Young People's Temple at Mount Tabor, N. J.

The Young People's Temple,

This superb structure, a front view is given above, it is proposed to erect during this or the succeeding year, as soon as the necessary funds are at hand. It will cost about $3,000, and will be a model of convenience for the use intended to be made of it.

The cut above represents a view of the front elevation, but will give but a faint idea of the size of the whole structure.

The dimensions of the edifice are 40 by 80 feet; height of main building, 40 feet; height of tower, 55 feet.

There will be four entrances in the front end, opening into the main Audience room, 40 by 60 feet, two entrances in the rear opening into the Library Room, 40 by 20 feet.

The partition between main audience and library will consist of sliding doors so that the two rooms can be made into a large enclosure capable of seating 500 people.

This building, when completed, will be used by the young people for various entertainments, etc. During the meeting it will be devoted to the children's services, and take the place of the in-commodious tent on the hill. And in case of rain it will be found a convenient place to hold service, ensuring a good audience even on stormy days.

The site of the building is to be at the front of the Grounds, upon a triangular piece of ground between the two avenues leading to the depot.

The frontage is on Simpson ave., but the rear will be tastefully set off by a neat balcony, and will present a finished appearance to the approaching visitor.

Copies of the above cut, mounted on heavy white or tinted card board, can be had on application to Mr. L. Coit, on payment of the small sum of 10 cents each.

The plans of the building, drawn by Geo. W. Le Baw & Son, of Rahway, N. J., are in possession of Mr. J. W. Stevens, of Camp Tabor.

them, and sprinkled the anointing oil seven times upon the altar. Then he poured the anointing oil upon Aaron's head, and he was 'set apart' for this purpose.

I wish you would take your Bible and concordance and search out for yourselves the texts which continually are found showing how that the utensils and those persons, which were to be used for the service of the Temple, were—as God states it—by the Spirit 'sanctified' that they might be set apart to be used for no other purpose.

It was not in the other meaning that they were thus set apart—not to 'make holy.' No man could do this; there is no power in the universe of God save the blessed blood of the Lord Jesus Christ can do it.

No bleeding bird, no bleeding beast,
No hyssop branch, no sprinkling priest,
No running brook, nor sea, nor flood,
Could wash the dismal stain away.

It is only the blood of Christ that can make the soul that is set apart to his service, holy. Only this blood that can sanctify it and make it free from sin.

As we turn again to the word of God do we find the word used, though probably not so frequently do we find the word used in this latter sense—to make holy. In the letter to the Ephesians Christ also loved the Church, and gave himself for it to sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water and the Word.

And, as we turn to the letter to the Hebrews, we find that Christ suffered without the Gate, that the people might be sanctified. You remember the prayer that He offered for His disciples when he was leaving them, 'Sanctify them through thy Truth.' May the Lord help us then to accept these statements and never again for one single moment believe that the word is used only in the sense of consecration. It is a blessed work that we do when we sanctify ourselves by consecrating ourselves, and it must precede the work that God accomplishes when he sanctifies everything consecrated to his service by making it holy in his sight, and free from all defilement.

It may be of interest to us with reference to the prayer for the Thessalonians, to notice very carefully the condition of this church for whom He prayed. We are too prone to forget this; I ask this because very frequently, in these days of privilege, when souls have at these altars consecrated themselves to God, and trusted in the blood of cleansing—first the blood applied—and the sanctifying grace, there may have been some who were ready to say that these souls were never converted; these are only now finding the joys of converting grace. At times it may be so, and sadly true, that souls that have never been saved, by the power of the spirit from their guilt and sin, do, under some awakening spirit, confess the blessing of entire holiness.

It was not so with the Thessalonians. The Apostle has written a very faithful pastoral letter to them, not simply of his judgment of their condition as he had known them, but writing under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. He addresses them as a converted people. They had received the word of the Lord with joy in the Holy Ghost, as every converted soul receives it. May I say to you in passing, all of you who are strangers to the joy of the Holy Ghost—professors of religion though you may be—that comes to witness of your adoption, cease not to cry unto God, until the Spirit shall bear glad witness with your spirit that you are indeed a child of God.

These Thessalonians were ready to have this prayer offered for them. It is the very best people in the church that are seeking this blessing. It is not the backslider who is ready for this grace; it is the one who is walking most securely in the light of God's spirit, and in the conscious joy that comes from the love of God shed abroad in the heart.

Again, some who do not understand these things, say that these souls who may, even during these days, have confessed this grace, were backslidden from God, and were only now reclaimed. It may be true that some have come to this mount of privilege without the light of God, as perchance some of you are living, who have spoken this word of them, and they under these invitations, with hungry souls have come, and God has answered the cry of their hearts, and the spirit has spoken, and they have rejoiced.

They have taken this, possibly, for the work of entire holiness. But we do earnestly pray you be not deceived. Where these souls who have been taught of God are laboring for these, and have the opportunity to present a word of help, they inquire first of all: Are you walking to-day in the light of God's reconciled countenance? And then they strive to point them a little further.

If you have confessed this grace of christian holiness, my brother or sister, during these days when you had not at

Woman's National Camp Meeting,

For the promotion of Holiness, which was begun July 16, came to a successful termination on Monday, the 26th prox.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, and comparatively small attendance, all the participants therein profess to have had a glorious revival.

Representatives were present from all parts of the east and west, and some from the south; so it is said by the leaders that though the attendance was small, the good seed has been scattered far and wide, and will bring a mighty harvest in time to come.

As far as we can ascertain, the meeting resulted in about 75 conversions.

It is impossible to give a detailed account of the work in our limited space. Among the prominent workers were the Misses Smith, of Bristol, R. I.; Mrs. Julia Foote, the colored evangelist, Miss Leonard, of Evanston, Ill.; Miss Jennie R. Smith; Miss Boyd, from the south; Mrs. Keller, M. D., of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Fitzgerald, the indefatigable and earnest leader, who was always to be found at her post, without seeming to rest for an hour. Rev. E. Davis, of Reading, Mass., was prominent among the male participants, as also was Mr. Richard Grant, and many more whose names do not occur to us at present.

The ladies are much indebted to the efforts put forth by Mr. David Campbell, President of Mt. Tabor Association, for the success of their convention, and their ability to raise all necessary expenses.

Seven meetings were held each day. An especial feature among the exercises was the 15 minute silent prayer, in which all residents of Camp Tabor were to engage at the tap of the bell at one o'clock. On account of the rain most of the services were held in the pavilion. We must not forget to notice the Children's Meeting, which was so dear to the hearts of all the Evangelists many of the little ones were led to Christ, and many more were deeply impressed, and the ground was broken for a sweeping revival in the present Camp Meeting.

We give below two representative sermons delivered on the closing Sunday of the Meeting, July 25th.

SERMON.

The morning sermon was preached by Miss Leonard, who is connected with a seminary for young ladies in Evanston, Ill. The text was from First Thessalonians, 5, 23, 24.

"And the very God of Peace sanctify you wholly," etc.

"Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it."

"We find from our lexicographers that this word sanctify has two distinct meanings, first, 'to set apart for sacred uses,' and 'to make holy.'

As we turn to the word of God, we find that this word is used from the first of Genesis on through the books of the Bible, in these two distinct senses. The utensils that were to be used in the Tabernacle and in the Temple were 'sanctified' when they were set apart to be used solely for God's service. Moses took the anointing oil and anointed first the Tabernacle and all that was therein, and 'sanctified' the time that you sought this grace the witness of your pardon, seek now until God shall set the seal of the spirit in the entire work of cleansing upon your heart.

But these Thessalonians were not backslidden, for whom the Apostle prays.

You remember the Apostle says: What is our hope, or joy, or crown of righteousness? even in you, in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ, preachers, would you write thus to a backslidden people: They are not your joy, they are your sorrow; for them you have wept between the porch and the altar.

The Apostle also says, brethren, we are comforted in all our affliction through your faith.

You who have ministered know how you have been comforted in all trials, by the faith of your saved people.

It was not possible for him to have used these words 'sanctify you wholly' in the sense of God's consecrating them. There are those who have testified to the fact, at such a time God consecrated me to his service. Oh, my brother, my sister, be careful in the words you use! God never consecrated you; if ever you were consecrated to his service, it was when, with your soul longing for salvation, you, yourself, with the power that God has vested in you in the will, the crown glory of your nature that he gives you, consecrated yourself.

I presume that the apostle knew that they were consecrating themselves, and then he prays this prayer, that the spirit would come into their hearts and seem to drive the darkness away. But during these years of Christian life they had found, as perchance you as a saved man or woman, have found, that there was evil living within, something of the carnal nature still in the heart. They found that when temptation presented itself from without, something within their hearts responded to it, and the apostle prays that that inward tendency should be removed.

Oh, that to-day the spirit may make this word light unto your hearts. Since my eyes opened to the light of this morning, these words have been upon me: 'Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts.'

Note that the apostle does not pray that they shall be made God, nor angels, nor free from the infirmities of the flesh; further on, he does not pray that they may be saved from physical disability, that they may have perfect minds, but he simply prays that the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace, should make them entirely holy, for that is just the meaning of the word—entirely free from all defilement.

The speaker further said that the apostle made no petition for any great thing, or sudden, mysterious experience, but simply for holiness.

This work, which might be accomplished in the Thessalonians, can be accomplished in the hearts of each son and daughter of the living God.

Do you remember the prayer of the apostle for the church at Ephesus? They were not better than you are. Their light did not compare with your light. He prayed that they, at Ephesus, might be filled with all the fullness of God, and they were a church that had but just six months before been converted, and gathered in from the filth and off-scouring of that great city—thieves, murderers, liars—aye, they had been taken from the most wretched of the city, that they might be filled with all the fullness of God.

The speaker further contended that the church at Thessalonica was no further advanced in Christian virtues than we, and that the prayer of the apostle for them could be answered for us.

You notice that he not only prays that they may be sanctified wholly, but he continues his prayer. He knew that even after this work was accomplished in them, they were still in the world, and that Satan would still war against them; that it was possible for them to fall from this grace; so he continues, 'I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body may be kept blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.'

The preacher, referring to this word blameless, said it was found in but two places in the word of God.

The closing words had reference to this continuation of the prayer of the Apostle. It was held that such a prayer was necessary in the case of all those professing sanctification, as this grace did not remove the propensities and appetites, only kept them in abeyance. She thought that the world would acknowledge this grace whenever they saw it shining forth in the looks, tones of the voice, and actions of those who had been sanctified wholly.

In conclusion, an earnest exhortation was made for all believers to come to the altar and not rise until the spirit's presence had been realized.

The afternoon sermon was preached by Mrs. Julia Foot, the colored evangelist from the West. Her text was taken from Matt. 12th, 46 to 50, which our limited space will not allow us to quote in full.

We hope, dearly beloved, while we shall attempt to say something to you—we know not what, just as the Lord may direct us—that we shall be favored by your prayers.

The blessed Christ when upon earth was continually doing good, going from place to place, preaching the everlasting Gospel. And when about to leave the world he commissioned his disciples to go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; he that believeth not shall be damned. Some say they cannot accept the latter clause. They say God is too merciful to damn any soul; but remember the justice of our God is parallel with his mercy, and what his mouth in truth hath said his almighty arm will do.

We hear that the proud and passionate Voltaire once said, "he was tired of hearing that twelve men had established this Gospel in the earth, and," said he, "I shall live to see one man overthrow it and banish it from the earth." He struggled to fulfil his boast to destroy the Gospel of the Son of God. Where is he to-day? Over ninety years he has been in the grave, and could we look into the eternal world to-day we might see that spirit of his perhaps writhing in despair.

How is it with the Word of God?

Perhaps it never was more widely disseminated than at the present time. We will speak this afternoon upon the family of the blessed God. Christ, the Son of God, being God himself, as he tells us plainly in his Word, "Before the world was, I am." From all eternity Christ was hence a member of this family. To the members of that family he extended his hands. When the messenger came in and said, "Thy mother and thy brethren, stand without," he certainly did not extend his hand to the members of his natural household, but to his disciples. By this I do not mean to say that Christ denied the members of his natural family—those connected by the ties of consanguinity—not at all. Never was a son more loving and dutiful towards a mother than was the dear blessed Christ.

Christ, we have said, has a family, and he speaks to them in a great number of places. We read in Ephesians 3d: 14-15, "For this cause I bow my knee unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is made." In Philippians 2 he says: "Whereof God also hath highly exalted him and gave him a name which is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow."

We know that men are very loth to bow when called upon, before God, and acknowledge him in his sovereign right—men are so proud, so stiff-necked that they are not willing to do it. We are told in Hebrews 1st: 11, "For both he that sanctifieth and they that are sanctified are one for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren." A little further on John says: "As he (Christ) is so are we in this world."

This family is a very ancient family; if we turn to the 1st chapter of Matthew we learn what an ancient family this is when we read from what family Christ came. "Before the world was," said Christ, "I am," and "the word was made flesh and dwelt among us and we beheld the glory." We behold the glory of God here to-day in the faces of many here assembled.

This family is not only ancient, but it is a noble family; it is a family of priests, kings, noblemen, of all that are distinguished on earth. Now, we not only came here to-day, dear friends, to speak of this family but also to invite every one here to come and be a member of this family. All of us love to be identified with distinguished families, and how fathers and mothers will struggle and worry that their sons and daughters may form alliances in noble families—in ancient and respectable families. This family is not only named here but named of God, named in heaven; and for this reason, friends, methinks every one in this congregation will desire to be a member of this household. Why? Because they love ancient families. Now we know how much respect we are apt to pay to noblemen, so called. Let one of the crowned heads or princes of Europe come to this country, every man, woman and child will be on tip-toe to see him when he passed by. But when they come to see them they look just like ordinary men or women. This family, friends, is very different from that. They have a peculiar beauty which becometh those who are to live forever.

They are not only ancient and noble but of course they must be wealthy; a family of kings certainly must be wealthy. You go over across the broad ocean and there you behold the crowned heads with their abundance; their acres laid out and covering the country far and wide. Glory to God! in this family, we are speaking of though you may not have a foot of land upon this earth, yet you are in possession of all things. What saith the apostle? "All things are Christ's." Just think of it. The first born of this household is God of all things; you could not begin to enumerate what belongs to him.

Is it wealth you are seeking? then get into this family, where there is abundance of wealth. Do you wish to ride about like your neighbor in your coach and four? Is that the desire of your heart? O! think once for a moment, how Elijah went up in a chariot of fire, because he belonged to this family. This family are not only wealthy, but they are courageous, as all the nobility, you say, are. When you see a man going to noble and courageous deeds, you are wont to say noble blood runs in his veins. These men and women who are members of this family can never be conquered. There is no power on earth that can daunt them. They may indeed be subdued, they may even be killed, but you cannot conquer them. God hath said these are my children. God hath said, I am a man of war and fight for my own, and none shall conquer them. Hence he tells his children not to fear those that can kill the body.

Now this household are so closely connected, the one with the other, that they look alike. The Apostle in First Corinthians tells us, that when we arise from the grave we shall have bodies like Jesus Christ. We shall look like him. You look at that sanctified brother or sister, if you please, at that one over there, and you see the glory of God reflected in the countenance.

This family also has one common language, they speak the same tongue. I care not whence they come. They may be from the distant part of the habitable globe, if members of this household, if they are heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ, they speak the same language. We care not if the tawny-footed stranger from the plains, casting his blanket from him and in a transport says the Great Spirit is loving, he is a child of God. Do they come from the jungles of Africa, as many a son or daughter in our midst, showing by the light of the Holy Ghost reflecting in their faces, that they are the children of the same God. For God has said he is no respecter of persons.

In conclusion, the speaker exhorted all to bring themselves down from their proud standpoint to the level of Christ and have all carnality taken from their hearts, and be made clean as Christ, the elder brother, was pure.

S. R. OSMUN,
DENTIST,
MORRISTOWN, N. J.

I have great pleasure in presenting the testimonials of persons for whom I have done work in my line who are competent judges of thorough dentistry. S. E. Hedges, M. D.; Rev. J. K. Burr, D. D.; Rev. A. H. Tuttle are persons well known throughout the entire State.

CHERSTER, N. J., July 28, 1880.
Dr. S. R. Osmun:

DEAR SIR:—I have not been able to see you since you extracted my teeth, and I take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to you for the professional skill and courtesy you manifested at that time.

I had taken gas once before at "Headquarters" in New York city and my impressions were unpleasant and its effects damaging to my health.

As administered by you its results were perfectly harmless and very satisfactory, and I shall take pleasure in recommending to my friends not only your art in filling teeth but also a fearless use of your gas.

Very respectfully yours,
S. E. HEDGES.

Doctor S. R. Osmun has done work for my family in almost every branch of dentistry and I unhesitatingly pronounce it to have always been of the highest order. I have such confidence in the excellence of his work and his skill in execution as to sincerely recommend him to such of my friends as are suffering with troublesome teeth.

A. H. TUTTLE.
Hackettstown, N. J., July 28, 1880.

Dr. Osmun has for a number of years done dentist work for myself and family and has invariably given full satisfaction.

A master of the science of dentistry, he avails himself of all the recent appliances of the dental art and displays great skill and thoroughness in all branches of dental work.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., August 5, 1880.

Ye Greeting--4th Year.

The RECORD enters upon its fourth volume this year. We have tried to produce that improvement in its typographical appearance, and general contents, which its extreme age demands. We are greatly encouraged to continue our work by the help extended us thus far by our patrons. Our circulation has reached a respectable figure, and advertisers can feel that they are getting a good return for their investment.

Again we must apologize, in advance for the many errors that will unavoidably creep into a paper published so far away from the Grounds. Our friends have been pleased to overlook them in the past, and we shall try to make as few as possible. It has been found necessary to issue the paper a little later in the day. It will be mailed to subscribers at 3 p. m., and delivered on the Grounds at 1:30 p. m.

Camp Notes.

All communications relating to the RECORD should be addressed to the Banner office, Morristown, N. J.

The services during this camp meeting are under the direction of Revs. Mr. Bryce and Mr. Fitzgerald.

The annual reunion of the Young People's L. & M. Society will be held at the residence of Mr. T. James on Saturday evening next at 7:30.

Subscribe for the RECORD before it is too late to get a complete file. Mr. Nelson will receive subscriptions at the bookstore at Mt. Tabor.

It is not possible to procure a programme of the services and list of preachers at this early day. We hope by Saturday to inform our readers for a week ahead what they are to expect.

We can imagine the look of surprise and disgust which will overspread the countenance of the impecunious stranger when met, as he drives proudly up the avenue, by a request to hand over his ten cents. The collections will not suffer, however.

Our old friends, composing what is known as the Mt. Hope choir, will not be with us this year. The music will be furnished by a volunteer choir composed of residents of Camp Tabor, assisted by Mr. J. Weller, cornetist, leader of the Washington band.

The genial countenance of Mr. Chas. Burch is once more to be seen on the grounds. Whatever cheerfulness we were able to maintain during the dreary weather of last year was owing to Mr. Burch's good stories and cheerful conversation. Call often, Mr. Burch.

The Board of Trustees have issued a note to the occupants of tents and cottages to provide a pair of water to be placed at the rear door of each domicile as a precaution against fire. The pails had better be whitewashed or somebody will come to grief on a dark night.

Mr. Lowry proposes to give a name to his beautiful cottage and tent on the Circle. He has chosen the exceedingly appropriate title of "Sweet Home." We should be very glad to see others adopt the pleasant custom, and give a living name to their cottages instead of an inanimate number.

We are sorry we have not such a pleasant place to receive our friends as the RECORD office was last year. Our present office, in the police station, is rather confined. We shall miss a great many good stories, and locals, by the removal, but if our friends have anything particularly good to tell us we can make room for them very easily.

The Trustees were obliged to make provision, at a late meeting, for paying off a large portion of the debt which is rapidly accruing. It is proposed to sell off $10,000 worth of lots and use the proceeds towards discharging their obligations to Mr. Dickerson. The lots will be sold at auction some time in August, and, as they are the finest located on the ground, bidding is expected to be lively.

Among the many choice works to be found at the Mt. Tabor bookstore may be mentioned two works by Miss Jennie R. Smith, "From Baca to Beulah," and "Valley of Baca." Single copies $1.25, both works for $2.00. A new book by Rev. James Porter, "The Winning Worker," price $1.25.

The Fair at Tabor.

The entertainment and fair given by the members of the L. and M. Society of Camp Tabor, on Friday and Saturday last, was a great success in every particular.

Early in the afternoon of Friday the grounds presented an animated appearance. Young men and maidens hurrying to and fro preparing for the evening exercises.

The Mt. Tabor House had been kindly lent for the occasion, by the amiable proprietors, for the use of which the young people express their hearty thanks. The room was tastefully decorated, and a stage had been erected in the rear.

The piano, a handsome upright, was obtained of Mr. T. James.

The programme was a very brief one, owing to the indisposition of several who were to take part. The entertainment began with a chorus, in which most of the lady members took part, and acquitted themselves admirably.

This was followed by a recitation by Miss Carrie Coit, upon which it is needless to comment. Miss Coit possesses rare elocutionary ability; her selection was loudly applauded.

Mrs. Cosgrove of Newark was well received in rendering a solo, in Italian, entitled "Non-e-Ver." This lady possesses a rich and powerful voice, but the effect of her singing was somewhat marred by the closeness of the audience room.

Miss Benedict of New York followed next, reciting Jemima's Courtship in a manner simply irresistible. She received a well deserved encore, but could not be prevailed upon to respond except by a simple acknowledgment.

Miss Burgiss, first soprano of Central M. E. Church, Newark, was one of the chief performers. After her brilliant rendering of "Twas Moonlight," the audience refused to be appeased, except by a second appearance. She graciously responded with a simple little ballad which closed the performance.

Misses Stevens and Arndt presided at the piano as accompanists.

It was owing to the efforts of Mr. Sanger who managed the affair, that it was such a success.

The audience numbering about 400, were then directed by Dr. Stickle, to adjourn to Mr. Day's tent next door, where they would be served with luxuries of all kinds.

It would be impossible to enumerate the great number of articles exposed in the bazar, and on various tables.

At the entrance was a table under the charge of Mr. O. Coit, loaded with all sorts of pretty things for the toilette. One of the chief attractions was a large graphoscope which was used for exhibiting pictures. In the rear of this stand, was another on which an endless variety of fancy articles were displayed. This bazar, under the direction of Rev. L. Coit, was the most successful venture of the fair; Miss Gray's confectionery stand was very attractive, as was also the one opposite, under Mrs. Dr. Stickle's direction, where delectable looking cakes were exposed for sale. Dr. Stickle had his hands full, keeping the tired visitors from monopolizing his comfortable willow chairs and rockers.

Next to the bazar, the ice cream department managed by Mr. Sanger netted the largest amount. The patronage was immense.

The attendance was somewhat greater on Friday. The Mt. Hope band had donated their services and discoursed sweet sounds in front of the tent. Every one was pleased with their performance, and the association are greatly indebted for the kindness.

The net profits of the fair are about $300 distributed as follows: Cream, $60; cake, $20; bazar, $115; concert, $50; candy, $27; chairs, $12; fancy goods, $25. Expenses were very light. The printing was in great part donated by Mr. S. M. Long, of the Orange Gazette.

All of Dr. Moore's medicines advertised in the RECORD can be found at the store of Mr. Buck.

Mrs. Pell has been prevailed upon to maintain her fancy store on Wesley place, where the ladies will find many articles which they may need.

Benj. Lister, florist, of Boonton, has been supplying the residents of Tabor with a great variety of flowers and foliage plants.

Everybody should try Goodale's prepared lemonade, made from crystallized lemon juice; the best summer drink out. We have tried it and find it excellent. Mr. Buck has it on sale.

MRS. F. W. CARR.

Mt. Tabor as it Now is.

In vols. 2 and 3 we have given a detailed description of this "City of the Woods" and it will not be necessary to do so again lest by "vain repetition we annoy our old readers, as for the new, it is only sufficient to allude to Mt. Tabor's present attractions to make them desire to see it themselves.

Just ten years ago, 1870, the first cottage was erected on these grounds by the late Hon. Peter Smith, of Waterloo. This innovation was repeated again and again until it ceased to be a matter of remark. And now, we have a city, with broad avenues and pleasant walks, perfect drainage, a supply of the purest spring water from the great reservoir on top of the hill in the rear of the grounds and what most cities lack this summer, an abundant supply of pure ice obtainable at a very small cost.

It is estimated that over 125 cottages have been built, and many tents spring up like mushrooms in the night, just before services commence. We are informed that over 500 lots have been sold and deeds given therefor.

During the past year five new cottages have been erected. Rev. Mr. Lowry has entirely remodeled his tent and cottage on the circle, and laid out a miniature lawn on the side, making it one of the greatest ornaments of the circle.

Mrs. Palmer, of Perth Amboy, has built a handsome and permanent structure on Morris ave, fronted by a neat lawn, decorated with foliage plants and flowers.

Mr. Moore, of Jersey City, has a fine cottage on Whitfield place.

Mr. M. V. B. Searing, of Dover has built himself a neat place, much improving the appearance of East Morris avenue.

Mr. Isaac Smith, of Jersey City, commenced the erection of a cottage on the 19th prox, and is now quietly domiciled therein.

Extensive improvements are contemplated in the frontage of the camp grounds. No more lots are to be sold there; those who have bought gladly exchange them for lots on the hill.

One of the attractions of Mt. Tabor, as indeed of all summer resorts, is the facilities which are afforded for entertainment, so that the passing visitor of a day, or the permanent boarder, can have all their wants supplied.

The Mount Tabor House, under the management of last year's proprietors, Messrs. Clarke & Co., retains all its attractions—a well supplied table, and pleasant sleeping accommodations, at low rates.

Extensive improvements have been made through the house; the culinary arrangements are perfect.

The attentive corps of assistants, of last year with one exception, are in attendance and all can feel sure of having the wants of the inner man well supplied. The meals are not served on the European plan.

Mrs. Lyon, in her cottages fronting the Mt. Tabor House, has accommodations for 60 boarders. Her pleasant, airy dining rooms are very attractive. The new eating tent, under the superintendence of Mr. Lyon, is doing a large business.

Mr. F. Buck, of Succasunna, still continues to give great satisfaction as proprietor of the store, judging from the amount of goods sent out daily.

The meat market is carried on by Mr. Charles DeHart, of Dover, who had it last year.

The book store has changed hands and is now under the management of Rev. Wm. C. Nelson, of Denville, N. J. He keeps a larger supply of books than ever, and many attractive works are on sale there.

W. F. Day, the baker and confectioner, will soon open his store where "all the delicacies of the season" may be obtained.

The present camp meeting promises to be a very successful one and all the cottages and tents are teeming with life and activity.

Rev. Father Landon, father of Rev. T. H. Landon, of this Conference, died last week, aged 90 years.

Hundreds of men, women and children rescued from beds of pain, sickness and almost death and made strong and hearty by Parker's Ginger Tonic are the best evidences in the world of its sterling worth. You can find these in every community.—Post. See advertisement.

A correspondent of the Newton Register says, "A vigorous denunciation of the unusual amount of drunkenness in Washington on the 4th of July, has made many ill friends for Rev. R. Vanhorne."

Added to the crime of drunkenness was the desecration of the Sabbath (July 4th) and neither Bro. VanHorne nor any other brother can help making friends by a timely denunciation of such wickedness.
