercollegiate women's sports. She has also been active in the Acorn and the Oak Leaves.

Feldman, who presided over the Student Council for the past year, has been a member of E.C.A.C. for two years, a member of the Finance Board this year, has been treasurer of his class, and was elected to the 1961 Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Varsity D's Given

Also awarded at the convocation were varsity letters and awards for cheerleaders and Drew-Eds.

Twenty-two soccer letters were given. The recipients were: R. Barber, E. Chestnut, A. France, A. Kaiafas, J. Marshall, C. Nelson, M. Sherbin, L. Smith, W. Stanford, C. Wilkinson, R. Fredericks, F. Graves, C. Hislop, A. Kaufman, D. Klett, V. Neew-boonnien, H. Pedersen, R. Powell, R. Rice, J. Tell, and C. Trojah.

P. Banks, N. Coyle, P. Friday, W. Geer, D. Macnamara, and D. McLaughlin received Certificates of Recognition for soccer.

Taking basketball letters were: D. Davis, D. Poultney, L. Smith, D. Sorenson, D. Anderson, R. Cohen, C. Hislop, R. Spicer, A. Swann, R. Stafford, A. Christiano, and J. Williams.

Certificates of Recognition for JV basketball were awarded to A. Cummings, W. Geer, N. Kaplan, R. Kline, J. McDavid, P. Petty, R. Poole, R. Sloat, R. Smith, J. Udall, M. Yerburch, and D. Kehoe.

Fencing letters went to R. Bosdorf, E. Esterman, J. Lowinger, V. Drilea, G. Hobson, F.

'63 To Picnic Sat., May 13

A Class Picnic, May 13, will bring the 1960-61 year to an ending for the Class of 1963.

Morris County Park will be the scene of these end-of-the-year festivities, which will be highlighted by a picnic and various sports activities.

The Sophomore Class treasury will provide all the necessary funds for the event, according to class treasurer Bob Fenstermacher. Bob Temmler, Paul Troop, and Bill Dickinson were responsible for investigating the various possibilities of a park site for holding the picnic.

A chartered bus will transport the Sophs from Baldwin Gymnasium to the County Park at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, and will bring them back to campus by 4:00 p.m. All Sophomores wishing to attend should sign up with Bob Temmler.

Hust, A. Menkin, R. Lyons, F. Rode, J. Klapmuts, J. Knapp, and H. Pederson. Richard Jordan received a manager's sweater.

Others Honored

Cheerleading awards were copped by L. Chappel, S. Wilbur, L. Kaplan, J. Hurdy, A. Warner, L. Chalmers, and L. Fasula.

Receiving awards for service to the Drew-Eds were: J. Bown, M. Fowler, J. Herbert, J. Hill, P. Langdon, B. Dilley, E. Daniels, J. Becker, K. Daniels, L. Mertz, M. Thomson, and N. Howe.

Operation "A" Featured Wed. At Convocation

Not to be outdone by the New York Times, the Newark Evening News, and the Morristown Daily Record, the Drew Acorn also covered the Wednesday, May 3, College Convocation which featured four members of the forthcoming goodwill voyage to Latin America, "Operation Americas."

At the convocation, which was attended by a great number of enthusiastic students, Bob Hinds, President of the operation, gave a brief history of how the idea for such a project was born. He took the audience backward in time to the days when he and three other members of the crew were students at Cobleskill College.

While at Cobleskill, the four boys, Hinds, Walt Kutrieb, Dan Twoomey, and Tom Twoomey, took notice of a very unfriendly South American boy named Pedro. Pedro, they found, was extremely antagonistic toward America. Because of this, the four made a special effort to get to know Pedro better in order to understand this antagonistic feeling. It wasn't long before the five boys became the best of friends. And even more significant—Pedro became staunchly pro-American.

In this experience, Hinds saw the benefits of mutual understanding between members of different nations. He felt that if an understanding of America could come so easily to one student, it might be possible to accomplish the same thing with a great number of students if mutual understanding was attempted on a larger scale. Thus, an idea was born.

At this point, however, the idea was only in the incubation stage. Much more investigation had to be done in order to see if the project was a real possibility. In order to help with the investigation of this problem, Pedro invited Bob to his home in Columbia. While in Columbia, Hinds met a great number of Latin Americans; and he noticed that many of them had one thing in common—an antagonistic sentiment toward America. Most had never even met an American but still harbored this feeling of generalized hostility.

To help remedy this situation, Hinds made friends with as many Latin Americans as he could; and he was able to establish in most of these people a warm and friendly attitude toward this country. Now he knew that "Operation Americas" could be successful.

This brief history of how the idea for the trip was first conceived gave the entire audience a better understanding of the serious purpose of the operation. This portion of the program was followed by a talk from Mr. Ernesto Usatorres, Drew Spanish Instructor and former member of the Cuban Army.

In his speech, Mr. Usatorres praised the crew members for their courage and noted that student to student contact, which is the way these boys will accomplish their mission, is one of the best ways to insure good United States-Latin American relations—because it is the students of Latin America who have always been the nation's bulwark against dictators.

Good-natured humor was appropriately mixed with this serious air when Mr. Hinds introduced three other members of the crew and asked them to say a few words about the duties they would be performing on the voyage. Hinds will act as public relations chairman and chief linguist, Bill Hayes, as mechanic, Walt Kutrieb, as navigator and cook, and Fraiser Shaw, as musical ambassador, facetiously referred to by the others as the "cushion job."

The introduction of College Dean Alton Sawin gave the boys another opportunity for good-natured wit. All those present at the convocation will recall the introduction, "At the top of my list—of course I've got my list upside down—Dean Sawin."

After the program University Registrar, John Bevan, did the honors of driving a Duck-full of enthusiastic students around the campus.

Editor's Note: The present correct spelling of the title of the voyage is "Operation Americas." This was changed from "Operation Americanas" for diplomatic reasons.

New Gov't Prof: Author, Student

by Paul Troop

Joining the political science department is Mr. Winberg Chai who next year will be replacing Mr. David Gray. Mr. Chai's title will be Visiting Assistant Professor, announced Dean Allen Weatherby.

Mr. Chai's experience includes a year as Lecturer in Chinese and Far Eastern Studies at the New School for Social Research in New York. Also he has been a research analyst for Benton and Bowles, one of the largest advertising agencies in the world.

His publication and research background includes being co-author of The Changing Society in China (1961), associate-author of The Story of Chinese Philosophy (1961), and collaborator with Thomas Hovet under Professor Ch'u Chai for The Wisdom of Tao from Lao Tzu (1961). Currently he is working on a new book, Chinese Political Thought: From Confucius to Mao Tse-tung. Mr. Chai has also written numerous magazine articles, many of which have appeared in such periodicals as the magazine section of the New York Times.

Mr. Chai, who was born in China, received his B.A. from Wittenberg College (1955), Springfield, Ohio; M.A. from the New School for Social Research (1958); and since 1958 he has been a Ph.D. candidate in the Department of Government at New York University.

Because of the nature of his background a number of changes in the program of the Political Science Department will be made next year. International Law will be offered, and the course in The Government and Politics of Asia may be extended into a full year course.

One note of interest is the origin of Professor Chai's first name. His mother and father attended Wittenberg College and were married there. His mother said she would name her first child for the College. However, in China, one can only have two syllables in the first name—thus Winberg—first and last syllables of Wittenberg, became his first name.

Mr. Gray will be in Africa next year working on his doctoral thesis. In addition to Mr. Chai and Dr. Robert Smith, Mr. Julius Mastro will become a full time member of the Political Science Department.

Barbara Scheider

Barbara Scheider Sceptered By Dean

by Diane Reed

In a colorful and festive ceremony at the Hotel Suburban in Summit this past Friday evening, Dean Allen Weatherby crowned Miss Barbara Scheider queen of Spring Weekend. Robed in royal scarlet Miss Schieder of the Class of 1961 presided over her court which consisted of seven other fair members of all four college classes. The Misses Judith Mowry, Marian Dickinson, and Sandi Wilbur were chosen to represent the Senior Class and Jane Elizabeth Brown, Miss Morristown of 1961, and Suzanne Toimette Thomas attended Miss Schieder representing their class of 1962. Representing the Sophomore and Freshman classes respectively were Miss Betsey Gecsey and Miss Nancy Howe, respectively. Following the actual coronation ceremony Queen Barbara and members of her court were led by their escorts in a traditional waltz, highlighting the evening. The Queen and her court were chosen over a month ago by popular vote of members of the student body.

Other events of this truly unique weekend included the highly successful coffee hour on Saturday morning and the excellent performance of the Barry Miles All-Stars at the Jazz on the Quad concert on Saturday afternoon. Dancers at the informal on Saturday evening were able to further enjoy the music of the Barry Miles orchestra which provided interesting and varied dance rhythms for all. There was record attendance for all of the activities of the weekend, which was given by the Social Committee of the Class of 1962 in honor of the Class of 1961. Miss Judith Gravell, Social Chairman of the Junior Class, directed activities of her committee which included Bertha Webb, Mary Ellen Thompson, Irwin Bloch, Suzanne Thomas, Edith Reed, David Samuelson, Jane Brown, Roger Binkley, and Diane Reed.

'Tender Trap' Springs Friday

by Andy Saltis

Young Democrats will present "The Tender Trap" in technicolor on May 12 at 7 p.m. in Bowne Auditorium. The film, which stars Frank Sinatra, Debbie Reynolds and David Wayne, is a comical dissertation on the fun a bright fellow can have merely by remaining single in the glutted marriage market of New York. It is good entertainment even for guys who already are hooked, and for ladies with desperate disposition who have their traps out for any fair game. There is something in the movie for everyone—in the way of amusements, that is.

A 35 year old actor's agent with a terrace apartment on Sutton Place has to fight off the beautiful women who clamor to share their lives with him. To the wonder of an old married friend who takes up temporary residence with him while on a tacit vacation from home, he lives like a self-indulgent sultan, until there comes into his life a stalwart maiden who treats him with elegant disdain.

The bachelor soon finds himself tangled in a couple of tender traps. How he struggles to regain his freedom and by which trap he is eventually held are matters of exposition.

During the intermissions refreshments will be available.

Editorials

Scholarships Inadequate

Considerable indications of dissatisfaction were reported by respondents to the Acorn scholarship poll who have held Rose Freshman Scholarships and Continuation Scholarships. The most prevalent gripe is one of being deceived: students who come to Drew with Freshman scholarships expect to be given the same amount of money from year to year if they remain "in good academic standing." The discoveries that the amount is gradually lowered irrespective of academic achievement and that "in good standing" is often not fully explained until it is too late to attain are understandably angering.

The freshman scholarship program as it is presently administered should be reconsidered. While the grants for the freshman scholarship recipients may be as large as those for freshmen granted four-year scholarships, the former are assured of receiving no more than $100 by their senior year, if they are fortunate enough to get anything at all. Here is the essence of dysfunction: if tuition goes up, and scholarships go down, these grants cease to function as scholarships, for they are too small in proportion to the total cost of a college education to accurately distinguish between the person who can afford college and the person who cannot, other things being equal.

Likewise in the four-year scholarship program there is the same incapability of function: the figures are only slightly more attractive; the definition of conditions necessary to its maintenance are similarly lacking. Most distressing, however, is that those awarded these grants from Drew are often eligible for "top scholarships" which may be four times as large at other schools.

Since the possibility of annual raises in tuition fore-shadows the near and more distant future, there is reason to be dissatisfied with the presently static or regressive scholarship program. Equally important, however, is that with the greater volume of applications to colleges and the consequence of increased selectivity in "better schools," Drew cannot be any measure of academic integrity hope to maintain its academic standards from the ranks of only those who are financially capable. It must maintain its scholarship program, and that means raising the amounts and defining the conditions necessary for keeping a scholarship.

Our Best Wishes

The Acorn would like to express a hearty "best wishes" to Bob Minds, Bill Hayes, Frazier Shaw, Walt Kutrieb, members of "Operation Americas."

We feel that this project will not only be rewarding to its participants but will also benefit the country as a whole. For, if the voyage, the first trip of its kind ever attempted by citizens of America, is successful, perhaps the idea will spread to other college students, who may then be inspired to initiate their own good will projects.

We feel that the planning or simply the support of an operation such as this is the answer to that question which has become almost a cliché among American students, "What can we do to ameliorate international relations? After all, we aren't members of the State Department." Is this ignorance or apathy?

We applaud the courage of the members of "Operation Americas" for not sitting back complacently and leaving the "Ugly American" problem entirely up to the United States Government.

Official Notices

The Parents' Day program on Sunday, May 14, will include a University Band Concert at 3:00 p.m. on Mead Hall Lawn, followed by a Drew Eds' Tea from 4:00-5:00 p.m.

The Madison Methodist Youth Fellowship will present two plays on Sunday, May 14, in Bowne Lecture Hall from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. The plays, "The Ugly Duckling" and "The Aria da Capo," are being directed by Norton Wettstein. The entire campus is invited to attend.

Tri Beta will hold a picnic at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Zuck on Saturday, May 20, at 6:00 p.m. The election of next year's officers will take place at this time. Dr. and Mrs. Zuck reside on Glenwood Road in Madison.

The Social Committee will sponsor a coffee night with informal dancing on Friday evening, May 12. Tickets will be issued to students, in the University Center from 9:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. to purchase one cup of coffee from the Snack Bar.

Council Column

by Mike Slippen

This week Larry Flood held the first meeting of the 1961-1962 Student Council. The Council was informed of its new office presently being installed in Bowne Lecture Hall. The student body was requested to use judgement in their behavior at the possible forth coming civil defense trial. It was reported that the Council's request for first aid kits in each dormitory had been fulfilled; they will be located in the apartments of each house director.

The Council organized its rules for procedure which included Robert's Rules of Order. A provision for a corresponding secretary was approved. David Allen explained his task as Council treasurer and a motion was approved for an expenditure authorization to be given to the treasurer before any Council money may be spent. The council moved to join the National Student Association. This is an organization which will bring the student government of Drew University in closer relation to college student governments throughout the nation.

Membership was approved for Orientation committee. The Senior members will include Bill Barraclough, Irwin Bloch, Sue Thomas and Lois Fasula. The junior members are Dick Chaplin, Jack Hawke, Hal Pederson, Diane Cooper, Judy Hurdy and Gail Clayton who will act as program director. The Sophomore members are Storm Rhode, Bob Saar, Val Greenspan and Ann Warner.

Other Council appointments included the Social Committee chairmen, John Klamputz, Dave Samuelson and Judy Grayell.

The Budgeting Committee appointed will include Bob Cohen, Mike Slippen and Bob Saar.

The Radio Station was released from Student Council jurisdiction now to proceed as an independent extra-curricular activity.

Discussion followed on the never-ending topic of attendance rules for Council members. A policy was approved, whereby a member's absence from two or more meetings is reported to his class. Dave Allen and Jack Hawke will look into improvements in the Council by-laws.

Drew Exhibit Seen As "Art"

by Charles James Pain

When is art Art? This is the kind of question which gets batted around a good bit of late. John Canaday of The New York Times is continually bemoaning the fact that in the field of abstract painting "amateurism can pass for professionalism." Lesser lights make frequent humor of the situation with reference to prize paintings done by apes or, upon occasion, somebody's cat wading around in gobs of paint.

I'm not much of a Canaday fan, and I find the lesser lights rather tiresome, but I think that one must admit a certain validity to the question. In the field of student art the whole matter takes on a new dimension. The annual exhibit of student art on this or any campus is fertile ground for the pursuit of an answer.

At the outset, there is considerable difficulty in assessing the ground for judgement of student work. Last month I visited a student show at a large southern university. Most of the material was rather deadly. I had the feeling that there was evidence of a slavish attempt to copy the style of the unseen professor. Doubtless there is much value to the approach of a realist painstakingly copying the technique of the master. However, abstraction just does not lend itself to being dittoed.

On the other hand, the current Drew exhibit comes off terribly well by comparison. If you go through the material carefully, it is possible to discern patterns of development in technique and form which are quite personal and inventive. The emergence of skill and ingenuity comes as the blessing of accumulated experience in trial, error, and success.

If you have trouble telling the difference between kitch and quality, you may begin here as well as with the polished work of the professional. The distinction between amateurism and professionalism is not necessarily one of quality or integrity. The present show is representative of the work in the Department of Art. Some of the pieces have arrived, others indicate that the artist still has a long way to go. As a unit the exhibit evidences that the Department is not standing still.

Not the least consideration in the show is the evident care with which the paintings have been hung and the lighting arranged. This is far from an easy task and Prof. Elizabeth Korn is to be commended for the happy result.

Drew Offers Summer Jobs

Drew offers various jobs on campus during the summer. Positions are available in the dining hall, the maintenance department and the Library. Office workers (clerical and typing) and mimeograph operators are also needed. Anyone interested in participating in Dr. Baker's science project on campus this summer should contact him.

Job placements are handled by the individual departments. To obtain more information concerning any summer job at Drew, see the head of the department in which you are interested.

Evidences Of Spring Noted

by Donna Mundwiler

When Spring is here, young men's fancies turn and turn and turn. Thoughts of playing baseball, cutting classes, driving cars, and sleeping flash through their heads. If you have noticed our frequent baseball games, empty classrooms, bare knees, and numerous dreamy convertibles flying by, you should have recognized the signs of spring at Drew.

The latest fashions include higher skirts which reveal bruised and scratched legs. The tomboy look is becoming most popular. Another fashionable attraction is the windblown look—coiffure-wise, that is. Kerchiefs are being flung aside, and, with the help of humid, spring weather, the droopy, wild look is prevalent.

Drew should have a contest for the boy with the cutest knees. Many have modeled around the campus lately. Some of the fella's patellas even out-do the girl's.

A fashionable attraction, of late, has been a pleasant stroll along Drew Forest's well-trodden paths, with frequent intermissions to watch the birds and squirrels Nature in action. Isn't it thought!

Ah, Spring—a time for wild ideas, and carefree attitudes. Take advantage of Spring at Drew; exams start in two weeks.

Hughes Addresses Young Democrats

by Perry Clapp

Judge Richard Hughes, Democratic candidate for Governor of New Jersey, addressed the Drew Young Democrats at a supper meeting and lecture, on Monday, May 1.

Judge Hughes spoke about some of the major issues of the campaign, including taxes, education, transportation, industrial growth.

Judge Hughes stated that he is against a "no new tax" clause in the Democratic platform. He is also opposed to broad-based taxes, both sales and state income. If a broad base tax were to be instituted, he indicated that he would call for a cut in property taxes.

Judge Hughes aims in solving the commuter problem would include having the New York Port Authority buy the Hudson Tubes and to assume "its proper role in New Jersey."

Hughes stated that education facilities must be expanded as a "matter of survival."

Hughes also feels that everything possible should be done to attract industry to New Jersey. He observed that increased higher education is a major factor in attracting industry, and pointed to the discrepancy between the great number of unskilled who are unemployed and the great number of openings for skilled workers.

Hughes' lecture was followed by questions from a panel and the audience. The panel consisted of David Faison, Eleanor Selfridge and Charles Carlson from Drew, with students from St. Elizabeth's, Fairleigh Dickinson and Rutgers also participating.

Pele Ala'ilima shakes the hand of Judge Richard Hughes as Andrew Saltis, President of the Young Democrats, looks on.

Selfridge Elected Green Key Prexy

Eleanor Selfridge was elected president of Green Key for the 1961-62 academic year at a dinner meeting of the organization last Wednesday.

Assisting her will be Gerie Snell, who was chosen vice president; Jean Herbert, secretary; and Bonnie Keyser, associate secretary.

Besides being active in Green Key for the past two years, Miss Selfridge has also been Editor-in-Chief of the Acorn, and a past production manager of Fall Production.

Next year's Green Key activities will include Traditions Night and Day at Drew. Members are also responsible for conducting tours of the campus for prospective students, and for other groups interested in touring the campus.

Miss Selfridge succeeds Leslie Banks. Other officers of this year's club included Michael Dudlar, vice president; Lynn Chappel, secretary; and Judith Anderson, associate secretary.

Physics, Poly Sci Eco Courses Added

Several new courses have been added to the 1961-62 curriculum, according to John Bevan, Registrar.

Enriching the physics curriculum will be Physics 11 entitled Problems in Physics. Designed for physics and math majors, this one-credit course will be taught by Dr. John Ollom, and may be taken concurrent with or follow the general physics course.

Intermediate Economics—Intermediate Economics Theory will be introduced for the first time into the economics curriculum. It will be taught by Mr. Richard-Duke.

Appointed as visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science to fill the vacancy left by Mr. David Gray's one year leave of absence, will be Mr. Winberg Chai. Mr. Chai is currently with the New School for Social Research in New York City. An entire year course, Governments and Politics in Asia, and a half year course, International Law, will be offered this coming year only as specialties of Mr. Chai. In addition, he will teach International Relations.

Also in the political science department, Mr. Joseph-Mastro has been appointed full time instructor, to teach not only Political Science 1 and 2, but Soviet State as well.

Experimental Scale—According to the Registrar, the general physics, zoology, and chemistry courses will operate next fall on the experimental scale on which chemistry operated this past year. These courses, meeting three times a week, will consist of two large lecture sessions and one recitation section which will have a smaller student enrollment. This is an attempt on the part of the administration to maintain individual instruction in spite of increasing college enrollment.

Also to be instituted next year is the consolidation of the present two introductory zoology sections into one large lecture group. Though this means the one class will consist of a larger number of students, extensive use of advanced audio-visual systems is planned to improve the quality of the course.

Elected Spench Club officers for 1961-62 are: President, Frances Brown; and Vice President, Mark Yerburgh. An organizational meeting of the club was held last Tuesday, May 1.

Tennis Team Downed 5-4 Stevens Wins Close One

The Drew University Tennis team lost an away match to Stevens Tech on Saturday 5-4 the score being identical to last year's loss to Stevens.

In first singles Dave Poultney lost to his opponent Charley Collins 1-6 and 3-6. Don Anderson picked up his first singles win of the season as he downed his opponent in the second singles match in three sets, 4-6, 6-2. On the other hand Craig Wilkinson lost his first singles match of the season in the third singles slot on two sets, 4-6, and 5-7.

Dave Samuelson lost his fourth singles match in two identical sets of 1-6, and 1-6. Gordon Maxfield was downed in his fifth singles match on sets of 3-6 and 2-6. Ken Brunstein picked up the second and final singles of the day in the sixth singles match on big scores of 6-0 and 6-2.

The Doubles team which have been carrying the bulk of the wins this season won two of the three doubles matches. Poultney and Wilkinson lost the first match to their opponents Collins and Perry on straight set scores of 2-6 and 1-6. Don Anderson and Dick Lyons stayed in the winning way and gave Anderson a perfect day on the courts on set scores of 6-2 and 6-0. Burnett and Maxfield closed out the scoring for the day in the last match as they won easily 6-3 and 6-1.

The tennis team plays three matches this week. Newark Rutgers away on Wednesday, New Paltz away on Friday and Saturday home against Rutgers South Jersey.

Handball Scores

In the handball round robin last week the following games were played: Lingerman remained in first place and undefeated by downing D. Kullgren in straight games, 21-5, and 21-10. Bob McCoy not to be moved out of his first place tie also remained undefeated at the expense of Rubenstein on easy scores of 21-4 and 21-1. Rudalevige kept his second place slot in a hard contest with Barber 21-9, 13-21, and 21-15. D. Kullgren also downed Barber on scores of 21-11 and 21-12. Rubenstein rounded out the week's play with a victory over G. Kullgren in a 21-11 and 23-21 contest.

The only badminton contest played last week saw the team of Israsena and Lawrie victors over the team of W. Knox and J. Knox on hard fought scores of 15-11 and 15-8.

Rangers Lose 11-2, For 7th Of Season

The Drew baseball team lost its seventh game of the season on Friday at Trenton State by a score of 11-2. Brian Coffey appearing in his fifth contest of the year went the distance in the losing cause.

Drew's only two scores came in the ninth inning. Ed Chesnut reached base with a double followed by a pass given to Ron Saldarini. Bill Dykstra also got a free pass to first but was cut down third to second as Al Cummings reached first on the fielders choice. Chesnut scored on the same play. Ken Hussey batted in Saldarini with a single.

Trenton opened the attack in the second inning with three runs. A hit batter followed by four singles pulled the trick. The third was blank for the State school, but they came to life again in the fourth with four singles, two doubles and a walk to produce five runs.

Moundsman Coffey kept them quiet until the eighth when two walks and two singles produced the final three runs.

9th Inning Rally Fails Rangers Lose, 15-8

by Doug Davis

An eight run outburst, highest score chalked up by Drew since the opening game against Howard, wasn't enough to keep Newark Rutgers from handing the Rangers their eighth defeat by a 15-8 margin Saturday afternoon on Young Field.

Ron Saldarini, Al Cummings, Bob Catlin, and Bill Dykstra paced Drew with 2 hits apiece. Saldarini scored three times, Dykstra twice, Cummings scored twice and batted in 2 runs, and Catlin had three r.b.i.'s.

The highlight of the Ranger attack was a dramatic ninth inning rally which provided lots of excitement before falling short. Bob Smith, leading off the inning, reached second on a wild throw and moved to third as Lyn Smith grounded out. When Chesnut batted a slow hopper to 3rd, Smith headed for the plate and slid in under the tag as the throw came in high, while Catlin was safe at first. After Saldarini walked and Dykstra fanned, Cummings slapped a single over second driving in Chesnut. When the throw to third was wild Saldarini came on in and Cummings alertly moved around to third. Catlin's single up the first base line brought in Cummings and closed the scoring.

Earlier, Drew scored 2 runs in the fourth on singles by Saldarini and Cummings, and got two more in the eighth when Saldarini and Dykstra singled, Cummings walked, and Catlin singled. Brian Coffey pitched expertly in relief of the Rangers, coming on in the ninth to put out a rally which had already netted the visitors four runs by quickly retiring the only two men to face him.

Chesnut is leading the team in hitting with a .316 batting average. Captain Saldarini is hot on his heels with .304; the next highest average is rookie second baseman Al Cummings' .250. Mound ace Coffey has appeared in six of the team's eight games.

Sports Personality

This week's sports personality is Dave Poultney. Dave has been a strong member of both the tennis team and the basketball team in his four years at Drew.

Dave started in tennis in his freshman year at the sixth singles position and worked his way up to first singles this year, playing fourth as a sophomore, and second as a junior. Both last year and this he has played on the first doubles team. Up until this year Dave has had a 20-4 record in singles and an 18-5 record in doubles. The most surprising thing about this record is that he had never played on a high school tennis team and only played one year before coming here to Drew.

In basketball Dave has added his talents to the team for three years playing at an alternating fifth-sixth position. He has been a valuable member of the team adding much needed height under the boards and a sure 7-10 points a game. Again Dave admits that he had never played basketball in high school because the coach said he wasn't good enough.

Dave also played intramural basketball in his sophomore year being on Ron Saldarini's championship team, a team that racked up a 15-0 record with Dave scoring 23 points a game.

In other intramural sports Dave has been active in intramural football for three years and softball for three years.

In activities other than sports Dave has been a mainstay of the College Choir for three years and last year was elected junior class treasurer. This year the senior class elected Dave its president.

Twelve Elected To Pi Gamma Mu

Pi Gamma Mu, Drew's chapter of the National Honorary Social Sciences Fraternity, will welcome twelve new members at the May 11 initiation. The induction ceremony will be preceded by a dinner for student and faculty members of Pi Gamma Mu.

The inductees include Pat Badertscher, Sylvia Gifford, Russell Miller, Susanne Schantz, political science; Elizabeth Carter, Lynn Chappel, Susan Wei, history; Edna May Parker, Judith Swanson, sociology; Malcolm Hulslander, Cata Wettland, psychology; and Eleanor Furnwal, religion.

Membership in Pi Gamma Mu is open to students whose field of concentration is economics, history, political science, psychology, religion or sociology. A candidate for membership must have completed at least twenty hours in the aforementioned fields and have an average of 2.10 in the upper level courses in these fields.

Sophs, Jun's Win In Softball

The intramural softball league got under way last week with two games played. On the diamond near the tennis courts the sophomores downed the freshmen, and on the field near the running track the juniors beat the seniors.

The freshmen-sophomore game which ended in a 12-7 score showed the sophs to be a hitting team. In the first inning the sophs collected 4 runs on a double by Pete Petty and singles by Hal Pederson, Harry Mussel, and Ralph Powell. In the second they gathered 1 more on singles by Bill Merz and Petty. In the third Bob Temmler singled followed by a triple by Adam Kaufman and singles by Pederson, Mussel, and Powell for 4 runs. The fourth was blank, but in the fifth Melfz, Petty, Jon Marshall, Mussel, and Powell put together singles for 4 final runs.

The juniors, who shut out the seniors, also are a hard hitting team. In the first they got 2 runs on a single by Bill Barracough, and triples by Frank Graves and Andy France. There was no more scoring until the sixth when Barracough doubled followed by a single by Graves, a walk to Mike Sherbin, and a big home run by Bob Harrall produced 4 runs. In the seventh singles by Dave Dietchman and Barracough and a triple by Larry Day netted 2 runs to end the scoring.
