Pass/fail extension to be soug

by Maxine Hattery

Yesterday the Student Educational Policy Committee brought the following proposal before the Faculty Educational Policy and Planning Committee to get opinions and suggestions:

1) A student may take any course that is not required for his major on a pass/fail basis.

2) No more than two pass/fail courses may be taken during any one semester.

3) A student may take no more than twelve courses on a pass/fail basis during his four years at Drew. The limit for transfer students is-computed as: three times the number of years needed for graduation.

4) The decision to take a course on a pass/fail basis must be made by the end of the fourth week of classes. 5) A "pass" is considered the equivalent of a solid

"D" and above. 6) A letter grade as well as a pass/fail grade should be submitted by the professor to the registrar for his records. The student will also be sent both marks. The letter grade will not be considered toward the student's average, nor inserted in any transcripts sent out of Drew unless so requested by the student.

A recent survey conducted by the SEPC showed that 72% of the student body is not satisfied with the extent of the present pass/fail system. The proposal is an attempt to reflect student opinion.

It is not in its final form, though, and SEPC looks forward to student suggestions.

SEPC Chairman David Little explained some of the reasoning behind the proposal. Students should not be penalized, SEPC feels, because they have difficulty in certain required courses. Many otherwise bright and industrious students, for example, are simply unable to "get the hang of a language."

Furthermore, SEPC believes, students should be able to allot their time to those courses which are most important to them, presumably those in their major. With the last proposal, SEPC hopes to provide. data for later evaluation of student performance under the new system, when and if it is instituted.

Little hopes to put the proposal before the student senate next week. From the senate it will go formally before EPPC for approval. Finally, it must be passed by the faculty before it can be put into effect.

Whether or not SEPC has time to get student suggestions before next week, it is likely to run into plenty from student government President-elect Peter Hoffman. His ideas differ significantly from those of

Because of the difficulties involved in adapting to college life during the freshman year, he feels that "to shove academic achievement on them at this time

(Cont. p. 2)

Now that he's proven he can win, the question becomes:

Drew Acorn

Student Newspaper Of The College

Will John Wayne be the next Supreme Court nominee?

Volume XLI/I No. 21 DREW UNIVERSITY, MADISON, NEW JERSEY

April 10, 1970

Student judicial system termed failure, reconstitution advised

...that the student judicial system has failed and lacks any semblance of effectiveness," the Faculty Committee on Student Concerns this week expressed its equitably and with reasonable eftions."

The complete text of the committee report, which was released by chairman Dr. James O'Kane following a meeting Monday, appears elsewhere in this issue.

The committee, which consists of students, faculty, and administration, has been discussing the student judicial system for its past two meetings, Previously this year, the committee has recommended abolition of curfew. a search and seizure policy, and, last year, the open house policy.

There was discussion in the committee, it was reported, over the possibility of advocating possible replacement of the student judicial board with a student-faculty discipline committee, Pres-Citing "unanimous agreement ident Robert Smartt has supported that idea this year, but never brought it up formally before the student body.

The final committee report states, "If this (reconstituting hope "that student will reconsti- current structures) proves intute their judicial structure in feasible or impractical, the comsuch a manner that it operates mittee tentatively suggests consideration of an alternative fectiveness in protecting student structure which would replace rights and enforcing regula- the judicial board," with no specific mention of a student-faculty committee.

> SG President-elect Peter Hoffman expressed strong opposition to such a student-faculty committee during the Presidential campaign, Student opposition during the year has been strong.

> The purpose of the committee report is "to elicit opinions and ideas and provoke thought on how the judicial system can be made more equitable and effective."

> The committee termed non-enforcement of rules "a growing concern not only to the entire committee, but also to an increasing number of students, faculty, and administration,"

President-elect Hoffman supports the view that students should not be asked to enforce rules they did not themselves make. He has also stressed several times the "necessity for protection of the rights of students who hold minority opinions."

One member of the current Judicial Board questioned the focus of criticism on the Board, "It isn't the responsibility of the Board to seek out offenders, Cases must be brought to us through the Attorney General, who gets them from students and Resident Assistants. The real breakdown, if there is one, is at lower

Pete Seeger, here Tuesday

Charter Day, convention, earth concern bring Seeger, Nelson

The nation-wide Environmental Teach-In set for April 22 will be kicked off eight days early here when its original sponsor joins with the nation's leading folk musician/conservationist for a double-barreled program next Tuesday.

Both Senator Gaylord Nelson and Pete Seeger are on the bill for the University Charter Day Conference on the Environment, Senator Nelson, who has introduced or co-sponsored 27 environment - conserving bills in Congress, will be the keynote speaker at a meeting set for 4 p.m. in Baldwin Auditorium.

The afternoon meeting is cosponsored by Drew and the North Jersey Conservation Foundation and will serve as both the Charter Day event for the University and the annual meeting of the Foundation.

Pete Seeger will be featured in an evening benefit concert at 8 in Baldwin Auditorium, sponsored by the University and the Drew Sloop Group, a campus organization that supports the Hudson River Sloop Restoration, Inc. (HRSR) clean waters project. All proceeds of the $3 ticket sales will go to finance a research project for the HRSR, proposed by Dr. G. Frederick Starner, a Drew assistant professor of economics who was an associate of Seeger's on the HRSR sloop "Clearwater." The research will develop specific suggestions on how the individual citizen can fight pollution.

Senator Nelson, who said when he took office in 1963 that "there is no domestic issue more important than the conservation and proper use of our natural resources," is in his second term in the Senate. He is chairman of the Senate Monopoly Subcommittee and a member of the Senate Interior Committee where he has been an outspoken opponent of the continued use of DDT.

All of the Senator's lecture fees are being donated to Environmental Teach-In, Inc., the nonprofit organization set up to coordinate nationwide teach-in

Pete Seeger's trademark is the long-necked five-string banjo to which he was first introduced in the mid-1930's when his father, a professional musician, took him to a folk festival

" (Cont. p. 3)

To evaluate courses? How? SEPC discussing the subject

Committee (SEPC) added three members before vacation, and has been discussing tentative plans for course evaluations, according to Chairman David Little.

Sunny Arthur was approved by the student senate for an interim seat on the committee, replacing Peter Eyes, who is in London. Maryann Liptock and David Confer were accepted for permanent tinued to discuss possibilities, who should participate. according to Little.

the idea of evaluations, Little reported. He added that the last evaluation, in 1964, caused "some hard feelings among faculty"because "it was not-well done.

"I think a well-done evaluation would be valuable for all."

Some of the questions involved according to members of SEPC, include 1) what the focus of the evaluation should be, objective or subjective, 2) whether there should be any attempt to hold fac-The senate discussed course ulty members to certain materievaluation at its March 16 meet- als 'or procedures in reviewed ing. No definite plans came from courses, and 3) how should the the meeting, and SEPC has con- evaluation be carried out-e.g.

President - elect Peter Hoff-Outgoing SG President Robert man reportedly has been working Smartt expressed opposition to with Little on the questions involved. A statement is expected

OC application due tonite; interviews all next week tonight, Freshman Advisors Paul cation that Confer might resign. Dezendorf and Janet Schotta announced this week. Interviews for the committee will be held next. week and the selection announcements will be made the following Approximately 32 members, plus alternates, will be chosen. The selections will be made by dent-elect Peter Hoffman, Deb- nounced after that.

Orientation committee appli- bie Van Brunt, and David Confer, cations are due by dinnertime although there were some indi-

> All applicants will be interviewed next week by the selection group. Applicants will be assigned interview times and notified through campus mail.

Interviews will be from Monday through Thursday, 4:30-5:30 p.m. and 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Selection will be made next Dezendorf, Schotta, SG Presi- weekend and the committee an-

One-year terms

Three student EPPC seats set

SG President-elect Peter Hoff- clared major in the division. man announced this week that the faculty Educational Policy and one-year terms and may be re-Planning Committee has accepted elected. Any student who meets a proposal of the Student Educa- the above qualifications and is in tional Policy Committee that no more than his sixth semester three students be seated as voting in the college is eligible. members of the EPPC commit-

The proposal, which was initi- student body be made an ex-ofated by the SEPC under chair- ficio member of the committee, man David Little, calls for the with no vote. The faculty tabled students in each academic de- this proposal for further considpartment to caucus and select a reration. nominee for the committee.

each division (humanities, natur- mendations along with the basic al sciences, social sciences) will proposal. The faculty suggested then caucus and each division two-year terms for student repwill choose one representative. resentatives, while sthe student Nominees are subject to faculty senate "seriously questioned" approval. They must have at least the need for faculty approval of a 2.30 grade average and be a de- student members.

Representatives will serve

The student senate also proposed that the president of the

Both the faculty and student The departmental nominees in groups passed "strong" recom-after several months of meetings and compromises and resolutions by student and faculty groups.

Other points of the proposal include: 1) student members of EPPC will also sit on SEPC,2) terms for students begin June l and end at the end of the academic year, 3) in the event of a student resignation, the divisional committee will choose his successor, again subject to faculty approval, and 4) departmental caucuses shall consist of all de-

The student seating plan is scheduled for review within two years by the faculty. Hoffman has expressed the hope that eventually students will have an equal number of seats on the committee with the faculty.

Busy month for speakers visiting young Madison

A wide program of speakers is the Hall of Sciences on "The scheduled to appear at Drew this month, all of whom will speak to LeBarre's book, "The Human open meetings. The Arlo Ayres Brown lectures and Environmen- "The Divine Animal," the retal concerns are bringing most of the speakers.

Beginning next week, Dr. Weston LeBarre, professor of anthropology at Duke University, will speak at 4 p.m. Monday in See separate story.

Class elections set for April 29

Petitions for all class offices go out next Monday. They are due in by Friday, with primary elec- it Make if we Believe in God?" tions scheduled for April 22, a Thursday night Dr. Lewis Feu-Wednesday, and final elections

Vice - President, Secretary, Treasurer, Social Chairman, and

stated that there is a "possibil-

Nature of Human Nature." Dr. Animal." inspired the title for cently-published volume by Dr. Roger Wescott of Drew.

Tuesday will feature a 4 p.m. talk by Senator Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin on environment, Wednesday there will be a Theological School lecture by Dr. Heinrich Ott of the University of Basel, Switzerland, His topic will be "The Difference: What Practical Difference Does er of the University of Toronto for April 29, the following Wed- will speak on "The Psychological Invariants of History" at 8 Offices open include President, p.m. in Great Hall. This is the second of the Brown Lectures. which are sponsored by the Gratwo senators from the currenty duate School. The first was last freshman, sophomore, and junior week when Dr. Richard Hofstadter of Columbia spoke.

The following week, April 21, commuter senator seats. Presi- Dr. August Meier of Kent State dent-elect Peter Hoffman also will give the third Brown lecture on ""New Directions In Black ity" that University senate seat History." The April 22 envirallocation may be decided by then. onmental teach-in day will feature a talk by New Jersey Senator Clifford Case.

The fourth Brown lecture will come April 30, when Professor Henry Steele Commager of Amherst College will speak on "Uses of History."

Concerns on Judicial:

On behalf of the Faculty Committee on Student Concerns, I would like to inform the students of the college regarding some matters discussed at the committee's March 16th and April Within the past year the committee has successfully recommended to the faculty the liberalization of numerous rules pertinent to student life and student conduct. Foremost among these has been the open-house policy, search and seizure policy, and women's curfew abolishment. The committee has assumed that such enforcement of these new policies as was necessary would be carried out by the judicial system of the student government.

At the present time, however, there is unanimous agreement on the part of the student, faculty, and administration members of the committee that the student judicial system has completely failed and lacks any semblance of effectiveness. This has created growing concern not only to the entire committee, but also to an increasing number of students, faculty, and admin-

The committee wishes to insure that the rights of the general student body are not exploited and abused by the flagrant actions of numerous students. In so doing the committee hopes that the students will reconstitute their judicial structure in such a manner that it operates equitably and with reasonable effectiveness in protecting student rights and enforcing regulations. If this proves infeasible or impractical, the committee tentatively suggests consideration of an alternative structure which would replace the Judicial Board and be responsible for such decisions.

This issue is brought to your attention to elicit your opinions and ideas and provoke thought on how the judicial system can be made more equitable and effective. The committee wishes to engender constructive discussion on the matter so that a policy may be adopted which is fair to all the members of the Drew community.

. In this the assistance of the student body is vital if the committee is to consider and propose changes which will preserve the rights of all concerned and create an atmosphere of trust, responsibility and mutual concern between students, faculty and administrators.

Dr. James M. O'Kane

Science got us into the mess; now can it extract us?

by Martha Millard

Dr. Albert V. Baez, a 1933 graduate of Drew and the father of folk singer Joan Baez, spoke to the 'Drew Ecumenical Council and other students, April 7, on the topic, "are scientists responsible for the mess We're in?"

Dr. Baez, who taught briefly at Drew, is affiliated with UNES-CO, and his main project is the development of science programs in underdeveloped countries.

Scientists ARE responsible for the mess we're in, according to Dr. Baez, since they are, in a pollution, and other environmen- the right direction to solve the tal concerns a major problem to- problems. day. He noted that the global problems which face all people, ed as a desire to know and underincluding the scientists are, prob- stand, the questioning of things, lems of population, pollution, respect for logic, and considerpeace and poverty.

ple be willing to give up some of education," commented Dr. conveniences and live in a preindustrial society?" feels, that to solve some of the from science, stated Dr. Baez, important problems, society will have to give up some conveni- science to make sure the scientences such as automobiles and ists are aware of the moral asother appliances. The problems large part, responsible for the are partly the result of greed, advanced technologies that make and resources will have to be used question of "whether we can pull

Dr. Baez noted the humanistic scientists, and to know the power ages to pass/fail. The experience a history course, does Dwork and solve the problems if they are a commented that, as a beginning, and help guide the scientists in and the humane."

Benefits of science were listation of premises as well as con-"But," Dr. Baez noted, "even sequences. "The basic ideas of with these problems, would peo- science should infuse all areas

Moral direction can not come and it is up to areas other than pects of their work.

Dr. Baez, who noted that the Religious Society of Friends has with more care in the future if the had a great deal of effect on his world's supply of fossil fuels, as thinking, advised those who are one example, is expected to last interested in science, "don't drop more than a century or two. out, and above all, make sure that While assenting that problems your work has HUMAN signifiare caused because of scientific cance." The "science-haters," technologies, Dr. Baez raised the as he called them, were remind-There is also a partial list of broaden his education. It allows out of the mess without science?" the responsibility to guide the

Pass/fail extension to be sought

After the period of adjustment, however, he feels that "academic fferentiation is necessary. Though he is sympathetic with the desire to de - emphasize grades, differences in antitudes and achievement should be recognized. He is hopeful, he said, that a compromise can be reached.

The fate of any new proposal hinges in part on the deemed suc- tried pass/fail will also be con- feel. cess of the present pass/fail ex- sidered. periment. EPPC was scheduled to review the present pass/fail basis for the decision will be the system this year. How soon the experiences of each of the faculty matter finally reaches their at- members who sit on EPPC. tention depends on how long it A common feeling among facultakes the committee to wade thr- ty members is that a surprising ough the list of preceding items number of students are doing well on the agenda.

consider extending the present nimum to pass, is not common, the next step. If anything new is system, it will have, as things they say. look now, a limited amount of data There are a couple of problems a long time before a final faculty courses and the number who have students often misuse pass/fail. passed or failed will be the computer statistics they use.

grade averages of pass/fail stu- him to take courses in areas in dents in classes for which the which he is weak without jeopar- values of science, and suggested and limitations of science. professor left it to the regis- dizing his cumulative average. A to people who are "science-hat- In conclusion, before answertrar's office to convert the aver- political science major who takes ers," that they, too, can help ing several questions. Dr. Baez of other institutions which have gets a Pass, is cheating, they ware of these values of science "science needs both the human

Perhaps the most important to work with. The number of times bothering many on the faculty, vote is taken.

students have taken pass/fail though. Some are concerned that The purpose of the experiment is to encourage the student to Many would like to see the minimum passing grade raised to a C. Some colleges which have experimented with a system similar to Drew's have already raised their base grade.

in pass/fail courses. Many stu- present system, with some chan-When EPPC does sit down to dents earn "B's." "D", the mi- ges is good. The new proposal is ever approved, though, it will be

LOOKING FOR A JOB WHICH OFFERS NO PAY, FEW BENEFITS, LITTLE RECOGNITION, MUCH CRITICISM. AND A DISPORTIONATE AMOUNT OF WORK AND

CONSIDER PORTFOLIO.

Executive positions, including Editor, open for the 1970-1971 academic year. Apply in person to Marge Meyer, 109 U.C. 377-6633 or 31 McClintock 377-6667. Ask about our new, never-beforeoffered vacation and retirement plans.

'Social autonomy'

Hoffman asks faculty for student controls cynicism and complacency,"he distrusts a student government of students consider laughable

(i.e. open house)."

Addressing the faculty at its ease the strident tone of student monthly meeting last Friday, Stu- dissent, and incidentally, the surdent Government President-elect Peter Hoffman called for "virtual student autonomy over the social and athletic life of the college and ... a potent and legitimate student voice in the formulation of academic policy."

Describing his administration as "born in radicalism and growing in its recognition of responsibility." Hoffman affirmed that "We are not calling for imminent revolution; neither do we present objectives as non-negotiable demands ... we will ask for what we want."

Hoffman listed five basic goals of his administration:

1) Student control of ECAC. 2) Student control of all college social rules (open house, drinking, curfew, etc.) 3) Student control of athletic policy.

4) Future equal membership on the student-faculty educational planning and policy committee (EPPC).

5) A seat on each departmental faculty meeting.

"It is obvious," he added, "that these are long range rather than immediate objectives: we are aware that change within the university bureaucracy is a lengthy, tortuous process."

Contending that "to grant students control over their own social affairs is ... the surest way to said, that "the University will seek new means of relating academically and culturally to the · SG President Robert Smartt termed this an "exciting step."

The Board also approved Dr.

surrounding region."

weekend before vacation.

where in this issue.)

Peter Hoffman and Robert

Johnson take over as President already begun attending committee meetings and Hoffman addressed the faculty last Friday.

Story on the speech and state-gable and experienced in such matters. But then a well-to-do businessman has far more knowledge of political affairs than a poor workers. But both have only vote at election time...we believe the analogy holds for the case before us. Students have a crucial interest in academic policy and we earnestly request the power to voice that interest."

est way to productively supplement academic education," Hoffman also called for amending the by-laws of the Trustees to.delegate to students the current faculty control over "extraclassroom activities and discipline of students" and changing faculty control over academic policy to

The President-elect stressed candor, expressing the hope that "through (communication), we may alleviate some of the friction and distrust which has begun to characterize student- faculty

Regarding student involvement academic policy decisions, Hoffman said, "We are aware that the faculty is far more knowled-

"student-faculty control."

relationships."

Hoffman called for enforcement by students of studentmade rules, with particular attention to the rights of "the minority of students who wish to live by the present regulations."

Trustees approve ten-year

University direction plan

As part of its review of Drew's as a university of academic dis-plan for the future, the Board tinction, a center of liberal and of Trustees approved in Februs humane learning." He explained ary President Robert F. Oxnam's that "as such, the University will report that it will be "essential embrace programs in undergrafor the future of Drew to de- duate, graduate, and graduate-velop as a university of academic professional studies where in-distinction in northern New Jer- struction is the focus, and where sey." This means, Dr. Oxnam both research and the application Oxnam's assertion that "the first cal School, and the Graduate

The new student government lection before the Judicial Board officers will take office next did not materialize, and he and Wednesday, although the annual Miss Shotta are currently work-coronation of the Social Chair- ing on the orientation program, dorf and Janet Schotta the fresh- which is conducted on a throne,

A challenge to Dezendorf's e- Social Committee Crown.

man -officially took place the (Story elsewhere.)

Promising that "recognition of knowledge are important in support of the instructional process and in their own right."

"The University," the Board agreed, "therefore reaffirms its ghtening in concert the College of Liberal Arts, the Theologi-

Outgoing Social Chairman Da-

tions of the committee."

the new Chairman is given the primary commitment to stren- ties.

Committee, and a food waste information on food services at survey by Saga Manager Rich- Drew and information based on ard Zucconi comprised the March the current Saga service. Mr. 19 University Services Advisory Jordan noted that today Saga Committee meeting. Mr. Zucconi announced that vice operators in the country

This Board action follows approval in principle by the Com- ation for dinner, Sunday through mittee on Long-Range Planning of Dr. Oxnam's intention to develop "a unique small univer- urday morning Snack Bar operasity of national reputation and tion, daily luncheon sandwich bar, ount could probably be doubled volved in all deliberations of In the latter part of his memo, "The Faculty and then the Board Food Service student employment in a normal meal; For example, will next consider specific pro- is worth a few words." He ex- 485 napkins, 63 margerine pats, gram proposals based on this plained, "Saga has a policy of 17 pies, 20 portions of Swedish policy direction for the seven- employing students whenever meat balls, and 38 glasses of

Charter Day: Seeger (Cont. from p. 1)

Social ceremonycompleted time.

His appearance here next week The graduate students who will will be his second.

vid Marsden announced that the annual Social Chairman initiation and Vice-President. They have ceremony, written by former chairman Greg Granquist, was carried out "in the finest tradi-The ceremony involves a feast, ment by Hoffman appear else- a power/poverty ritual, and the pledge of the new chairman to fol-Don Orlando will become So- low the committee traditions. At > funded through the HRSR by the proceeds from the April 14 conthat our conception of student that "we are not so enmeshed in overwhelming majority of sturights will always be compro- our ideology and sense of jus- dents." mised by political power does not wice that we have left behind the lead this administration (in con- curiosity and intellect which trast to the last) to a policy of brought us this far.

"We ask the faculty to toss termed the impression that stu- aside its abused concept of students will settle for less than dent "responsibility" and insert "the objectives outlined here" a in its place a fresh bill of stupolicy "that is shortsighted and dent rights, recognizing that recatastrophic. The faculty rightly sponsibility is best served in the exercise of rights, not in the which vows it will rigorously en- crude aping of orders from a- Hoffman stated. force rules which the majority bove."

On matters of present busiimpotence," he contended "this proposal is obnoxious to the rules.

He called for consideration of a student senate-passed proposal calling for abolition of comps. and also asked the faculty to seat students on the educational policy and planning committee as the Faculty response to Hoffman's speech was reported to be mixed. "I think they were all listening.

There has been some concern among student leaders that the ness, Hoffman asked the faculty faculty is growing increasingly Terming the student body to reject a comprehensive exam- resistant to the kind of reforms "self-conscious, eager, and a- ination proposal which calls for Hoffman seeks, largely due to the ware of their present institution- comps in January, commenting, problem of enforcing current 583,97 in wages during the 1968-

69 academic year (and this doesn't count the wages paid the students during the summer con-

Finally, he stated that the present $580 board rate breaks down to 43¢ for breakfast, 85¢ for lunch and $1,28 for dinner, Continued Mr. Jordan, "In today's inflated market, this is a modest price indeed and represents real value, It's trite but true--- our food service puts its reputation on the line three times a day and is excoriated at the least

Mr. Zucconi then offered the statistics on a food waste sur-

12. His memo was prefaced by by the student boarders on the evening of March 12. This am-if we also accounted for items list gave an itemized survey of "The following is a list of unference season)."

Some student blame

Advisory group defends SAGA

Discussions of added Snack Bar He also explained that the Saturhours, Director of University day morning opening was not pat-Services Mack Jordan's March 6 memo to Bruce Menozzi, head of the Faculties and Services zi concerned some background the Snack Bar will be open on an with an annual growth volume of experimental basis, which start- over $92 million. He explained ronized by the students. Mr. Jordan's memo to Menozranks 32nd among all food sered last Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. that he mentions this data to show the rapid growth of Saga, from one unit in 1949 to a projected 384 units by the end of 1970.

The memo then went on to list a few of the steps the committee has taken regarding the food service. The list contained fourteen items, including Snack Bar oper-Thursday, expansion into 107 for dining, experimentation with Satregional relevance." Smarttno- and three items at least five tim-ted that students have been in- es a week, among others. Mr. Jordan stated that "Saga everything consumed and used possible. For your information, Milk were discarded at that par-

SG officers in Wednesday; ganized The Weavers, a quartet mean about $4,410 for the replus a "conservative" $12,000 more for partially consumed launching folk music into the big the Drew Sloop Group for its activities.

Hudson River Sloop "Clear- expenses, Starner will direct the ed guests included Verne Kettwater" was an attempt to focus research, write much of the vol- erer, District Manager of Saga, community attention on the need ume, and edit it for no compansa. J. Mark Long, Director of Pubto improve the nation's rivers, tion. Funds from the Seeger con- lic Affairs and Mr. Zucconi, Mr. Dr. Starner, who was a member cert will cover preparation of the Jordan noted that Peter Hoffman, summer, together with two grad. Starner will seek a publisher in Saga investigation and asked that uate student aides, wiff research September, when the manuscript the meeting be called, did not atand write a paperback book to be is complete. called "What You Can Do About Pollution," The volume will be a practical political-action manual for New Yorkers and Hudson River Valley residents of New Jercial Chairman and Paul Dezen- the culmination of the ceremony, sey.

The two-month project will be in North Carolina. In 1950 he or cert, A capacity audience will $24,000 loss for untouched food-ticular meal. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Jordan pointed out that this waste amounted to about a items and food taken out of the dining hall. Members present at the meetassist Starner with the book will ing were Dean Sue Orvik, John His 1969 summer tour on the each receive $450 a month plus Winslow and Mr. Jordan, Invitof the "Clearwater" crew last manuscript, not publication, who initiated the request for a

RA applications now available

Dean of Students Alton B. Sawin has announced that applications for both men and women resident assistant positions are now available from his office. Those interested in the position should pick one up and return it by Friday, April 17.

Page 5

Speedy recovery wished

Dr. Oxnam is currently convalescing at home following a serious knee injury suffered while skiing last month. We wish him a fast re-

Spheres of influence

The approval by the faculty of student seats on the Educational Policy and Planning Committee represents a recognition, hopefully, that students, as President-elect Peter Hoffman notes, have a real, pressing, and highly valid interest in the academic policies which set the framework of their education. Students have been sitting on several high-level University bodies in the last year, including the University Senate, the Long-Range Planning Committee, and numerous informal gatherings. If they had not been contributing to these committees positively and if they had not taken their positions seriously, the EPPC seats would not have been granted.

This proves, on the simplest level, that the University is indeed a community operating by reason and exchange of ideas, not physical force or moral intimidation.

On the next level, it would seem to prove that students are capable of participating in this process, and indeed should. It is too bad it was deemed necessary for students to "prove themselves," but those are the realities of power.

Mr. Hoffman's further suggestion that students eventually be given as many seats as the faculty on that committee, however, should indeed be carefully considered. Mr. Hoffman analogizes that since in a democracy the worker and the businessman each have one vote on government, therefore students and faculty should have equal votes on educational policy. After Mr. Hoffman's admission that the faculty "is far more knowledgable and experienced in such matters," this sounds a little like U.S. Senator Roman Hruska saying that mediocrity needs representation on the Supreme Court; an educational institution is inherently hierarchical in the sense that certain groups are more competent in certain areas, because that is the area in which they concentrate. Students stay here four years, whereas there is much greater continuity in the faculty. Most student desires, as Mr. Hoffman notes, are indeed not mere "fadish aping of current trends," but there remain elements of it. Students should have most of the responsibility for making social rules; the faculty, with both ears firmly tuned to student voice and opinion, should probably keep most of the responsibility for academic policy. The "neanderthal" problem on the faculty is no worse than the "love-me-I'm-a-radical" problem among students.

Entertainment month

The large number of speakers and events appearing at Drew this month, from Richard Hofstadter to Albert Baez to Gaylord Nelson to environmental sculptures to Far Cry to Pete Seeger to Mountain to Stephanie Turash, make up an impressive list, and there should be several events worth attending for anyone here.

This type of coincidental speaker/concert program does not relieve the night-by-night entertainment problem here, but it is about as far as any University can go toward doing so. The blame placed on the Social Committee and other organizations for what is generally regarded as a dull campus is almost completely misdirected. The Social Committee could do more-more buses to New York, perhaps-but those who find life here dullest are probably more often those people who are themselves dullest. The "entertain me" syndrome is much more a sign of individual than institutional failings.

The Pistol comes

CALL ... MEDINA!

SG President-elect Peter Hoffman has already it is clear, established a much more aggressive tone than his predecessors in the office. Although conceding to various realities and undoubtedly fated to concede to more, Mr. Hoffman insists that "we will ask for what we want." The Smartt administration sort of said this, except they never got around to asking. If the Hoffman administration can, it will probably bring two results: 1) some immediate resistance some incredulous looks, some "what do you mean by this nonsense" responses, and 2) over a longer stretch-from a month to a decade-a considerable advance for students and, as a result, the University.

Most ideas, good or bad, are best discussed in the open, although there is an important minority which must by their nature be kept pribe accommodated within the framework of the excities of the world, Drew would indeed have somevate. Mr. Hoffman seems receptive to the latter reality, and most

the young conservative-

Metropolitan problems

Of the numerous proposals made by the Studappealing was that which suggests that Drew adopt a program of study on metropolitan regional problems. The SPD has already pointed out the advantages of such a program in the light of Drew's proximity to New York City and the possibility of government grants for research, and has suggested that metropolitan and regional problems be made a major field of study. I agree with this proposal and in this article would like to suggest ways in which it might be broadened to include the Washington and London Semesters.

While Washington does not offer the same opportunities for metropolitan problems as does New York, the key problems of crime and urban renewal are as pressing there as in any other major city; furthermore, as a political laboratory the District of Columbia is unique. We in the United States enjoy the distinction of being the only nation in the western world whose capital city is not self-governing. The question of home rule for D.C. has been a major issue for years and it will continue to be so for the forseeable future. As the situation now stands, President Nixon has stated endment to the Constitution which would give the District of Columbia its own Congressman. In the meantime, he has suggested that Congress allow the D.C. to elect a non-voting spokesman who would sit in the House of Renres However, as yet Congress has done nothing. The special problems faced by Washington and the inisting Washington Semester.

The London Semester offers other opportunients for a Progressive Drew, the one I found most ties. There is, of course, the City of London itself, the largest city in the western world which has recently made tremendous strides in combatting air pollution and now is studying the pollution of the Thames, Also of interest is the British approach to urban problems, the creation of new towns in all parts of Britain to relieve overcrowding in the cities for example, Beyond London, there is the United Kingdom itself which has been more than a little disunited of late with demands from both Scotland and Wales for home rule and even independence. Furthermore, the whole question of regionalism is under serious consideration, The Liberal Party has already adopted a platform calling for a federal Britain with separate parliaments in England, Scotland, and Wales and a prominent Labour member of Parliament, Mr. J. P. Mackintosh, has recently published a remarkable book entitled THE DEVOLUTION OF POWER in which he proposes to divide Britain into twelve regions which would be similar to American states. The trend away from the traditional centralized authority of Parliament and the potential growth of some new type of federalism would make a fasthat he favors home rule and has proposed an am- " cinating study and again it would be easy to expand the existing semester to include such a program.

In creating some kind of metropolitan and regional study program in Washington and London it would be necessary only to expand existing programs: at Drew itself it would be necessary to create one from scratch, However, this could possibly be done by expanding our present courses in urban evitable transition it will eventually make to self- government and public administration, With proggovernment pose innumerable problems for re- rams devoted to the study of metropolitan and regsearch and a program to study them could well ional problems in operation in three of the major thing unique and remarkable.

Letters To The Editor

Tone it down

To Somebody in Baldwin or Haselton:

Do you realize how inconsiderate it is to direct the loudspeakers of your stereo out the window like that and to play your records that loudly? Although you may not be one of them, there ARE people who study on weekends, too, and some even try to take an afternoon nap. Unsuccessfully, for not even closing the window and putting cotton suds into one's ears helps to keep your music out, Believe me, I tried. Why not close your window, turn your loudspeakers around and play a little less loudly? Or even get yourself a pair of earphones? I'm sure I'm not the only one who would be grate-A Very Annoyed Girl in Holloway

Error again *

To the editor:

Let's try again. Please, the final sentence of my original letter should read: "Open house and quiet hours ALSO are two such issues.

I also will modify my stance in allowing dorm autonomy for deciding open house hours, as opposed to a blanket 24-hour open house campus fiat. As this aspect of students' lives doesn't in the least concern faculty or administration, but only students living in the dorms, any regulations other than student self-imposed (thus dorm autonomy) are unjustly imposed, and shouldn't be, in my and many others' opinion. Mike Silberman

SG suggestions Senate Committee on Alcoholic

To the Editor:

We the undersigned, having watched with despair and frustration the promise of our student government flicker and fade away in the red tape and political backbiting of a bottomless hole of egotism and personal manipulations, have given serious thought to the problem of constitutional revision, Here are our proposals for reform; if anyone has any further suggestions along these lines we would appreciate hearing from them.

First of all, the problem of representation has been exaggerated beyond reason, A simple solution to the problem is easily found. Here are our proposals: . Each dorm, and the commuter students, should have a President, two Senators, a Social Chairman, Secretary and Treasurer. The same six offices should be elected from each class, thus giving a senate size of ninety votes, a representative yet manageable body.

In addition, we recommend appointments, immediately if possible, to the following commit-

Senate Committee on Dental Senate Committee on Birth Control, with separate subcommittees on Prophylactics, Foam, Abstinence, and Rhythm Senate Committee on Ceiling

Maintenance Senate Committee on Committee

Participation Senate Committee on Peace in the Middle East Senate Committee for Pornographic Film Study Senate Committee on Facial Disturbances

Senate Committee on Racial Disturbances 'Senate Committee on Interracial

Disturbances Senate Committee on Nonracial

Disturbances Senate Committee on Extra-racial Disturbances

Senate Committee on Intra

ial Disturbances Senate Anti - Fornication Com-

Beverages and Foot Fetishes Senate Committee on Drug Abuse Senate Committee on Proper Use of Drugs Senate Committee on Holidays Senate Committee on Bake Sales Senate Car Wash Committee

Senate Committee for Ski Lodge Motif Senate Committee on Eraser

Clappers Senate Committee on Mind Contraction

A plea, SG suggestions

Senate Bookstore Committee Senate Lunchpail Committee Senate Committee on Waste Re-

Senate Committee on Snow Removal Senate Committee on Snow placement

Senate Committee on the Drew Forest Beautification Program

Senate Physical Fitness Commit-Senate Physical Decadence Com-

Senate Mosquito Control Committee Senate Committee on Cultural

Affairs (with special Poetry Reading Subcommittee) Senate Committee on Playpen

Study Commissions, responsible only to the President, as follows: Special Senate Commission for the Study of Senate Ethics (Incorporating a special Subcommission on Mudslinging) Special Senate Commission for constitutional reform in Drew pernatural Origin Special Senate Commission for of our present system. the Study of Superbombs

Also, we highly recommend the implementation of several Task Forces for the study of especially pressing problems

Radicals, Castrated Black Mil- here at Drew, These are: itants, and Bearded Incompe- Task Force on Facial Review Task Force on Rampant Necro-

In addition we recommend the establishment of several Special Task Force to Investigate the

Feasibility of Enlarging Stud-

We hope, at the least, that :hese suggestions may serve to stimulate discussion on the desperate need for legislative and the Study of Tipple Pond Swamp politics. Next week, we'll ex-Gas to Determine Possible Su- plore some of the other possibilities offered by the framework

> Sincerely yours, Ken Ormes Glenn Konick Frank MacDonald Blunt Kopelman

president's report

SG spots available

(This is a short report on the activities of the has experienced, However, we believe that the new student government administration.)

1. Applications for positions on the following University Services Advisory Committee, Extra- confidence in the new Chairman, Mr. George Black-Curricular Activities Committee (ECAC) (calling ford, and we feel the J-Board is fair and humanly for a junior girl); Committee on Scholarship (jun- efficient in its decisions. ior); Athletic Board (male and female positions open); Committee on Academic Standing (junior boy); Committee on Student Conduct (junior girl); AC, calling for a junior); Judicial Board and Studby Thursday, April 15, Late applications will be ac- ents and their administration must state its inexcepted only if the committee for review of appli- orable opposition to it." (outcome???....) cations has not made up its mind by Thursday, The

made a "tentative suggestion" that the student was tabled for further consideration. student judicial system and we have presented to free to contact us. will hopefully ease some problems that the J-Board this report a weekly affair.

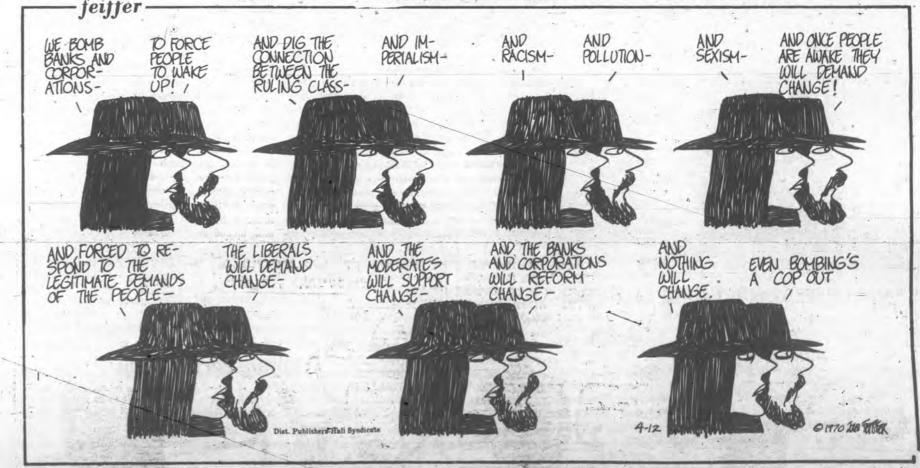

problems of rule enforcement on this campus are due to the irrelevancy of the rules and not the incommittees may be picked up at the U.C. desk: adequacy of the J.Board. We have great personal

3. I delivered a short speech to the faculty last Friday outlining the major goals of the new administration. Included were statements on the new Convocations Committee (a sub-committee of EC Comps proposal offered by EPPC, EPPC has proposed that Comps be moved up to January and that ent Government Treasurer Class designations ref- seniors take their finals in May in all their noner to next year's classes. Please fill out the applie major courses. I said that this proposal was "obcations and send them to me through Campus Mail noxious to the overwhelming majority of the stude

4. The faculty has agreed to the SEPC-EPPC committee which will review the applications is plan for seating students in the faculty educational composed of: Student Government President and policy and planning committee, This plan calls for Vice-President; Cecilio Barnett, David Little, and departmental caucuses of declared majors to select representatives for divisional caucuses, each 2. The Student Concerns Committee has been of which will select one representative to sit on conducting an inquiry into the effectiveness of the EPPC. The Stadent Senate plan for seating the the "student Judicial System." The Committee S.G. President as an ex-officio member of EPPC

Judicial Board be replaced by a Committee of Bob and Iwould like to express our sincere thanks faculty, students, and administration. The new S.G. to the many people who made our "victory" possiadministration firmly believes that the students ble. We are trying to form a consensus government: have an unalienable right to judgment by their peers we see a good deal of voice agreement among the and has expressed its vehement opposition to this students and we don't want to see the students de-"tentative suggestion," We recognize that there sires mangled by another year of internal bickering. are certain loopholes and inequities in the present If anybody has some policy suggestion, please feel the Committee a list of counter-proposals which Also, if it isn't too boring, we will try to make selves liberal, would like a pub on campus and more concerts to promote social life, feel dorms should be autonomous on living conditions, and do not feel student government is living up to its potential, according to the results of a poll taken several weeks ago by John Rumsey.

Poll indicates students favor pub, privacy, disfavor SG

Response was approximately 20%, with 256 students answer-

The poll was, according to Rumsey, "the first time anyone has tried to measure the Crew campus' attitude on social reform . . . it is a chance to mount a basis for a popular reform

118 students termed themselves 'liberal,' while 79 answered "moderate," Il "radical left." and 12 "conservative."

153, or approximately 60%, said they were happy with social op-today."

8:00 p.m.

84, or 33%, described themselves as unhappy, while only five responded "happy."

Given a list of possible social changes to improve the social situation, 187 students favored a Pub with alcoholic beverages, 134 asked for more concerts. 73 thought more dances would help, while 62 saw increased gymfacilities desirable. Minorities favored social clubs (36), a fra- juana (25). ternity setup (21), and additional pool and ping-pong tables (29).

Two questions on dances produced the opinions that Drew dances are high-schoolish (108) and girls won't go alone (75). Improvements suggested were bands (135), and wider variety felt it a reasonable idea.

to be nebulous by 88 students, dicial board should be required, it. 71 said they could not state included a policy similar to that of alcohol (discretion and tacit leniency), supported by 141 students, internal handling of drug problems (92), and harsher penalties for dealers than users (89). Some favor was shown for administrative action for experimental amounts (41), strict enforcement of state laws (30), and strict enforcement except for mari-'205 students felt that dorms should set their own rules for pets, open house, curfew, and quiet hours, while 45 did not. 219 students (one of whom noted "this is a loaded question") rejected the idea that the Deans. addition of a bar (105), better can enter a room anytime. 12 Of those who disagreed, 99

The Drew drug policy was felt felt a warrant issued by the Juwhile 93 waid they could state while 91 felt that entrance whould (Cont. p. 9) . .

Peter Hoffman, left, with Jay Weidner, Jeff Hoeltzel, and Mike

Inaction toward evil

Biedermann performance tonight

Contrary to the subtitle used in the script of Max Frisch's Max Frisch's "Biedermann The Drew production, under Biedermann and the Firebugs"---- a learning-play without a lesson --- Frisch's plays have been observed as having quite opposite qualities. In their introduction to an anthology, called POSTWAR GERMAN THEATER, Michael Benedikt and George E. Wellwarth state that "in such plays as "The Chinese Wall, 'The Firebugs,' and 'Andorra' Frisch proves that he is probably the most indefatigably moralistic playwright active at the University Center.

The Curtain Line Players under the direction of Professor Based on the theme of inaction James R. Lee are presenting a Frisch comic-tragedy, semiin the presence of an obvious evil. moralistic play (without a lesson) entitled "Biedermann and "The Firebugs" deals with an esthe Firebugs," tonight and Saturday in Bowne Lecture Hall at sentially serious matter through the use of farcical techniques. A chorus of comic firemen, Jeff

The Firemen's Chorus (Jeff Hoetzel, Mike Silberman, Jay Weidner) and the Leader (Peter Hoffman) observe the stage action in the Greek chorus tradition. Phil and Meg Johnson play the Biedermanns, bourgeois and apathetic, with Anna (Louise Lafoon) as their maid, Keith Halperin and Bruce Rahter play Sepp Schmitz and Willy Maria Eisenring respectively. Others in the cast include the professor, Dave Bannish; Mrs. Knechtling, Nancy Horlacher; and Jim Willis, as the policeman, Live action will be supplemented by silent and sound film, projections, and a synthesized score of electronic music arranged by Stan Jackson.

Cast member comments:

Davidson tops Smartt in speaking contest

Claiming that he was "confi- The basis for Davidson's foon as Anna, Keith Halperin as dent of winning even before the speech was that there is "no Sepp Schmitz, Bruce Rahter as stated, "We do not wish to operactual contest." sophomore How- universal answer since each stu- Willi Eisenring, and James Will- ate this campus as a virtual 'poard Davidson edged Robert dent comes to a university in or- is as the Policeman. Smartt in the first annual Nor- der to fulfill his own particular man M. Guy PublicSpeaking con- unique and highly personal needs test, Monday. Davidson won $30 which vary greatly from person for his ten-minute speech on to person. 'What do Students Want from a The Norman M. Guy Prize University?" He and Smartt were has been established by a Drew Stonesifer, Mr. Tom Wright and Drew undergraduates have an Dr. Fred Starner judged the con- opportunity to exhibit prowess trustee, Mr. Ralph Porzio, be-Dean of the College Richard speaking and his desire to see in this field.

Oxnam recovering from ski break ty, Representative Peter H.B.

Oxnam, who suffered a serious spend several weeks convalesknee injury in a skiing accident cing. last month, has undergone successful surgery and is currently
The accident caused a split recuperating at home.

March 12 while skiing in Mitter- ous" injury.

University President Robert sille, New Hampshire. He will knee cap, with some complica-The President injured his knee tions; Doctors termed it a "seridate William Cramer.

and the Firebugs' opened Wed- the direction of Instructor in nesday and will continue through Speech and Drama and Director Saturday, with performances in of Theater James R. Lee, will Bowne Lecture Hall at 8 p.m. Tic- include the use of film sequenkets are available to Drew stud- ces, many filmed in Morristown, ents, faculty, and staff without or an antique fire engine of the charge through David Little, or Morristown Volunteer Fire Defire departments; religious robes, borrowed from St. Mary's Abbey in Morristown and Madison's Grace Episcopal Church: and special costumes and masks designed for the cast by Sheila

Replies to parents

Ox: 'Work with students'

A Drew Council of Families even if we tried it, for that day newsletter this month reports is clearly over in American high-Hoeltzel, Michael Silberman, and Jay Weidner, will serve as inter- that "a few letters have been re- er education. What we do is try locutor between audience and ceived by officials indicating ... to work with the students, edustage as well as a goad to Bied- complaints about lack of quiet and ermann's dormant conscience, privacy in the dormitories and The play uses devices from inconveniences caused by frequ-Brecht's Epic Theatre, building ent visitors of the opposite sex."

> One parent wrote to University President Robert Oxnam that "the influence of parents has become less than that of college in this age group, so you are largely responsible for the difference in knowledge, understanding, and attitudes of a graduating senior and an entering freshman."

In his response, Dr. Oxnam lice state.' It would not work torium Committee.

cationally and persuasively, to get them to formulate codes by which their social and residential lives can be run efficiently and decorously. This is a slower process than moving in with augmented security forces, but it has proven to work better over the long haul."

Londondeadline

The deadline for applications for the Fall London semester is April 15. Information on he semester and application orms may be obtained from Dr. Robert Rodes, 204-B ilghman House.

Washington students kept busy

Four of the eleven students on the Drew Washington Semes- House John McCormack, South will meet with Representative cause of his interest in public ter program are working for Science Frank Wolf has reportfarcical sequences into a vehicle that is similar to the Theatre of the Absurd. Scenes in the play are often short or fragmented, characters step from the action and talk directly to the audience.

The production will feature

Philip Johnson as Gottlieb Biedermann, Margaret Kinsella as-

Babette Biedermann, Louise La-

Among those are Joyce Petroff, working for Morris Coun-Frelinghuysen, "Mr. Frelinghuysen has been most helpful to the program," Mr. Wolf comments.

Others include Dennis Ingoglia working for New York Democrat James Scheur, and Jon Holt, working for Florida Republican Congressman and Senatorial candi-

Congressmen, Program Direc- well, W. Averell Harriman, and William Small, Chief of the CBS tor and Instructor in Political Sam Brown, head of the Mora- Washington Bureau, House Majority Leader Carl Albert, Associate Supreme Court Justice Visiting Dr. Harriman, Mr. Thurgood Marshall, Senator Bar-Wolf noted, lasted over two hours ry Goldwater, Reverend Channing at his house, during which time Phillips, Caspar Weinberger, topics from student dissent and Chairman of the Federal Trade civil rights to the Paris negotia- Commission, Representative tions and the future of the Demo. Shirley Chisholm of New York, cratic party were discussed," and House whip Hale Boggs.

Volunteers sought

Volunteers are needed, young men or couples, to supervise the YMCA Youth Center on Friday nights from 7:45 to 11 or Saturdays from 7:45 to midnight. For information contact the YMCA Students thus far on the prog- (377-6200) and ask for Tracy Gibbons or Steve Goggin .

ram have met with Speaker of the In the next few weeks the group

African Ambassador H.L.T. Tas- Frank Thompson of New Jersey.

New system now in campus mail uses a board with twelve verti- that single sheet notes and letters cal poles, each serving two let- will not fall out. The system's ters of the alphabet. Individual location is in the mail room,

Curtew now gone; lock-up now key males whose parents have sent sidered. letters of approval to the Deans will be necessary. There will be problems in Welch being cleared

Dorms are currently locked at Curfew has officially been a- can be instituted. Locks, keys, bolished for all those college fe- cards and others are being con-

The transition to a curfew-less system reportedly went smooth-Beginning next fall, no letters ly almost everywhere, with some up earlier this week.

Senate speaker David Little the usual hour, 11 p.m. week- suggested at the senate meeting nights. Residents getting back last week, however, that "With later must be let in. Investiga- the dorms still be locked at 11 tion is currently underway to de- p.m., in some ways this is no diftermine if some other system ferent than the old system."

The new-self-service method poles contain grooves curved so which is open whenever the U.C.

Durante, have questioned whether students may pick up mail not intended for them. While this remains a possibility, he noted, "it is hoped that people will respect the rights of others. The advantage of so doing is increased communications among the campus community."

Those sending messages to administrative personnel or who prefer to use the regular system, Durante stressed, may still do so.

The new mail service was constructed by John J. Durante and Ron Durante in response to a re- scheduled for June 1, according quest by the Pi Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega for such a system. It is a campus service of

Dining hall begins around June

Groundbreaking for the new affected the scheduled completion dining hall is now tentatively to the University Vice-President

There has been a slight delay,

The new services building, which will centralize most University services, may break ground sooner than the dining hall, Mr. Pepin also stated.

'Integrity House' workers

Reactions mixed as to values

by Kathy Kattenburg

For the past two and a half years' there has been a drug rehabilitation program in Newark called Integrity, Inc., a re-entry house for ex-addicts released from jails and hospitals who go back to drugs. Recently five Drew students --Richard Townley, Vincent Meek, Judy Anthony, Alice Burks, and Elizabeth Lescault-were chosen to do paid work at

Now, several weeks into the program, the students can describe in some detail the nature of the daily and long-range program at Integrity as well as of the attitude toward the addicts manifested through this program. An interview with Richard Townley and Keith Halperin, who replaced Vincent Meek, shed a lot of light on these questions.

The basic nature of the program at Integrity is preventative; ex-addicts who are starting to go back on drugs or who might go back must not be permitted to become deeply hooked again. Thus the first rule an entering person faces is one that says he cannot bring any drugs into Integrity with him; he can come in addicted, but he must be clean, " explained Keith.

'Having spent some time in normal society again after release from prison or hospital, the addict's entry into Integrity is like a re-entry into jail after a period of relative freedom. But since he still-cannot function in that, society, acting in a manner detrimental to both society and himself, the addict is not

The stay in jail or a hospital has not chard said, "inadequate and insecure," and utterly incapable of "relating or ad- thought and observation, have the kind wants to break into." justing to a social relationship." In of personality that will be aided and not - Also, there is the natural resentment with a complete moral code, but physically unable to do anything for himself.

group-oriented activity. His day begins discuss personal problems, sing and structured get-together" fills his time.

sphere is one of aggressive confronta- grity so much of a jail. tion, and the addict is strongly encour-sis for his repressed emotions and frus- who have been supposedly rehabilitated trations, but also a chance to discuss and are now living in everyday society. the experiences of that day which have The first thing to be done before the crushed and infuriated him whole group of people whom he can use addicts. Then they visit them and find as scapegoats to vent his rage on, as long as he does not resort to actual they still off drugs? If they are, do bodily violence. These sessions have they have a job? Do they have any therefore two main beneficial results. problems concerning the job or their For one thing, they show the addict that personal adjustment that Integrity can he is not alone in his misery; others have problems that are the same as his can Integrity help them to find one? or, if different, just as agonizing. And secondly, after the session is over, the staff can help him better once the pro- started in the program, the one rigid blems are in the open.' These three major activities, the morning and evening meetings and the en- told not to wear miniskirts because they counter groups, are obvious to almost any- would be walking through bad parts of one as ego-building exercises. However, Newark in their attempts to locate exanother part of treatment held by In- addicts. However, both boys' and girls' tegrity to be vital to some addicts' de- attire has to be regulated for the added velopment of self-confidence and sense reason that these addicts and ex-addicts, of personal worth is roughness; rough- coming as they do from lower workness ranges from deafness to the ad- ing class backgrounds, tend to be condicts' often very personable attempts, servative and hostile toward long-haired, resembling those of an artful child con- eccen rically dressed radical types. This fronting a firm parent to so-called "hair- might seem like a somewhat strange atcuts." Addicts often attempt to mani- titude for a person who is part of a pulate people into letting them do or have social and physical environment either things they are not supposed to and firm- scorned or ignored by the very group ness must be used. "Haircuts" are the hippies are revolting against -- a perpunishments for misbehaviour in which son whose life is the result of that scorn the victim is personally insulted and and indifference. mocked. One boy observed by Keith was made to wear a dress and a sign sed reaction when he learned of the adsaying he was a baby. Shockingly sa- dicts' viewpoint, but he explained, as it distic as this sounds, Keith and Richard was explained to him, that "because the believe that with certain types of in- addict is of working class origin and has nently, and he comes to Integrity in a 'dividuals, it can help. In addition, In- no social awareness or security, he needs tegrity subjects to haircuts only those addicts that it feels, after considerable gray flannel suit represents a world he routinely functioning humanity. He is Here anything verbal goes. The atmo- planned activities. No longer is Inte- were so mixed.

counter is not only an excellent cathar- in Newark, checking out former addicts arily cured, Richard expressed the opiout what their addict status is: Are help with? If they do not have a job, These field trips into Newark necessitate the dress rule that the Drew stu-"feels physically better. The dents were requested to follow when they regulation Integrity insists on. The rule is doubly imperative for girls, who were authority and stability. The man in the short, he is a baby; a baby, it is true, irreparable damaged by the experience. felt towards the hippie or yippie who After four months of intensive daily comes, in most cases, from an upper treatment, the addict is usually feeling middle class family and chooses to dress In Integrity he finds an identity through sufficiently secure, self-confident and and live like a slovenly, down-and-out worthwhile as a person, to partially re- burn, by the addict who cannot have and with a "morning meeting," where he can enter the outside world of unhooked, has never had all the comforts the radical so casually tosses aside.

play records:" In the evenings, "some sent out to find a job and Integrity will . The portion of this interview that contake over a bank account for him, but cerned Richard's and Keith's impressions However the most helpful and reveal- he still reports back to Integrity every of the Integrity program proved as ining of the activities planned for the evening after work to sleep and take teresting as their description of the proaddict appears to be the encounter group. part in encounter sessions and other gram itself because those impressions

For instance, when asked whether he For the five Drew students now help- feels Integrity could be used to treat aged to drop all his defenses and say ing addists, the job involves more than addicts from the very start instead of exactly what he is feeling, exactly the just meetings, and encounter groups at just from the point when they emerge way he feels like saying it. This en- Integrity. They must also do field work from jails and hospitals only temporplace of the general hospital " Keith's reply involved the inadequacy of prisons, as penal institutions and rehabilitative Rather than being helped, the addict just "sits and waits to get out."

On the other hand, Integrity has a glaring fault itself. The workers there, all ex-addicts themselves, have a tendnecy, according to Keith and Richard, to emphasize to the addicts that because of this fact they are the only ones who can help them. This, the students think, prevents the addict from growing by himself, from fashioning his own model of what he wants to be. They set it up for him, and since it is the same for every addict, each addict is being programmed to develop in identical ways nto identical molds. Keith's and Richard's intent, however, was not to find fault with Integrity or to set it up as the one perfect place for an addict to go. Their personal opinions on what they saw and did so far were offered, but when asked pointblank what was right and wrong with Integrity. Keith was unable to give any information other than his "personal feelings about encounter," and Richard remarked bluntly that "there is nothing wrong with it but I'm not sure there's anything right about it. I'm not far enough into the

If feelings were highly ambiguous about the value of Integrity as compared with other rehabilitative tools and as a solution in itself to the problem of addiction, there was complete unanimity on the question of whether Integrity is a valuable part of their personal experience. Both Keith and Richard are getting great personal satisfaction out of the work they are doing and feel that they are learning a lot as well.

"I'm getting a lot out of it," Richard said. "It's leading me into a new field." He is not sure at all, though, about whether he is really being of help to the addicts he is working with. Keith enthused, "It's helped me. Anything I can do is helpful. Just reading about the problem is frustrating."

By doing actual work with addicts-inthe-flesh, instead of just learning second-hand through written material, by 'getting out in the field and applying," Keith says he no longer has the feeling that he wants to do something, yet has his hands tied behind his back. He is finding out that he is the 'kind of person who can do something like this,' and in the process is becoming, like the addicts he works with, more of a

Page 9

231 make Dean's list; fourteen earn straight 4.0

These included:

Paul Accettola, Cinda Angew, Sue Alvaro, William Andrews, Robert Armbrust, Peggy Armstrong, Nancy Arre, Sunny Arthur, Atawul Atmar, Mary Auld, Ralph Austin, Susan Baker, David Bannish, Karen Barnes, David Barnett, Francine Bay, Suzanne Smith Bell, Suzanne W. Bell, Kurt Bendel (4.0), Marilyn Benjamin, Phil Bennett (4.0), Thomas Berrigan, Bruce Bessken, John Bolte, William Boss, Robert Bouthilet, Lucy Brown, Peter Brownscombe, Brooke Buchanan, son, Elise Eisenhart, Dawn El- one by one." ton (4.0), Susan Erhardt (4.0), Ron Estler, and Chris Evans.

Michele Fabrizio, David Feld- his Task Force would continue man, Peter Forss, Laura Fou- to work on areas of concern. car. Sharon Frank, Gerald Fud-In, John Gabrielson, John Gas- group would present "a good kill, Daniel Geller, Douglas Gel- number' of proposals, which ler, Dathi Gentile, Deborah Gi-, would then be considered indiviera, Shelley Gilchrist, Candace dually by the senate and by the Goldman, Kenneth Goldman, Brad student body. Gooch, David Grout, Cathi Grumbine, Richard Guhl, Evan Gustow, Michele Gutman, Thomas Hackett, Keith Halperin, Chris Hav- put them into senate statutues. ryluk, Jeff Hoeltzel, Diane Hollerieth, Anders Hoppe, T. Clayton Horsey, Lynn Hoskins, Linda Hurlburt, Lydía Artiola Jagger, Herb Jahnke (4.0), Patricia Jessop, Diane Johnson, Lesley Johnstone, Andrew Joosten, Dennis included: Kade, Jeff Kantor, Gail Kendall, Ron Kevitz, Karen Kimball, Diane Kirven, Louise Kittel, Debbie Kleittop, Chrysee Kline, Zigmund Kobes, and Claudia Kocmieroski.

Others were Helen Kohler, Maggie Kohler (4.0), Albert Kolb, Robert Kopech (4.0), Carol Koziar, Linda Kresge, Kathy Kurutz, Margaret Lafoon, Barbara Laud, Donna Laverdiere, Meredith Lee, 231 students, including fourteen Barbara Lefebvre, Elizabeth Vincent Meek, Michael Menke, Gary Parsons, Mary Peabody, Gary Stanton, Susan Staples (4.0), (4.0), Hugh Luddecke, Ed Lui, Paul Lurix, Gloria Machin, Tom Makosky, Robert Manuel, Ken Margolin, Linda Marsden (4.0), Jane Mather, Gayle Mazuco, Andrea McChesney, David McClellan, Linda McDonald, Irene Mc-Elrea, Jo McGuire, Jim Mecca,

with 4.00 averages, made the Lescault, David Leuser (4.0), Nikola Meredith, Edward Merr- Elaine Peele, Dorothy Perkel, Janet Stevenson, Jennifer Ston-Dean's List the past semester. Maryann Liptock, Charles Lis- ill, Susan Mika, Harry Miller, Janet Perry, Elizabeth Phimisberger, David Little, Nancy Lord Adrienne Moesel, Marilyn ter, Pascale Pion, Alexis Pleg- Strube, Sandy Suarez, Bruce Tay-Nahm, Diann Nason, Suzanne Naturale, and Elva Nickle.

Cynthia Norton, James Noss, John Riordan, Marilyn Robert- abeth Viertel, Mary Donna Viv-Dale O'Brien, Diane Obenchain, Jon Opper, Rebecca Parkinson,

Con-revision need multi. reports chairman Myers

"Asking complete revision of Joanne Burcher, Shelley Bruns, the constitution is asking a lot,' Joy Callaway, Greg Clark, Paul said Constitutional Revision Task Coombs, Steven Darwin, Thomas Force Chairman Jeff Myers at Darwin, M. Ellen Davis, Roy month's senate meeting, but Dodsworth, Meredith Dole, Wil- there are many problems with liam Donovan, Warren Downey, the current situation. We will Kenneth Duchin, Stewart Eidel- have to take these points up

Myers, who is also Solicitor General, stated that he had no Also Stephanie Exerharkis, definite proposals yet, but that

He indicated that ultimately his changed by student referendum. pointed for immediate concern. about the possibility.

this," added Dean Sawin.

Robertson, '69, dies of virus

Dean of Students Alton Sawin has reported the death, in early March, of George Robertson, a member of the class of 1969.

On active duty in the military at Fort Polk, Louisiana, he contracted a rare virus and died. "It is with real regret I report widely differing requirements for officers in terms of grade av-

3) The lack of time limits on presidential appointments. "If the President doesn't want to appoint an Attorney General until March, he doesn't have to."

Other points were raised, and Myers stated that he and his committee are open to any suggestions or discussion.

Karen Reichenbach, Ronald Ribb, Saylor, and Pamela Schloss.

ton, Regina Sigda, Tom Silver, ael Zuck. Dorothy Smith, Fay Smith, Nan- Special students on the Dean's ard Solomon, Dorothy Spragins, William Umbs.

ier, Mary Stringfield, Roger Moore, Claire Moseley (4.0), Al- er, Nancy Plotkin, Ken Porter, Jor, Joanne Terwaarbeek, John ice Moser, Joyce Moss, Eric Joanne Pratt, Gail Purdie, Ruth Thomas, Ann Tompkins, Pam Quinn, Jeff Rabek, Lorna Rea, Tuohey, Cathy Turrill, Elaine Also Christel Nordhausen, David Richlin, Dennis Rieger, Brunt, Karen Van Eerde, Elizson, Nicole Romano, Roberta ian, Virginia Wallace (4.0), Cyn-Ruschman, Julie Sandor, Norma thia Walters, Pam Wattles, John Watts, Linda Welter, Karen Wendt, Carol White, Barbara In addition, Fritz Schmidt, Wildy, Gwen Williams, James Lynn Schmidt, Margaret Schwan- Willis, Susan Windle, John Winda, Barbara Schwartz, Bonnie slow, Don Zahniser, Barbara Scolari, Lynn Searle, Kathy Sex- Zaino, Ruth Zaleski, and Mich-

cy Smith (4.0), Jeff Sollins, How- list included Nelson Santiago and Senate asks further hours 4) Powers of the Vice-Pres- for most campus buildings

The senate overwhelmingly curfew regulations going into efapproved last week a resolution fect there will be insufficient submitted by Tim Troll which campus buildings open after dorm states that 'Whereas with the new

ID birthdates unteasible

Constitutional items can only be ID cards would be "unfeasible."

Smith stated that he would send where statute matters can be a letter to the senate explaining handled internally by the senate. the reasons. The senate had vot-Some of the areas he bin- ed 15-1-0 on March 16 to inquire

The chief problem cited in the 1) The size of the senate. He past has been the impracticality of the rugby club's cancelled recommended some reduction, and near-impossibility of valid- spring trip to Bermuda. The can-2) Election statutues, with the ating birthdates. "As of now,"

Speaker David Little reported University Vice-President John One of his general proposals at the student senate meeting last Pepin has noted, "the student's was that the senate take many week that University Controller age is whatever he says it is. If items off of the constitution and Clifford Smith had advised him we were to put dates on IDs, we that placing birthdates on student would have to find a system to validate all given dates."

Money trouble cancels trip

Last-minute financial complications reportedly were the cause cellation was announced only a and Holloway at curfew, while couple of days before the tripwas leaving the outer doors open.

The trip was to have had the ruggers playing several tourna- others who could let them in." ment matches in Bermuda, in- suggested Little. cluding one against the Police force team. The Drew squad had already been selected by Coach Steve Carnahan.

Center remain open all how s of Senate speaker David Little stated that he would pass the resolution on to Richard Morgan, University Center Director, and Mack Jordan, Director of Services and Dean of Students Alton Sawin, and report back to the sen-open house hours have ended, the student senate recommends that the main lobby, music room, and television room of the Uni ersity

The senate also discussed the doors at such dorms as Welch This would allow returning students to buzz their roomates or ate at its meeting next week.

Keeping lounges in all dorms open all the time was also favored by the senate.

I WAS UPTIGHT .. WANTED TO TURN ON. OUT OF GRASS. WENT INTO A BAR ... ORDERED A SCOTCH. GOT STONED. OUTTA SIGHT! I DIDN'T KNOW MARI JUANA COULD LEAD TO DRINK.

'Woodstock' the film

Not the real thing, but still pretty good

by Ken Schulman

Woodstock, the movie, was definitely not Woodstock, the festival-that was obvious from the near-complete lack of audience participation, the horrendous four dollar admission that evervone had to pay for the night showing, the wafts of popcorn in the air rather than those of grass, and the comfortable (and dry) theater seats. But, I guess that that is not a fair comparison-nothing could truly capture the sense of the festival.

Although Michael Wadleigh who with his crew of cameramen, sifted throughout the crowd on Max Yasgur's farm on those three days to film the three-hour and fifteen minute flick, he seemed to fail on several counts, First, the length of the Woodstock movie is too long to be that good, i. e, there is an excess of interviews with Mike Lang, one of the festival producers, and too much concentration on both frontal and back(al) nudity (which, incidentally, gives the flick its "X" rating). Second, it seems that a better editing job could have been done. John Sebastian's track was not good; although Ten Years After is fabulous, Alvin Lee could have done a little less grunting in Soing Home" than was filmed; and a little less photography of tapping feet and strumming hands would have been appreciated. Finally, there are a few too many interviews (Lang included). Some field impressions from both people at the festival and town residents are necessary footage, but it is overdone. We don't need to listen to need for grass. Now that I've somewhat discolored the flick, let me clean it up a bit, Overall, the photography is moving; shots of Richie Havens' sweating face, people shots (both clothed and unclothed, both individually and in mobs) and footage of most performers are well done, Splitscreen and tri-screen techniques and blackouts also add to the expert cinematography. The majority of the music is good; best sounds come from Sly, The Who, Santana (although I would have much preferred either "Evil Ways" or "Jingo"), Joe Cocker,

VILLAGE

Wedgewood, Lenox Artware Waterford Glass

WE MAIL

Madison Varn Shop

Needlepoint and Crewel

Ribbon -- Buttons

Trimmings

40 KINGS ROAD MACISON

000000000

Jewelry

SHOP

an argument between a resident and a cameramen about youth's

Sha-na-na, whose antics broke up the viewing audience, and Hendrix. In any case, none of the groups have either been seen or heard as good as they were

There is a tendency to compare this flick with the previous festival film, Monterey Pop. Probably the main advantage the latter holds over the former is its shorter viewing time, Secondly, Monterey Pop had less interviews and more music (at least it seemed that way), But, Woodstock holds a definite edge in photography techniques. Overall, I'd rate Woodstock the better film, even if it is almost Despite what some people might say, I resent the hype that's No hype. Mountain is defibeing slapped around: "Wood- nitely becoming a super-group. stock will live on"--Headbands, And the Leslie West-Felix Papand t-shirts, and scarfs and but- plardi led group will appear at a state of materialism.

Drew students claim liberalism in poll

(Cont. from p. 6)

not be made under any circumswer that warrant issued under state laws should be required.

cular Activities funds (ECAC), who currently comprises these boards, but generally felt that students should control them.

dent committee with faculty ad- politics," 14 times. visors, 82 felt it should be a joint student-faculty-administration committee, 43 felt it should be the student senate. 216 stude s did not know who makes up the Athletic Board, be a student-faculty-administration committee, 61 felt it should be a student-faculty committee, and 46 felt it should be a student committee with faculty advisors.

The final three questions concerned student government, and * revealed strong pessimism about that entity.

Six student felt student government to be a responsible organization. 185 felt it to be "a myriad of personality clashes," 100 felt it lacks real power, and 75 felt capable people were lacking. 65 thought it nonrepresentative, 55 considered it anti-progressive, and 41 saw it sound to make the album really a tool of the administration.

The most popular reform was vocal (he can belt some un-

Among the specific complaints WESTERN (5:10): Pappalardi voon the senate were "BobSmartt," calizes this sweet cut about a whoever you are! "

tons and comics and books are Drew, Saturday, April 25, at the things that are helping to 9:30 in the gym. It'll be a retain the memory. That's not fabulous concert. Woodstock; that's capitalism's On its latest "record made greedy hands grabbing for what to be played loud" (shades of it can get (and, despite what one the Stones' album), "Mounassumes, not all the money made tain Climbing," West and Papon the flick will go to pay the palardi put together two good festival's debts). I still tend to sides of sound. The other two like what Abbie Hoffman said at members of the group, Steve his trial: "(Woodstock nation) Knight on organ, and Corky Laing is a state of mind." Unfortu- on drums, are merely incidennately, however, it's turning into tals. Knight's organ music is 178 felt it is not achieving. The nine cuts fall like this: stances without occupants' per- its potential, while 59 felt it MISSISSIPPI QUEEN (2:30): mission. 42 wrote in the an- does "at times" and five said you've probably heard it on the radio. West does the gritty "yes, it is."

On questions of Extra-Curri- the holding of student referen- believable stuff). Felix makes dums, which 136 students endor- the heavy bass. Mountain sounds and the Athletic Board, over- sed, while other reforms ran a lot like a Cream-Led Zeppelin whelming majorities did not know poorly and 26 answered "it's not combination. worth improving."

Four students knew who appro- cited 21 times, "no real con- wagon train leaving for somepriates ECAC money; 202 did cern for important issues," no- where. Knight can barely be tot. 88 felt it should be a stu- ted 16 times, and "too much heard on organ, but West plays

General suggestions for im- reason, the vocal was done Dec. proving Drew included "impeach 28, 1969. the Deans," "abolish grades," NEVER IN MY LIFE (4:50): Heavy "fire incompetents," "hormone --- sounds like a Zeppelin cut. pills for the guys," "free dope," West does bellowing vocal and and "courses in guerilla war- joins with Felix to give predomiwhile 38 did. 70 felt it should fare on a survive/fail basis." nantly bass sound. Concluded one freshman girl, SILVER PAPER (3:17): First of 'This place has such great po- three West-Pappalardi-exchange tential. . . please do something, -the-vocal songs. West does

First cut on side two. Anothe exchange between Leslie and Felix. Tend to think this is better than C.S.N.Y.T & R, i.e., Woodstock number.

-'Mountain Climbing'-

by Ken Schulman

barely audible and Laign's percussion shouldn't be audible at all. But West, on lead guitar, and Pappalardi, who has switched from record production alone,

on bass, provide the necessary

Great--no hype

TO MY FRIEND (3:38): West on guitar-that's it. Shows he can play some beautiful stuff. Parts of it almost sound oriental.

THE LAIRD (4:35): Mountain's contribution to the peace song scene with Pappalardi doing a sweet chorus of 'Let my people go." Nice cut, though.

SITTIN' ON A RAINBOW (2:20): A typical heavy West vocal and BOYS IN THE BAND (3:35): West and Felix exchange again. Knight does some mellotron music. Felix also chimes in an piano. Not that good.

Saw Mountain on educational TV a couple of weeks ago (on the same show with Al Capp). In addition to Pappalardi's put-down of the right-wing cartoonist, the group fared extremely well. It was a live performance; if that small time concert is any indication of the big-time thing, don't miss Mountain when they perform here. They'll be great. No.

Denum 'n' Corduroy

Slims 'm' Rells

52 MAIN ST. MADISON

candles

Scenled

soups

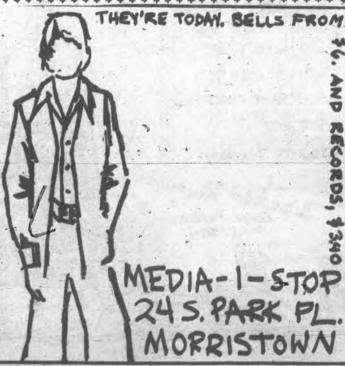

heart and let the sun shine in."

potterv glass

" Ind Such

Phone 377-7739

72 Main Street, Madison

Get in the Picture EVERYTHING PHOTOGRAPHIC

DISCOUNT RECORD AND STEREO TAPE DEPARTMENT ALSO TAPE RECORDERS

Madison Photo Shop 48 Main Street Madison . 377-0522

'White House Murder Case'

Feiffer: maybe too true

Jules Feiffer's 'The White House Murder Case" at the Circle in the Square theater in Greenwich Village evokes two overwhelming responses: a great deal of laughter and some concentrated thought.

Feiffer's second play (the first was "Little Murders"), directed by Alan Arkin, take places "several Presidential elections hence." In essence, it seems to pit the goverment against itself. the government trying to connive itself out of what may be self-destructing jams.

In its losing war against Brazil, the U.S. army is forced to release CB-70 nerve gas to save face. But, due to a wind change, the gas kills 750 of its own men Throughout the play, the scene switches from the Presidential operations room to the Brazilian battlefield. In the room at one time or another are several characters, the President and his wife (who later turns out to be the murder victim), Postmaster General Stiles, Secretary of Defense Parson, Attorney General Cole, Professor Sweeney and General Pratt, who the gas has paralyzed on one side, blinded and caused the use of a microphone instead of a larynx for speech purposes.

The scene in the room causes the most halarity in the play. Mrs. Hale is the nemesis of all involved; she sympathsizes with the dissenting part of the country (and, ah ha, is killed

61 MAINST.

Gerlach's Jewelers

SERVING MADISON AREA FOR 32 YEARS

DIAMONDS SILVERWARE LENOX CHINA

OMEGA-HAMILTON WATCHES

Watch and Jowelry Repairing

377-0767

Looker Room

by a peace sign). After a great deal of bickering and accusations, the group decides that a Brazalian suicide squad caused the gas mishap, But Mrs, Hale refuses to believe the government's hype and, while attempting to phone The New York Times, is murdered. The Secretary of Defense tries to pawn off the murder as another Brazalian suicide mission ("Christ, Mr. President, it'll bring the country together against the chicos"). But the president is determined to discover who the murderer is. Although both the President's and Mr. Cole's fingerprints are on the murder weapon, both are ruled out, General Pratt, who portrays a tremendous cybog, attempts to help by claiming he heard something. Each person must mumble, "Sorry;" is the ensuing mumblings, the stage erupts into what is the funniest scene in the play: six people cavorting and fighting on a small platform. The general is stumbextremely biting. President Hale, who acts his best when angered by his so. called friends' lack of sympathy, and with his cohorts determines ling around and yelling "That could be it" each time someone says "sorry". The satire is

MADISON

and St. Weems, who first issued the order to use the gas, are finding themselves "getting to- nine-tenths of the beauty of Shakgether" because of the gas' ef- espeare lay in his language, but on them. Weems, who at it was the bard himself, in "Hamfirst was concerned with "going let", who said, "the play's the out all balls" (killing more than thing." of the enemy), and Cutler, It is herein that lies my major who throws away his CIA notes complaint against so many proon the Sgt. seem to be exchanging ductions of Shakespeare's works. other's past. But when The lyric magnificence of Shak-Weems discovers he actually has espeare's poetry and prose should definitely wonder if the is the play itself.

Maurice Evans once said that some Brazilian's past passing should require an author as great before his eyes, he claims to be as himself to describe it justly. "going out all balls," and shoots Nonetheless one goes to the thea-Cutler. A satire on true together ter to see a play, not hear a symphony. It is the scope and power When the play finally ends, one of the dialogue, as well as the might stil' be laughing; but the workability of the story presenthrought arises, "Is this simply tation, that differentiate the good a humorous play?" Realizing the from the bad, the mediocre from situation as 'it exists today, one the superb, but the central idea play isn't actually depicting re- The resident company of the Shakespeare Theater in Stratford Connecticut, are to be commen-

-'All's well That Ends Well'-Outstanding presentation

ded both in the clarity of their treatment of Shakespeare's language and in the realism of the characterizations, While not slighting a single syllable, the cast managed to present to the audience as entertaining and cônvincing a performance of Shakespeare as I have seen in some

Directed by Micheal Kahn, the production stars Roberta Maxwell, a lovely actress of formidable talent, as Helena; Peter Thompson as Betram; Eva Le Gallienne as the Countess of Rousillion; Joseph Sommer as the King of France; and Joseph Maher as Parolles. A note concerning this latter might be in order. Mr. Maher projects an image of a completely lovable rogue in his portrayal of a cowardly braggart. His voice has a clean cutting edge, invocative of Cyril Ritchard's, He is, in short, the perfect personification of the pusillanimous Parolles.

There are some less polished moments, Helena had some small difficulty with one line early in the first scene, occasionally a cue was anticipated a bit too much and was stepped on, and the two soldiers whose purpose is to discuss the actions that have occurred offstage so that the audience might be cognizant of what is happening seemed most uncertain of their lines. This is not to mention the fact that they held their clay pipes by the bowls a practice not recommended by those familiar with the characteristics of such smoking utensils. Clay pipes tend to get very hot, very fast.

The set was excellent beyond words. The music totally appropriate. The costumes exquisite and historically accurate, not experimental, a la the company's production of "Henry V."

The student, season runs until June 13. I-cannot recommend a more satisfactory theater event. The impression received from the principals and the walk-ons alike is one of professionalism. The show is a delight.

Bottle Hill Beauty Salon 4 GREEN VILLAGE ROAD AL, N , NORIGAM

Blues on the rocks-Johnny Otis show

"I saw a little dude on 103rd eventually learns of the murderer had a transistor radio in his hip street, workin' out all alone. He that his wife died while in Chi- Stone, Just a twistin' and a turncago, all a trumped up plan to in', makin up a brand new dance, help the party's chances in the I say What do you call it bro-On the battlefield, however, Lt. way..." Thus opens "Cuttin' up" Cutler, an undercover CIA agent, by the Johnny Otis Show, Epic mer with Count Basie and Harlan Leonard, is a guitar and piano virtuoso. The other virtuoso performances on the album can be found in Shuggie's guitar, piano, organ, and bass work. Shuggie recently participated in one of Al Kooper's "Super Sessions" kid ... This album is R and B with which, with the exception of Koo- a vengeance.

BN 26524. This little soul/blues album features: guitar--Johnny Otis, Shuggie Otis; vocals --- Johnny Otis, Delmar "Mighty Mouth" Evans, Margie Evans, Don "Sugarcane' Harris; piano-Shuggie Otis, Johnny Otis; bass-Shuggie Otis; organ-Shuggie Otis; harmonica -- Shuggie Otis, and violin, 'Sugarcane' Harris.

Johnny Otis, formerly a drum-of course, is the talented son of Johnny; he is 16 years old, and this is his third album. Not bad for a little kid. The album alternates between Motown and Chicago, and both types of music are well done. Margie and "Mighty Mouth" sound like Carla and Otis respectively. There is a lot of per, boast outstanding musicians.

Shuggie is considered "someone to watch" in music circles today -- he out - Ron-Ribbs Ron Ribb, and, at least instrumentally out-Winwoods Winwood. Shuggie, cuts. The song, "Elim Stole My Baby" vocal by "Sugarcane" sounds like a cross of Howlin' Wolf and Elvin Bishop-needless to say, it is interesting. The two instrumentals, "Barrelhouse Blues" and "Cuttin' Up" feature Shuggie on guitar and piano. Asi said before, not bad for a little Tramp"-type cuttin-up on this album which forms a refreshing counterpoint to the straight blues

Community Service Station DodeM COME

COMPLETE CAR CARE

Motor Tune Up Brakes Shocks

Electrical Troubles Wheel Alignment

Cor. Kings and Green Village Rd., Madisor Road Service 377-9774

ALE TELEVISION SERVICE Radio, Phono, TV,

24 MAIN ST FR7-2702

Tape Recorders

In the heart of Madison

Druback Florist

FINE FLOWERS DISTINCTIVE GIFTS 80 MAIN STREET FRONTIER 7-5454

sports view www. Baseball and six-pack

The Milwaukee Brewers. What a name for a ball club. The headlines on the sports pages will show no mercy. BREWERS' MANAGER LOSES HEAD AS TEAM GOES FLAT-BREWERS' PITCHER CAN-NED AFTER BEING TAPPED FOR EIGHT RUNS IN PIRST-BREWER SHORTSTOP BLAMES INFIELD FOR BAD HOPS. The sportswriters may be merciless but the Milwaukee fans can be the saints forgiveness. They had better be.

In 1965, the Milwaukee (now Atlanta) Braves played their last season in Suds City. The Milwaukee fans loved their team. In 1957, the Braves won the World Series. In 1958, the Braves again won the NL pennant but the Championship crown went to the AL Yankees. In 1959 the team ended the season tied for first place with the Los Angeles Dodgers, but blew the playoffs. For three straight years, Aaron, Spahn, Burdette, Mathews, Logan, Bruton, Nipsy Jones, and Crandall, to name a few, had driven the fans who resided in the city Schlitz made famous to a state of complete euphoria. The Braves were even more golden than when they first arrived from Boston in 1953. The fans had to be shoe-horned into County Stadium in the three glory years. The Braves were winning, winning, winning, and then....

The Braves stopped winning. It was the Pirates in 1960, the Reds in '61, the Giants in '62, the Dodgers in '63, and the Cardinals took the NL top spot in 1964. During these years the Milwaukee fans stopped turning out to the games. The ball club was losing money and after a hard legal battle in the winter of 1964, it was determined that owner Lou Perrini's team would have to remain only one more year in Milwaukee. The romance had ended in a stormy, ugly separation.

After the hostilities cooled down, though, the Milwaukee merchants and businessmen began to miss big league ball and the money that was associated with it. Perhaps the fans missed baseball too; in fact it was proven they missed it. The test came in 1969.

Arthur Allyn, owner of the lagging Chicago White Sox, was having his financial woes, also. The cross-town Chicago Cubs were becoming pennant contenders. The charisma generated by the one-time pushover Cubs drew Chicago fans to Wrigley Field. Also, the White Sox'. Comiskey Park is in the area with the highest crime rate in Windy City. The Sox were down in the AL dredges. The fans who rooted for the "Go-Go" White Sox of 1959 were all becoming "Bleacher Bums at Wrigley. To help out old Arthur (and to see if baseball would again be profitable in their city), some Milwaukee businessmen arranged for the White Sox to play nine games in County Stadium. Fantastic turnouts were evident in every one of the Milwaukee based games. The businessmen saw this as a mandate from the people to bring back a major league team. But what team?

The Seattle Pilots played in Seattle for only one year before the financial walls came tumblin down. Turnout to see the losing expansion team was small, small enough to put the club $250,000 in the red for 1969. To complicate matters even more, the Seattle town fathers were demanding immediate payment for rental of the ball park. The city also reneged on an agreement whereby it would construct extra , field's Hicky and Urban comgrandstands at the park. The final straw was the indecision and procrastinating by city officials to formulate a plan for a new domed stadium to house the Pilots. This neglect, this failure to act, more Drew's Anderson and Bisk rethan anything showed how little Seattle cared about its team. And now an ironic twist would be added. The Pilots wanted to move to Milwaukee and what followed is well known to the Wisconsin baseball buffs.

Seattle had announced it would move to Milwaukee. The Milwaukee businessmen, seeing the heavy turnouts to the White Sox games held in County Stadium, had approached the Pilot owners during October. The Pilots prepared to ship off to the land of hops and barley when an injunction plus an anti-trust suit were slapped on the Seattle Club and ALL of bit league baseball. This is the same legal procedure Milwaukee employed in their vain attempt to keep the Braves from Atlanta in winter, 1964.

A small legal battle developed and at times it looked like Milwaukee had no chance at all to win. But a Washington (state) judge declared the move legal. In his decision the judge cited MILWAUKEE BRAVES BASEBALL CLUB v. THE CITY OF MILWAUKEE (1964). Finally on April 1 of this year, the Pilots became the Brewers-and Milwaukee has been given a second chance to support a big league team. The league hopes the Milwaukee fan has matured enough to accept defeat once in a while. It is just too bad that the Houston Astros to work with deprived youngsters from New York metropolitan area in summer camping situation. Boy's Athletic League and Girl's Vacation fund camps located in Bear Mountain area and East Windham, New York.

Opportunities

Openings for men and women college students in pioneering, arts & crafts, drama, music, Indian lore, waterfront, hiking, nature, general camping skills, R.N., and office-

Contact:

MRS. PETERSON 822-0483 EVENINGS,

OR WRITE:

25 HICKORY PLACE CHATHAM, NEW JERSEY 07928

Talented tennis team takes opening pair with ease suffering a cancellation of its first season match, scheduled for last Thursday against Washington College, went on to win two matches handily, 7-l over Bloomfield, and 9-0 over Delaware Val-

In the two matches, the Rangers singles players only lost 22 out of 154 games, sweeping every set. Against Delaware Valley, the doubles teams also swept all six sets.

David Friedman, a former number one player back from London this year, has been playing number one again, Chris Kersey, who has the best match record of any singles player over the last two years, plays number two, with Wolfgang Wessels number three, Howie Solomon, Rory Corrigan, and Rick Jones have also played singles.

Mike Wickenden and Steve Stetler, who are close to singles berths, have played doubles in both matches.

Losing only ten of seventy games in singles play and fortytwo of 144 games in both singles and doubles play, the Drew varsity tennis team whipped visiting Bloomfield College, 8-1, Saturday, in the season opener for both squads, Last Thursday's match with Washington College was cancelled.

In singles play, Dave Friedman defeated Price, 6-0, 6-2; Chris Kersey over Hicky, 6-1, 6-1; Wolfgang Wessels over Urban, 6-1, 6-3; Rory Corrigan over Zawaki, 6-1, 6-1; and Howie Solomon over Siegel, 6-0, 6-0.

The Rangers had some difficulty in doubles play. Bloombination edged Rick Jones and Ken Margolin, . 6-3, 13-11. bounded to take the next match. 6-2, 2-6, 6-4. Mike Wickenden and Gilbert gained a 6-1, 7-5 victory in the final doubles match.

Tennismen Ken Margolin and Wolfgang Wessels talk with Coach George Davis in early-season practice. The tennis squad, looking to better its 9-3 record of last year, got off to a good start with two convincing victories in its openers.

Against Delaware Valley Tuesday, Rory Corrigan's 6-0, 6-0 sweep led the singles team, as no one lost more than three games. Other winners were: Friedman, 6-1, 6-2 over Block; Ker- Kolmon and Ricci, 6-2, 6-1, sey, 6-1, 6-2 over Ricci; Wessels, 6-0, 6-2 over Roberts; Solomon over Rose, 6-0, 6-1; visit Rutgers of South Jersey, Jones over Raider, 6-3, 6-0,

In doubles, Wessels and Corrigan topped Block and Raider, 6-1, 6-0, Friedman and Kersey took Rose and Roberts, 6-3, 6-3 and Wickenden and Stetler took Tomorrow the team tackle Pace at home, and Monday they will also be held to prepare the Girls to hold tennis match

The girls tennis team is scheduled for a Match with Newark State College on May 7, according to Mrs. Eleanor Mason, ten-team for the fall season, Mrs. Mason hopes for a very successful season next year and is pleased with the spirit and enthusiasm nis coach, Several scrimmages of the team,

YRs supporting Gibson in Newark week that the YR s have un- tion. animously endorsed Kenneth Gibson for Mayor of Newark.

Gibson, a black independent who spoke here last week for tions with the Mafia. Black Emphasis Week, is run-

Young Republican President ning against incumbent Hugh Ad-Harold Gordon announced this donizio in the nonpartisan elec-

> Addonizio has been involved in extensive investigation over the past year probing his connec-

Ruggers tackling six games; Penn State away tomorrow one of its toughest schedules in round, 18-14. This year Penn State and has fair depth. The ruggers years this season in defense of its and Holy Cross, two Eastern pow-New Jersey State Championship ers, were added to the slate. title, Last year's club gained the Though the team lost many Drew's Rugby Club is carrying and Rutgers the second time a- the line-up is generally strong title by defeating Princeton, 10-0, good players through graduation

Rugby scrum. Although last-minute cancellation of the planned Bermuda trip was a disappointment, ruggers still hope to match last year's sparkling record, taking on a tough 6-game had a fair season last fall, beating Fordham and losing to Whitemarsh and Rutgers. The freshmen this year look strong and eager. Club captains Dennis Kade Hunt Jones will lead the backfield. Returning stars include Rick Doran, Bob Luton, Tim Rothwell, John Hudak, Marty Staffaroni, Ron Tremper and Harry Litwack. If the experienced players hustle and play smart ball, the ruggers may have a winning season.

Following is the tentative sch-

APRIL 4 S Fordham Away

11 S Penn State Away 18 S Open 25 S Fairfield Home 29 W Princeton Away

2 S Holy Cross Home 10 Sun, Rutgers Away.

· Wallace Beery-look Sport coats double breasted surfer · swim trunks Locker Room COOK PLAZA MADISON

Baseball squad overtaken by PMC in opener, 7-0

In its first game of the season the Drew nine fell to PMC 7-0, as the winners capitalized on four runs scored in the first inning. Junior Dave Bole was Drew's starting pitcher, but he ran into problems as he consecutively walked three PMC batters. A double with the bases loaded drove in two runs and then a single dropped in two more for PMC.

Freshmen Ed Osterhout came in to replace Bole after the score read 4-0.

The Rangers didn't manage a hit until the third inning as Mike Corbett sent a single to left, PM C got their next run in the same inning as Osterhout walked a man home.

The Rangers had their biggest rally in the sixth as Bruce Johannessen bunted for a single Baseball squad with Coach Frank Makosky.

and Steve Allen followed with a shot to right, But PMC scored two more runs in the seventh and eighth. Senior hurler Tom Makosky replaced Osterhout in the sixth inning.

Drew played a fairly good opening game considering their lack of sufficient practice due to the inclement weather. The game indicated that The Rangers have green pitching and some strong, soon-to-develop hitting material. Because of Federal monies

Students counted here for census

Dean of Student Alton Sawin change anything. has announced that Drew students will be included in the 1970 cenneed not, he stated, attempt to lation.

It is advantageous to Drew to sus count as residents of Drew, have a full census count taken except for commuters. There- here, Dean Sawin noted, because fore, those students who were not federal aid monies are often included in forms at their homes based on census counts of popu-

PARTS ACCESSORIES Imported Auto Center HOURS: Daily 9 to five Saturday to Noon

* Rose City

jewelers

ONGINES BULOVA SPEIDEL TIMEX

> watch & jewelry repairs

cor. Waverly & Main PHONE 377-2145

BANK OF AMERICA MASTER CHARGE UNICARD

Campus Shell

M.C.A.

COMPLETE AUTOMOTIVE. SERVICE TEL. 377-9855 - 2035

> ROAD SERVICE. FREE PICK UP & DELIVERY

ROAD SERVICE CLUB

2 purchases a month Road service free anywhere in Madison

COH. FIGS RD & GREEN VILLAGE F MADISCY N. J. 07940

