“Give me a possession of a burying-place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight.”—GENESIS xxiii. 4.

New York:

C. S. WESTCOTT & CO.'S UNION PRINTING-HOUSE,
No. 79 JOHN STREET.

1866.

THIS Cemetery was incorporated as the "Tarrytown Cemetery," but the republication of the following letter, in 1864, suggested to the Trustees that it would be a most fitting memorial of the distinguished author of it to conform to his wishes even at that late day. They accordingly applied to the Legislature of the state for authority to change the title, which was most readily and unanimously granted, and thenceforth it became the "Sleepy Hollow Cemetery."

The letter was addressed to Lewis Gaylord Clark, then editor of the Knickerbocker Magazine.

MY DEAR CLARK :

I send you herewith a plan of a rural cemetery projected by some of the worthies of Tarrytown, on the woody hills adjacent to the Sleepy Hollow Church. I have no pecuniary interest in it, yet I hope it may succeed as it will keep that beautiful and umbrageous neighborhood sacred from the anti-poetical and alllevelling axe. Besides, I trust that I shall one day lay my bones there. The projectors are plain matter-of-fact men, but are already, I believe, aware of the blunder which they have committed in naming it the "Tarrytown," instead of the "Sleepy Hollow" Cemetery. The latter name would have been enough of itself to secure the patronage of all desirous of sleeping quietly in their graves.

I beg you to correct this oversight, should you, as I trust you will, notice this sepulchral enterprise.

I hope as the spring opens you will accompany me in one of my brief visits to Sunny Side, when we will make another trip to Sleepy Hollow, and (thunder and lightning permitting) have a colloquy among the tombs.

Yours, very truly,

WASHINGTON IRVING.

GRAVE-YARD OF OLD DUTCH CHURCH.

SLEEPY HOLLOW CEMETERY,

ON THE HUDSON RIVER.

IN the year 1848, the citizens of Tarrytown, affected by the frequency of funeral processions from the city of New York and other places, on their way to bury their dead in the grave-yard of the old Dutch Church—which had been a burial-place of the dead for more than one hundred and fifty years, and had become literally covered over with graves—were moved to extend its limits, and enclose within them the beautiful grounds of which this cemetery is formed.

The church-yard was so crowded that one friend could no longer be buried there by the side of another; and, in the prospect of death, the family circles could not indulge the hope that their ashes might mingle in the place of the dead.

Considering the sentiment, so creditable to mankind, that induces them to secure and beautify a family burial-place, an association was formed and incorporated, under an act passed by the Legislature of the State of New York, on the 27th of April, 1847.

The Trustees purchased twenty acres of land adjoining the yard of the old Dutch Church, which they laid out with roads and avenues, and erected one of the best and most substantial receiving tombs, of solid masonry, that is to be found in this country. It is located beside an old fort, which is in almost as perfect a state as when occupied for defence by our Revolutionary heroes.

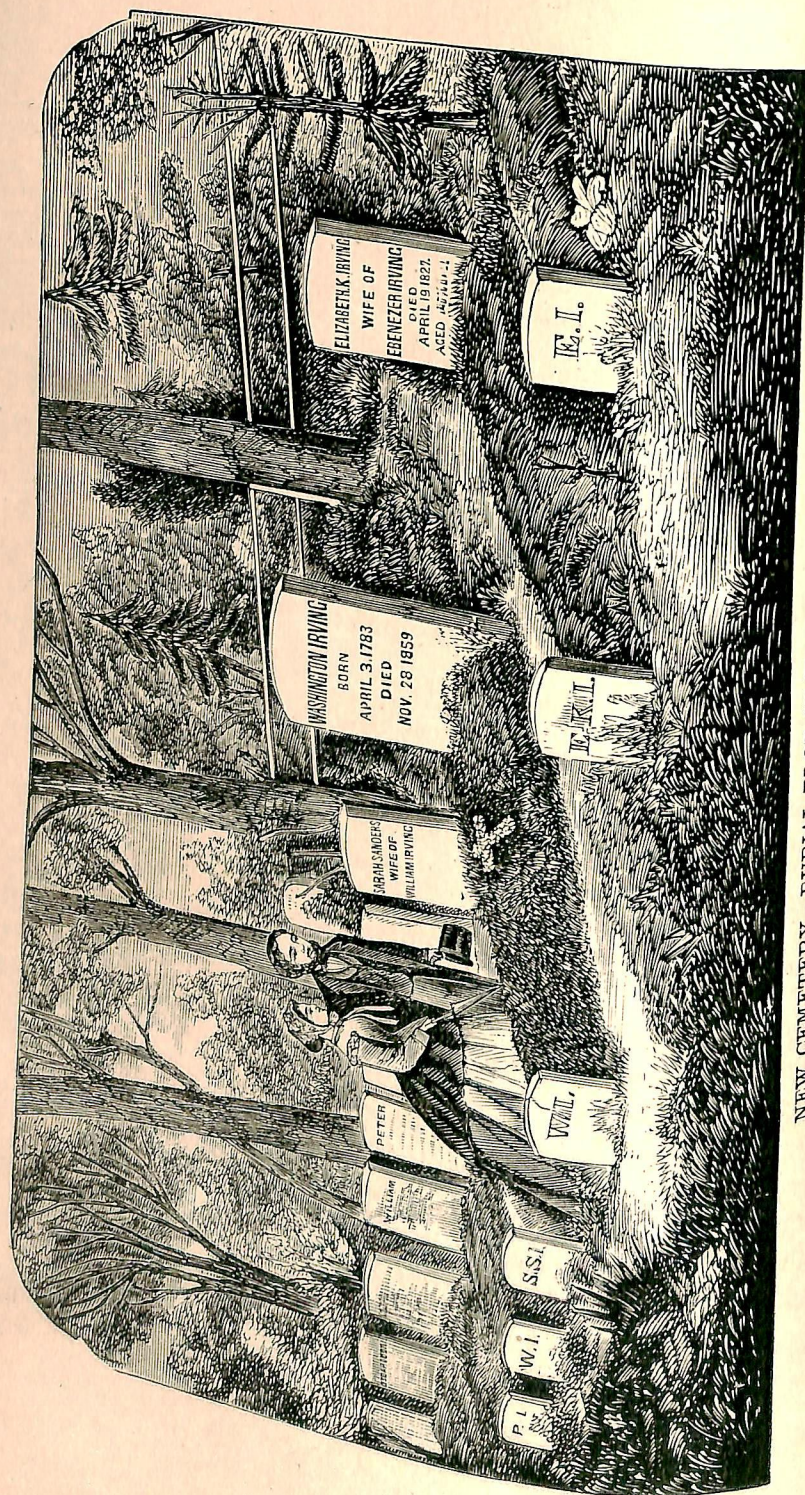

The grounds are well adapted to the purpose for which they were selected, being elevated, light, and dry.

Beauty of scenery on every side is presented to the eye of the visitor. From the higher grounds of the cemetery is a view of the Hudson River, with its banks of grandeur and beauty, its bosom dotted with sails and enlivened by swiftly-gliding steamers.

North is Verplanck's Point, and thence far away to the south, a distance of nearly forty miles, is a view of the noblest river of our country.

The villages of Nyack, Piermont, and Tarrytown, the spot on which Major Andre was arrested and the place of his execution, are all within the view, while Sleepy Hollow, made memorable by the genius of Washington Irving,* with all its simple beauty and pleasing quietude, is in close proximity.

* This distinguished author was for many years a resident of this neighborhood, and took a prominent part in the foundation

NEW CEMETERY.—BURIAL PLOT OF WASHINGTON IRVING.

Passing from these grounds to those of the more sacred old grave-yard, the visitor ponders the past and the eventful doings of the dead beneath him, as he looks upon the chiselled stones set to mark the resting-places of the good and great of earlier times.

While other cemeteries boast their richly-sculptured marble and high towering shafts of granite, here the visitor looks upon monuments that the "rude forefathers reared" in pure simplicity and in Christian faith of immortality. The marks of the chisel that was guided by the hand of the artisan more than a century ago, are still distinct and legible on marble that has braved the weather and the waste of time while generations have risen and departed.

The Hudson River Railroad brings this cemetery within an hour's ride of the Thirtieth street station-house, in New York city; and, considering the com-of this enterprise, having been one of the original corporators. His remains now repose in this cemetery, within an enclosure which he himself selected; and in the latter years of his life he brought hither his nearest departed kindred, by whose side he now lies interred. The rigid simplicity observed by him in the adornment of his chosen ground, the plain slabs which he erected over their graves, and which affection has imitated in the white marble that marks his own resting-place, are but exemplifications of his memorable sentiment, and call to mind these utterances from his own lips: "The grave should be surrounded by everything that might inspire tenderness and veneration for the dead, or that might win the living to virtue."

fort afforded the passengers on this road, the promptness of the cars to the time of starting, and the confidence that funerals will not be delayed (as they oftentimes are in crossing ferries), prove conclusively that no more time need be consumed than in the passage to most other rural burial-grounds. Communication by steamboat is also now so well arranged for safety and speedy travel, that a cemetery at Tarrytown possesses advantages of accessibility unequalled by any other in the vicinity of New York.

On the arrival of the cars or boat, public carriages to the cemetery may be secured in a few minutes.

Such is a brief outline of the character and situation of Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, now hallowed as the resting-place of Washington Irving. Persons disposed to purchase a family burial-place are invited to acquaint themselves with its advantages of access and the features of its locality.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

1. The management of the cemetery is committed to nine Trustees, three of whom are chosen every year by the plot-owners, for the term of three years.

2. All lots shall be held and conveyed in pursuance of the act authorizing the Incorporation of Rural Cemeteries, passed April 27, 1847, and the several acts amendatory thereof.

4. Proprietors shall not allow interments to be made in their lots for remuneration.

5. The proprietor of any lot may erect any proper stone monument or sepulchral structure thereon, and cultivate trees, shrubs, and plants; but no tree growing within the lot or border shall be cut down or destroyed without the consent of the Trustees.

6. If any trees or shrubs in any lot shall, by means of their roots, branches, or otherwise, become detrimental to the adjacent lots or avenues, or dangerous and inconvenient to passengers, it shall be the duty of the Superintendent to remove the said trees and shrubs, or such parts thereof as are detrimental, dangerous, or inconvenient.

7. If any monument or effigy, or any structure whatever of any description, be placed in or upon any lot, which shall be determined by a majority of the Trustees to be offensive or improper, the Trustees shall have the right, and it shall be their duty, to enter upon such lot and remove the offensive or improper object or objects.

8. The Board of Trustees may lay out or alter the avenues or walks, and make rules and regulations for the protection and improvement of the grounds.

9. The proprietors of lots and their families shall be allowed access to the grounds at all times, but will be required to observe the rules for the regulation of visitors.

10. The charge of the grounds shall be intrusted to the Superintendent appointed by the Trustees. He may employ a keeper and assistants to enable him to perform the duties required of him.

13. No person employed by this association or by any lot-holder will be allowed, under penalty of immediate dismissal, to enter the grounds under the influence of liquor, or to bring it on the ground to be used as a beverage.

14. Proceeds of the sale of plots, after defraying incidental expenses, shall be expended in improving and beautifying the cemetery, and in keeping the grounds in order.

15. Visitors on foot and in carriages may be admitted to the grounds, but will be required strictly to observe the rules and regulations. Horses must not be driven at a rate exceeding four miles an hour. Drivers must be careful not to drive on the borders of plots, and not to leave a team unfastened. Dogs will not be admitted.

18. No hunting with dog or gun will be allowed in the grounds, under penalty of the law.

19. The Superintendent is charged with the execution of these rules and regulations.

The cemetery lands and property of any association, formed pursuant to this act, shall be exempt from all public taxes, rates, and assessments; and shall not be liable to be sold on execution, or be applied in payment of debts due from any individual proprietors. But the proprietors of lots or plats in such cemeteries, their heirs or devisees, may hold the same exempt therefrom, so long as the same shall remain dedicated to the purpose of a cemetery, and during that time no street, road, avenue, or thoroughfare, shall be laid through such cemetery, or any part of the lands held by such association for the purposes aforesaid, without the consent of the trustees of such association, except by special permission of the Legislature of the State.
